ence of the European Association for Computer Science Logic, held on September 20-24, 2004 in Karpacz, Poland. The CSL conference series started as the International Workshops on Computer Science Logic, and then, after a few meetings, became the Annual Conference of the European Association for Computer Science Logic. This conference was the 18th meeting, and the 13th EACSL conference. Altogether 99 abstracts were submitted, followed by 88 papers. Each of these papers was refereed by at least three reviewers. Then, after a two-week electronic discussion, the Programme Committee selected 33 papers for presentation at the conference. Apart from the contributed papers, the Committee invited lectures from Albert Atserias, Martin Hyland, Dale Miller, Ken McMillan and Paweł Urzyczyn.

We would like to thank all PC members and the subreferees for their excellent work. The electronic PC meeting would not be possible without good software support. We decided to use the GNU CyberChair system, created by Richard van de Stadt, and we are happy with this decision. We also would like to thank Michał Moskal who installed and ran CyberChair for us. Finally, we would like to thank Tomasz Wierzbicki, who helped with the preparation of this volume. We gratefully acknowledge financial support for the conference received from the Polish Committee for Scientific Research, and Wrocław University. Kinch Laurie Evan Owen, 2015-10-20 Set in a time which is now or any time, in a place which is England or anywhere, and against a backdrop of barbaric extremes of religio-political corruption, 14-year-old Kinch and his associates, Pigeon and Brownie, each try to salvage coherence and integrity from the moral chaos that surrounds them. Kinch is a fantasist, romantically obsessed with avenging the murder of his anarchist father; Pigeon is an insecure literate naïf of unknown parentage, and Brownie an itinerant actor and frustrated poet now in the pay of the religio-political hierarchy as an informer. Taking place in and around the walled cathedral city of Axton, the story charts the adventures of its three main characters over a seven-day period. As we follow them through their sub-universe of violence, farce and melodrama, our own ideas of cognition, motive and memory are teased apart to expose the redemptive epiphanies of the organic and material world. The form and distinctive appearance of the novel are resonant with the rhythms and cadences of painting and music, while the lyrical and darkly expressive text becomes in itself an agent for the very nature of perception.
