Renaissance Rome 1500-1559 Peter Partner, 1976 Peter Partner is an established scholar, qualified by his research on The Papal State Under Martin V and The Lands of St. Peter to write this general book on Renaissance Rome. The titles of the chapters of the book are tantalizing, and they indicate the breadth of issues under review: politics, economics, population, noble life and daily life, and, finally, the spirit of a city and the spirit of an age. No similar, recent study exists for Rome, and Partner's book responds to a genuine need. The book is written with wit and good style, and it contains a great deal of information . . . --John W. O'Malley, University of Detroit, Canadian Journal of History, 13(1), pp. 115 - 116.

The Dogressa of Venice, 1200-1500 H. Hurlburt, 2016-09-27 This book focuses on the identity and public personae of the dogressa, wives of the elected doges of medieval and early modern Venice. The study traces the evolution of the public functions of the group of quasi-royal wives, rare for their visibility, during Venice's development into a regional economic and political power.

Art in Renaissance Italy, 1350-1500 Evelyn S. Welch, 2000 Focuses primarily on the social and historical context in which art was made and used--Bibliographic essay (p. 326).

The Business of the Roman Inquisition in the Early Modern Era Germano Maifreda, 2016-11-18 Established in 1542, the Roman Inquisition operated through a network of almost fifty tribunals to combat heretical and heterodox threats within the papal territories. Whilst its theological, institutional and political aspects have been well-studied, until now no sustained work has been undertaken to understand the financial basis upon which it operated. Yet – as The Business of the Roman Inquisition in the Early Modern Era shows – the fiscal autonomy enjoyed by each tribunal was a major factor in determining how the Inquisition operated. For, as the flow of cash from Rome declined, each tribunal was forced to rely upon its own assets and resources to fund its work, resulting in a situation whereby tribunals increasingly came to resemble businesses. As each tribunal was permitted to keep a substantial proportion of the fines and confiscations it levied, questions quickly arose regarding the economic considerations that may have motivated the Inquisition's actions. Dr Maifreda argues that the Inquisition, with the need to generate sufficient revenue to continue working, had a clear incentive to target wealthy groups within society who could afford to yield up substantial revenues. Furthermore, as secular authorities also began to rely upon a levy on these revenues, the financial considerations of decisions regarding heresy prosecutions become even greater. Based upon a wealth of hitherto neglected primary sources from the Vatican and local Italian archives, Dr Maifreda reveals the underlying financial structures that played a vital part in the operations of the Roman Inquisition. By exploring the system of incentives and pressures that guided the actions of inquisitors in their procedural processes and choice of victims, a much clearer understanding of the Roman Inquisition emerges. This book is an English translation of I denari dell'inquisitore. Affari e giustizia di fede nell'Italia moderna (Turin: Einaudi, 2014).

Painting in Italy, 1500-1600 Sydney Joseph Freedberg, 1993-01-01 'Art', declared Vasari in Lives of the Artists, has been reborn and reached perfection in our time'. Indeed the roster of great names in painting of the Cinquecento, which only begins with those of Leonardo, Michelangelo, and Raphael, appears to justify this grand claim. Professor Freedberg here discusses the individual painters and analyses the hallmarks of their work. He traces the classical style of the High Renaissance, the Mannerism that succeeded it, and the events, in North Italy especially, that resist stylistic categories. He has given order to this diversity, but at the same time has preserved the intense individuality of the works of art.

Virtue Ethics for Women 1250-1500 Karen Green, Constant Mews, 2011-04-05 This book locates Christine de Pizan's argument that women are virtuous members of the political community within the context of earlier discussions of the relative virtues of men and women. It is the first to explore how women were represented and addressed within medieval discussions of the virtues. It introduces readers to the little studied Speculum Dominarum (Mirror of Ladies), a mirror for a princess, compiled for Jeanne of Navarre, which circulated in the courtly milieu that nurtured Christine. Throwing new light on the way in which Medieval women understood the virtues, and were represented by others as virtuous subjects, it positions the ethical ideas of Anne of France, Laura Cereta, Marguerite of Navarre and the Dames de la Roche within an evolving discourse on the virtues that is marked by the transition from Medieval to Renaissance thought. Virtue Ethics for Women 1250-1500 will be of interest to those studying virtue ethics, the history of women's ideas and Medieval and Renaissance thought in general.

Ideazione, sviluppo e marketing dei nuovi prodotti Carlo Alberto Pratesi, Andrea Geremicca, 2023-06-27 Da sempre, in quasi tutti i settori, l'innovazione di prodotto è ciò che consente alle aziende di conquistare e mantenere la propria quota di mercato. Questa basilare regola dell'economia è ancora più vera oggi, in un mondo che penalizza fortemente chi non è disposto a ripensare giorno dopo giorno il proprio business, anticipando i nuovi trend e assecondando le sempre più frequenti discontinuità economiche, sociali e ambientali. D'altra parte, per le aziende innovare è un impegno sempre più gravoso. Non solo richiede forti investimenti finanziari ma anche talento, competenze e, prima di tutto, un approccio culturale che accetti il rischio di fallimento, considerato che statisticamente solo una piccola percentuale dei nuovi prodotti otterrà il successo di mercato sperato. In questo manuale si offre una panoramica dei principali modelli manageriali e strumenti operativi finalizzati che possono aiutare le imprese e le altre organizzazioni a aumentare la probabilità di ottenere successo di mercato attraverso l'innovazione di prodotto.

Encounters in World History: From 1500 Thomas Sanders, 2005 History is an encounter with the past, and the past is a history of encounters. Encounters in World History is designed to introduce students to both of these sorts of encounters. Using primary and visual sources, the authors employ the encounter theme as a fundamental organizing principle. By nesting sources in thematically integrated chapters, comparison and analysis of sources can be more substantive, while also providing more internal structure for instructors. At the same time, this is a world history reader, and it follows a chronological format. The material has been presented in such a way that instructors can craft their own courses, emphasizing the aspects they think most important. Chapters are organized so that the general theme is presented in a chapter introduction and then revisited in the separate introductions to specific readings. The readers can be used to highlight preferred eras, cultural zones, or themes, or a unique mixture of all three.
