Billy, the Fox William C O'Sullivan, 2020-12-07 It was a cold, sunny winter morning. Billy, the fox, was about to enjoy his day with Prince, the wolf. As they started to play, Fred and Milo, another two wolves, got in the way. These wolves are very well known for being naughty and for teasing other animals. On this occasion they chose Billy. They tried to get in the way of his friendship with Prince. Will their naughty plan be successful, or will they finally learn the lesson how to be kind and respectful towards others?

'A Miracle of Learning' Dáibhí Ó Cróinín, 2016-12-05 This volume celebrates the work of William O'Sullivan, the first keeper of manuscripts at Trinity College, Dublin, who preserved, made more accessible and elucidated the documents in his care. The manuscripts throw new light on the society of Ireland, the place of the learned and literate in that world, and its relations with Britain, Europe and America. Some of these essays clarify technical problems in the making of famous manuscripts, and bring out for the first time their indebtedness to or influence over other manuscripts. Others provide unexpected new information about the reigns of Edward I and James I, Irish provincial society, the process and progress of religious change and the links between settlements in Ireland and North American colonization.

More Irish and American Stories William Oliver O'Neill, 2021-05-14 THE HIGHLY ANTICIPATED SEQUEL TO THE INTERNATIONAL SELLING BOOK Monsignor O'Neill is quite a storyteller. After years of encouragement to collect his tales into a book, he published Stories from Ireland and America, a collection of 124 stories spanning 70 plus years from his childhood in the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s Ireland to his more-than-50-year ministry in the United States. In response to excellent reviews of his previous book and numerous requests to write more stories, he has compiled this collection of More Irish and American Stories. As in his previous book, some of stories in this volume may seem outlandish or hard to believe. But, they are actually all true! O'Neill says, Life is a journey. Scenes from that journey may make a deep impression and remain in the memory. We must never forget our roots. No matter who or what we are, we are dependent upon the goodness and the friendship of each other. We are ultimately dependent upon God and His goodness toward us. Each generation is unique and is a product of its own time and culture. We have received noble values and virtues from past generations. They have given us the warm and happy memories we treasure so much. May future generations have happy memories to share with their children.

Antrim Folk Tales Billy Teare,Kathleen O'Sullivan,2013-12-02 County Antrim, home to the Giant's Causeway, has a rich heritage of myths and legends which is uniquely captured in this collection of traditional tales from across the county. Featured here are stories of well-known figures from Irish folklore, including Conal Cearnach, with his association to Dunseverick Castle, and Deirdre of the Sorrows, whose mournful plight is linked to the rock at Ballycastle, known as Carraig Usnach. Here you will also find tales of lesser-known Antrim characters such as the heroic outlaw Naoise O'Haughan and local lad Cosh-a-Day, along with fantastical accounts of mythical creatures, including the mermaid of Portmuck, the banshee of Shane's Castle, and the ghostly goings-on in Belfast. These stories bring to life the county's varied landscape, from its lofty mountains to its fertile lowlands and dramatic coastline.
