The Nine Lives of Frank Tipton Teresa Powers,2016-12-14 The Nine Lives of Frank Tipton, is a black humor version of the Cinderella story set deep in the redneck south. Think My Name is Earl with a female lead and a lot of dead bodies. Think Raising Hope but with no baby or meemaw. Think True Blood, but without the vampires, hotties, or hunks. It's complete with revenge, murder, mentally-challenged kids, and a love story. Audrey Peters is a hard working girl from a small backwater town in Virginia. Having never been lucky at love, she finally meets the man of her dreams, Frank Tipton, a hardworking city sanitation worker who is very proud of his job. Following a whirlwind romance she moves in with Frank into his modified motor home in Shady Holler Trailer Park, a mobile mansion, if you will. Within just a few short months, Audrey realizes Frank was not the man she fell in love with. A new girl comes on the scene and captures his attention. Jealousy rears its ugly head, and Audrey will make Frank pay. Audrey decides to kill Frank, but how can you kill your boyfriend when his friends keep getting in the way? Frank always said he had nine lives and she is starting to believe it. As she accidentally kills many of his friends in schemes meant for him, Audrey gets more determined than ever to knock Frank off. Though Audrey is cold-blooded killer, you'll find yourself laughing, loving, and even cheering her on. You'll even find yourself mourning Frank and his buddies at the dump.

John Carter: the End Brian Wood, Alex Cox, 2017-10-24 Centuries have passed and time has taken its toll on Mars. Conflict burns across the landscape. A war of supremacy and genocide at the hands of a brutal despot has brought the planet to the edge of collapse. A search party has finally located an aged John Carter and Dejah Thoris, living in quiet seclusion on a desert moon, in perpetual mourning for their lost son. How could they be Mars' last hope? Introducing a John Carter story like you've never seen before, from co-writers Brian Wood (Star Wars, DMZ, Northlanders) and Alex Cox (Adventure Time), joined by artist Hayden Sherman (Civil War II: Kingpin). Reviews: Hayden Sherman does a great job... It is primitive and powerful. Each panel looks dangerous, like you could be sliced to ribbons by the cliff faces. - Comic Crusaders It never occurred to me that John Carter and Batman would have much in common, but I hadn't read John Carter: The End yet. - Slack Jaw Punks A perfect continuation for the stories of Edgar Rice Burroughs and the characters of Barsoom. This should please, delight and thrill old and new fans alike. - Outright Geekery

The Buzzing Jim Knipfel, 2007-12-18 Meet Roscoe Baragon--crack reporter at a major (well, maybe not that major) metropolitan newspaper. Baragon covers what is affectionately called the Kook Beat--where the loonies call and tell him in meticulously deranged detail what it's like to live in their bizarre and lonely world. Lately Baragon's been writing stories about voodoo curses and alien abductions; about fungus-riddled satellites falling to earth and thefts of plumbing fixtures from SRO hotels by strange aquatic-looking creatures. Not exactly New York Times material. Maybe it's the radioactive corpse that puts him over the edge. Or maybe it's the guy who claims to have been kidnapped by the state of Alaska! But Baragon is now convinced that a vast conspiracy is under way that could take the whole city down--something so deeply strange that it could be straight out of one of the old Japanese monster movies that he watches every night before he goes to sleep. But stuff like this only happens in the movies. Right? The Buzzing marks the fictional debut of the acclaimed author of Slackjaw. It is a novel of deep paranoia and startling originality. And it could certainly never happen. Right? Right?
