Lesbian Friendships Jacqueline S. Weinstock, Esther Rothblum, 1996-08 Friends as lovers; lovers as friends; ex-lovers as friends; ex-lovers as family; friends as family; communities of friends; lesbian community. These are just a few of the phrases heard often in the daily discourse of lesbian life. What significance do they have for lesbians? Do lesbians view friends as family and what does this analogy mean? What sorts of friendships exist between lesbians? What sorts of friendships do lesbians form with non-lesbian women, or with men? These and other questions regarding the kinds of friendships lesbians imagine and experience have rarely been addressed. Lesbian Friendships focuses on actual accounts of friendships involving lesbians and examines a number of issues, including the transition from friends to lovers and/or lovers to friends, erotic attraction in friendship, diverse identities among lesbians, and friendships across sexuality and/or gender lines.

Sister and Brother Joan Nestle, John Preston, 1995 Here are heartfelt writings from some renowned names in lesbian and gay literature, as well as some debut appearances. These essays explore a kind of love uncomplicated by romance, but surprisingly sensual. As the writers pursue their relationships with the opposite sex, they ultimately lay bare the nature of friendship itself.

Queer Kinship and Family Change in Taiwan Amy Brainer, 2019-01-11 Winner of the 2019 Ruth Benedict Prize for Outstanding Single-Authored Monograph Interweaving the narratives of multiple family members, including parents and siblings of her queer and trans informants, Amy Brainer analyzes the strategies that families use to navigate their internal differences. In Queer Kinship and Family Change in Taiwan, Brainer looks across generational cohorts for clues about how larger social, cultural, and political shifts have materialized in people's everyday lives. Her findings bring light to new parenting and family discourses and enduring inequalities that shape the experiences of queer and heterosexual kin alike. Brainer's research takes her from political marches and support group meetings to family dinner tables in cities and small towns across Taiwan. She speaks with parents and siblings who vary in whether and to what extent they have made peace with having a queer or transgender family member, and queer and trans people who vary in what they hope for and expect from their families of origin. Across these diverse life stories, Brainer uses a feminist materialist framework to illuminate struggles for personal and sexual autonomy in the intimate context of family and home.

My Lover, My Friend Lindsey Elder, 2003 What happens when a woman's best friend becomes something more? In these fiery true stories, women describe the explosive moment when their friend came into their arms as their lover, even for just one night. Lindsey Elder's series of true-life erotic stories includes the anthologies Early Embraces, Early Embraces II, Early Embraces III and Beginnings. She lives in Los Angeles and is on the lookout for your story.

Carnival in Alabama Isabel Machado, 2023-01-27 Mobile is simultaneously a typical and unique city in the postwar United States. It was a quintessential boomtown during World War II. That prosperity was followed by a period of rapid urban decline and subsequent attempts at revitalizing (or gentrifying) its downtown area. As in many other US cities, urban renewal, integration, and other socioeconomic developments led to white flight, marginalized the African American population, and set the stage for the development of LGBTQ+ community building and subculture. Yet these usually segregated segments of society in Mobile converged once a year to create a common identity, that of a Carnival City. Carnival in Alabama looks not only at the people who participated in Mardi Gras organizations divided by race, gender, and/or sexual orientation, but also investigates the experience of "marked bodies" outside of these organizations, or people involved in Carnival through their labor or as audiences (or publics) of the spectacle. It also expands the definition of Mobile's Carnival "tradition" beyond the official pageantry by including street maskers and laborers and neighborhood cookouts. Using archival sources and oral history interviews to investigate and analyze the roles assigned, inaccessible to, or claimed and appropriated by straight-identified African American men and women and people who defied gender and sexuality normativity in the festivities (regardless of their racial identity), this book illuminates power dynamics through culture and ritual. By looking at Carnival as an "invented tradition" and as a semiotic system associated with discourses of power, it joins a transnational conversation about the phenomenon.

A 28-Day Journal of My Crazy Lesbian Breakup Christine Hutman, 2008-06 I have just broken up with my girlfriend, so I decided to start a journal: A 28-Day Journal of My Crazy Lesbian Breakup (and What the Radio Had to Say About It). Luckily I have my trusty group of friends to help me through the rough patches, but they have a few issues of their own. Tara is playing the role of mistress for a woman 20 years her senior. Amy is dealing with the drama of dating a woman who has just come out to her family. Karen, a transgendered lesbian, is hopelessly in love with a bisexual vixen. And, Jared, my heterosexual, sociopathic friend is considering abandoning relationships entirely and joining a monastery. Nice support group, huh? Meanwhile, I'm still in love my (ex)girlfriend that lives 1000 miles away. I'm hoping we can get back together, even though we can't seem to stop fighting about another woman who is relentlessly competing for my attention. her mother! Move over, Jerry Springer! The truth really is stranger than fiction sometimes.

