Acne Cure David a Osei,2019-11-20 Acne is a very painful experience for those that have to deal with it. For some individuals it will last only for a few years through their teenage years. For others, though, it will continue well into their future even until they reach 30 or 40 years of age. It is a skin condition in which bacteria or something else has irritated the skin and caused it to develop what are sores. These are red, pimple like masses that are not only uncomfortable, but can be damaging to the person's self esteem as well. Acne needs to be treated. There are several things that can cause acne to happen on the skin. First, there needs to be right conditions for something to happen. The pores are often the place where it all happens. The skin is full of pores, tiny little openings on the skin. If these pores are full of oils that are secreted from your glands to keep the skin moist, then they are ideal places for bacteria to locate itself. If it is not washed away and killed, the bacteria will breed and soon they will be irritating your skin. Acne can be treated in several ways. First of all, it should be treated by doing several of these things, as they are more likely to be beneficial when done together. First, the bacteria that is hitting and infecting the skin needs to be treated. For this to happen, the bacteria will need to be washed away. This can be done through exfoliating, through medicinal topical treatments or even with the help of lasers. The oil glands need to secrete only the right amounts of oil into the skin. This can be regulated by regulating the hormones that cause it. By taking care of these aspects, the individual's skin can improve, become healthier and eventually get rid of the infections that have been caused by the bacteria.
