Giving Done Right Phil Buchanan, 2019-04-16 A practical guide to philanthropy at all levels of giving that seeks to educate and inspire A majority of American households give to charity in some form or another--from local donations to food banks, religious organizations, or schools, to contributions to prevent disease or protect basic freedoms. Whether you're in a position to give $1 or $1 million, every giver needs to answer the same question: How do I channel my giving effectively to make the greatest difference? In Giving Done Right, Phil Buchanan, the president of the Center for Effective Philanthropy, arms donors with what it takes to do more good more quickly and to avoid predictable errors that lead too many astray. This crucial book will reveal the secrets and lessons learned from some of the biggest givers, busting commonly held myths and challenging the idea that business thinking holds the answer to effective philanthropy. And it offers the intellectual frameworks, data-driven insights, tools, and practical examples to allow readers to understand exactly what it takes to make a difference.

Unbreakable Hearts (CEP #2) Harper Bentley, 2014-04-26 Tilly Maxwell is a freelance photographer in New York City who happens to take the right photo at the wrong time. While on a shoot, she captures in the background of one of her pictures a man who's just committed a murder. A man whose perfect crime has now been foiled because of chance. Because of one ill-timed click of the camera, a photographer must be silenced, and Tilly's now on the run for her life. John Osby, Oz, an ex Army Ranger who is now one of CEP's best, is shocked to see Tilly when she calls on the agency needing help. Talk about a blast from the past. They'd attended high school together and he remembers her as the quiet, adorably awkward and somewhat nerdy photographer he'd had a crush on, but because their lives were so different, he didn't dare cross the line with her, except for one drunken kiss. But now they're older, she's blossomed into a real beauty and he intends on crossing any line he can to protect her... and have her as his own. A woman who adamantly guards her heart encounters the one man who may be able to break down her barriers. When the past collides with the present, boundaries will be pushed and unbreakable hearts will be tested to the limit.

Furious Hours Casey Cep, 2019-05-07 This "superbly written true-crime story" (Michael Lewis, The New York Times Book Review) masterfully brings together the tales of a serial killer in 1970s Alabama and of Harper Lee, the beloved author of To Kill a Mockingbird, who tried to write his story. Reverend Willie Maxwell was a rural preacher accused of murdering five of his family members, but with the help of a savvy lawyer, he escaped justice for years until a relative assassinated him at the funeral of his last victim. Despite hundreds of witnesses, Maxwell's murderer was acquitted—thanks to the same attorney who had previously defended the reverend himself. Sitting in the audience during the vigilante's trial was Harper Lee, who spent a year in town reporting on the Maxwell case and many more trying to finish the book she called The Reverend. Cep brings this remarkable story to life, from the horrifying murders to the courtroom drama to the racial politics of the Deep South, while offering a deeply moving portrait of one of our most revered writers.

The Mystery of Easter Saturday Chevening St. Botolph's CEP, 2015-05-21 From the Bible we can find out all about Good Friday and Easter Sunday. However, very little was written about the Saturday in between. In Year 6 we decided to try to put ourselves in the place of the people there at the time; and imagine what may have been running through their minds and hearts on Saturday. This is the script for the play Year 6 performed. It is beautifully illustrated with black and white images, reflecting the mood of the piece. It also has Bible study reference notes for people who would like to explore. (This play is written to be performed as a 'Flashmob'; and as such, much of the action takes place within the audience space. However, it can be easily adapted to a more traditional performance.)

Towards Semantically Enabled Complex Event Processing Robin

Keskisärkkä, 2017-10-30 The Semantic Web provides a framework for semantically annotating data on the web, and the Resource Description Framework (RDF) supports the integration of structured data represented in heterogeneous formats. Traditionally, the Semantic Web has focused primarily on more or less static data, but information on the web today is becoming increasingly dynamic. RDF Stream Processing (RSP) systems address this issue by adding support for streaming data and continuous query processing. To some extent, RSP systems can be used to perform complex event processing (CEP), where meaningful high-level events are generated based on low-level events from multiple sources; however, there are several challenges with respect to using RSP in this context. Event models designed to represent static event information lack several features required for CEP, and are typically not well suited for stream reasoning. The dynamic nature of streaming data also greatly complicates the development and validation of RSP queries. Therefore, reusing queries that have been prepared ahead of time is important to be able to support real-time decision-making. Additionally, there are limitations in existing RSP implementations in terms of both scalability and expressiveness, where some features required in CEP are not supported by any of the current systems. The goal of this thesis work has been to address some of these challenges and the main contributions of the thesis are: (1) an event model ontology targeted at supporting CEP; (2) a model for representing parameterized RSP queries as reusable templates; and (3) an architecture that allows RSP systems to be integrated for use in CEP. The proposed event model tackles issues specifically related to event modeling in CEP that have not been sufficiently covered by other event models, includes support for event encapsulation and event payloads, and can easily be extended to fit specific use-cases. The model for representing RSP query templates was designed as an extension to SPIN, a vocabulary that supports modeling of SPARQL queries as RDF. The extended model supports the current version of the RSP Query Language (RSP-QL) developed by the RDF Stream Processing Community Group, along with some of the most popular RSP query languages. Finally, the proposed architecture views RSP queries as individual event processing agents in a more general CEP framework. Additional event processing components can be integrated to provide support for operations that are not supported in RSP, or to provide more efficient processing for specific tasks. We demonstrate the architecture in implementations for scenarios related to traffic-incident monitoring, criminal-activity monitoring, and electronic healthcare monitoring.

ACSM Certified Clinical Exercise Physiologist - ACSM - CEP - Practice Exam (NEW) , The ACSM (American College of Sports Medicine) Certified Clinical Exercise Physiologist (CEP) is a professional certification designed for individuals who work in clinical settings and provide exercise-related services to clients with chronic diseases, disabilities, or other health conditions. To become an ACSM CEP, individuals must meet specific education and experience requirements and pass the certification examination. Here are the general steps involved in obtaining this certification: Education: Candidates must have a minimum of a bachelor's degree in exercise science, kinesiology, or a related field from an accredited institution. The coursework typically includes topics such as exercise physiology, anatomy, biomechanics, and exercise prescription. Experience: Candidates must have hands-on experience working with individuals with chronic diseases, disabilities, or other health conditions. The ACSM requires a minimum of 600 hours of clinical experience under the supervision of a qualified healthcare professional. This experience helps develop practical skills in assessing clients, developing exercise prescriptions, and monitoring their progress. CPR/AED Certification: Candidates must hold a current CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) and AED (Automated External Defibrillator) certification. These certifications ensure that exercise professionals are trained to respond to emergency situations that may arise during exercise sessions. Exam: Once the educational and experience requirements are met, candidates can apply to take the ACSM CEP certification examination. The exam assesses the candidate's knowledge and practical skills related to exercise physiology, exercise prescription, clinical assessment, and safety considerations for individuals with chronic diseases and health conditions. Continuing Education: To maintain the ACSM CEP certification, professionals must participate in ongoing continuing education. The ACSM requires certified individuals to earn 60 Continuing Education Credits (CECs) every three years to stay updated on the latest research and practices in clinical exercise physiology. Becoming an ACSM CEP demonstrates expertise in working with clients in clinical settings and helps individuals stand out as qualified professionals in the field of exercise physiology. It allows CEPs to work closely with healthcare professionals, develop exercise programs for individuals with chronic diseases, and contribute to the overall management and improvement of their clients' health.