Internet Lesbian and Gay Television Series, 1996-2014 Vincent Terrace, 2015-09-01 Created around the world and available only on the Web, internet "television" series are independently produced, mostly low budget shows that often feature talented but unknown performers. Typically financed through crowd-funding, they are filmed with borrowed equipment and volunteer casts and crews, and viewers find them through word of mouth or by chance. The third of five volumes on Internet TV series, this book covers 335 alphabetically arranged gay and lesbian programs, 1996-2014, giving casts, credits, story lines, episode descriptions, websites, dates and commentary. A complete index lists program titles and headings for gay, lesbian, bi-sexual, transgender and drag queen shows.

How to Deal with a Divorce as a Christian Iris Mollen, 2022-11-09 The author started journaling when her husband asked for a divorce after thirty-five years of marriage. Four months after her husband asked for a divorce, she lost her job after twenty-five years. God led her on a journey to write this book, How to Deal with a Divorce as a Christian. The purpose of this book is twofold. Divorce is devastating. It is worse than a death, as one pastor said, and the author agrees. She wants to reach out to Christian women and men to tell them divorce will probably be one of the hardest things they will ever have to go through, especially if they have been married for many years. This book contains what the Bible tells us about divorce. It also talks about job losses, infertility, adoption, starting a new career, alcoholism, and family relationships. The author's hope in writing this book is that she can reach out and help Christians deal with a divorce and other everyday events that have happened to her in her life. With God's help and her belief, she made it through. Now she has fallen in love, which she never dreamt would happen.

Lesbians Rock Volume 6 Ann Patterson, 2013-11 Lesbians Rock Volume 6 like previous collections include stories depicting the lives of lesbians as they face their parents and family members, meet new friends and fall in love. Their gentle love celebrates the lives they're thankful they can live in school, community, at work and with accepting and understanding family members. They face rejection from families, loss of jobs and friends when they acknowledge the romantic hearts beating in their breasts. Lesbian couples share joy, happiness, fear of dangerous people, suicide as well as sharing sweet loving moments. Some deal with addiction, alcoholism, battering and the grief of losing the woman they love. Many spend decades living as society and religion demands before courageously coming out as the lesbian she knows she has always been. Some quickly form a long term loving relationship and stay together for decades until death alone ends the relationship. Some break-up or file for divorce in states where marriage equality has provided them a marriage license. Lesbian relationships described in the stories are shown in their devotion and lasting love as well as their uncomfortable moments as two human beings in a lifelong relationship. Excerpts from Lesbians Rock Volume 6: She walked toward Lori who swept off the sweater that covered her shoulders, stepped out of her high heels and with a smile on her face, she met Shelia and began a soft, long kiss. After four hours in the Emergency Room, Jeriann was released to go home. Martha put her arm around her and walked with her to the parking lot and the sedan. "We're going to my house. I want you to stay with me until we know she's locked up permanently. She just can't hurt you again. I won't have it. You're too precious to be hurt like that." Julie pays him then tips him a dollar. No, it's my first time in any gay bar. I've come here because I want to live whom I really am. I'm coming out for the first time. My heart has always been attracted to the female gender. I didn't know where to go to be with lesbians and gays except to a gay bar, and I found that Embers Avenue is a gay bar. Julie takes Molly's hand, looks at her, and Molly moves her lips to kiss her new wife. The kiss continues as they embrace and it doesn't stop until both are undressed and Molly has lovingly devoured the woman in her arms. Her kisses over Julie's soft skin from her lips to her thighs excites Julie in a way that she has never known before. Having been married for sixteen years to one of those men whose way of making love was slam bam, thank you, mam focus only on himself, Julie had never known such gentle, sweet loving and the final ecstasy that Molly gave her. Margo was lying half on the seat, half off, her eyes open, unconscious. Amy tried to do two things at once, call 911 Emergency on her cell phone and check to see if Margo had a pulse. She felt no pulse as the 911 Emergency operator answered. Send help to 9877 Northview. My wife's unconscious. Hurry. Honey, that was perfect. Truly lay her head on Inez's shoulder. What an amazing lover you are. I feel like I've just been to heaven and back; yet we're in a pickup in a desert. I have a feeling everything's going to be wonderful with you. I'm so lucky you found me. She closed her eyes allowing the pleasurable sensations bathe the inside of her.

