Maurice Thompson

American Archery ,1917 While Native Americans depended on archery for survival, archery as a sport never caught on in America as it had in England. When the infamous Robin Hood was participating in archery competitions in the 1100s, and armies of Central Asia were implementing archery into their military tactics up until the 1500s, the United States did not exist. Certainly important in the history of archery, the Native Americans taught many English settlers and colonists the ways of the bow and arrow. As technology progressed, however, the methods for hunting and fighting changed drastically. By the late 1700s, when Americans were fighting for independence from England, gun technology made archery in wartime obsolete. By the 18th and 19th centuries, participation in archery competitions in England had decreased and American tournament archery waned with it. Toward the end of the 19th and beginning of the 20th centuries, the sport again became more prominent in America and worldwide. Today, elite athletes participate in the centuries-old art. And with the emergence of more contemporary stories of Robin Hood and popular culture archers like Green Arrow from comic books and Katniss Everdeen from The Hunger Games, archery is slowly climbing the ranks as one of America's favorite sports.

The Book of Archery George Agar Hansard, 1841 In the Paleolithic era, over 250,000 years ago, archery was invented. With bows and arrows made from wood (mostly pine), archery was presumably used only for hunting. As technology advanced, stone arrowheads were fashioned on the ends of arrows, making them more effective. Archery arrived in the Americas around 2,500 BC. While archery was mostly used for hunting, the tribes of the Southern United States created a game that involved shooting arrows into a moving hoop. The Indian tribes of the Great Plains were the first to become adept at archery on horseback. During the Iron Age, Babylonians and Assyrians used archery in warfare. Just as Native American tribes learned to perfect archery on horses, these peoples became skilled in archery on moving war chariots. Into the Middle Ages, European warfare relied heavily on both skilled and unskilled archers. Implementing mass archery tactics during the Crusades, the English invented their own bow, the English long bow, one of the most popular styles to this day. Today, archery is an Olympic sporting event, a skill used in recreational hunting, and somewhat of a lost art. Recently, archery has become a bit of a fad in America and the United Kingdom because of the rise in popular culture of archers like Robin Hood, Green Arrow and The Hunger Games' Katniss Everdeen.