A Love Story Starring My Dead Best Friend Emily Horner, 2010-06-28 Cassie is in grief over the death of her best friend, Julia, who died behind the wheel in a road accident. She had unrequited romantic feelings for her friend, and now she is determined to cycle from Illinois to California with Julia's ashes, so she can scatter them in the ocean that Julia never managed to see. Over the course of her trip, through various experiences and encounters, Cassie confirms to herself that she is gay. And then, when her bike and most of her money is stolen, she discovers her true friends and a sort of unhopd-for salvation. Interspersed through the narrative is the unfolding love story between Heather and Cassie, as Heather slowly reveals to Cassie her true feelings, and Cassie begins to open up to the possibility of reciprocal romance.

Planning and LGBTQ Communities Petra L. Doan, 2015-03-24 Although the last decade has seen steady progress towards wider acceptance of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, and queer (LGBTQ) individuals, LGBTQ residential and commercial areas have come under increasing pressure from gentrification and redevelopment initiatives. As a result many of these neighborhoods are losing their special character as safe havens for sexual and gender minorities. Urban planners and municipal officials have sometimes ignored the transformation of these neighborhoods and at other times been complicit in these changes. Planning and LGBTQ Communities brings together experienced planners, administrators, and researchers in the fields of planning and geography to reflect on the evolution of urban neighborhoods in which LGBTQ populations live, work, and play. The authors examine a variety of LGBTQ residential and commercial areas to highlight policy and planning links to the development of these neighborhoods. Each chapter explores a particular urban context and asks how the field of planning has enabled, facilitated, and/or neglected the specialized and diverse needs of the LGBTQ population. A central theme of this book is that urban planners need to think beyond queer space because LGBTQ populations are more diverse and dispersed than the white gay male populations that created many of the most visible gayborhoods. The authors provide practical guidance for cities and citizens seeking to strengthen neighborhoods that have an explicit LGBTQ focus as well as other areas that are LGBTQ-friendly. They also encourage broader awareness of the needs of this marginalized population and the need to establish more formal linkages between municipal government and a range of LGBTQ groups. Planning and LGBTQ Communities also adds useful material for graduate level courses in planning theory, urban and regional theory, planning for multicultural cities, urban geography, and geographies of gender and sexuality.

Maid to Queer Francisca Yuenki Lai, 2021-11-03 Maid to Queer is the first book about Asian female migrant workers who develop same-sex relationships in a host city. Based on participant observation and in-depth interviews with Indonesian domestic workers in Hong Kong, the book explores the meanings of same-sex relationships to these migrant women. Instead of searching for reasons to explain why they engage in a same-sex relationship, this book provides an ethnographic perspective by addressing their Sunday activities and considering how migration policies and the practices of Hong Kong people unintentionally produce alternative sexuality and desires for them. The author contrasts the migrant experiences of same-sex relationships with the Western discourse that individuals carry a strong sense of sexual identification prior to migration; same-sex desires among Indonesian domestic workers are often not realized until they leave home. Addressing the changes from maid to queer, this book documents the intersections of domestic work, labor migration, race, and religion on the sexual subject formation, specifically how Indonesian women negotiate heteronormativity and remake a space for their love, sex, and intimacy. For those interested in lesbian studies, Asian labor migration, sexual citizenship, and queer migration, this ethnography fills an important gap in explaining how the feminization of international migration and the constraints imposed on live-in domestic workers unintentionally become productive possibilities of queerness and normativity. “Maid to Queer combines insights from migration studies with those of LGBT studies, contributing to both. It examines the sexual subjectivities and shifting sexualities of these domestic workers, in relation to both migrant labor policies and the anxieties and practices of their employers in Hong Kong. Lai’s book is very enticing to read.” –Saskia Wieringa, University of Amsterdam “This is the first book I know of exploring sexuality among domestic workers. Lai shows that sexuality is relative to both imagination and opportunity, and that it can change over time. Women may desire women, or they may not; context shapes this desire and how this desire plays out.” –Sharyn Davies, Monash University Training Horses and Hearts Nicole Gustafson,2023-04-01 After a painful breakup, horse trainer Sam Monroe escapes to Northern California in hopes of regrouping and meeting up with old friends. When her best friend volunteers Sam’s help with a neighbor’s traumatized rescue horse, Sam doesn’t hesitate to lend a hand. But when neighbor Alyssa Johansson turns out to be beautiful, single, and attracted to women, the chemistry is immediate and undeniable. Soon Sam learns that retraining her heart is much harder than training horses, and Sam and Alyssa will have to decide if true love is worth risking it all.
