Growing Up in Colonial Heights June McManus Gardner, 1916-02-02 Growing Up in Colonial Heights is the history of a unique community on the outskirts of Columbia, South Carolina and the author's experiences growing up there. First a German elite social center in 1893 located on the highest point in the area, the land was sold and the Colonial Heights community was developed in the early 1900s. Located three miles from midtown Columbia, it was officially part of the town of Eau Claire. Since there was no connection to Eau Claire, Columbia provided frequent public transportation to downtown at first by streetcar and later by city bus. The community was segregated and close knit. The social life revolved around the four-room Withers School and Colonial Heights Baptist Church, both within walking distance. Street lights on every corner, made it a place where safety after dark was of no concern. The author moved into the community in 1939 at the age of four and lived there until she married and moved away at the age of nineteen in 1954. Before, during, and after those years, everyone knew everyone else. It was like one big family. However, change came to the community for many reasons. First, when desegregation began the whites sold their homes and moved to other parts of Columbia. Next the Richland County Hospital bought land in the edge of the community and built a new medical facility. Eventually expansion led to buying the land and tearing down Withers School. A new freeway cut its path through Colonial Heights literally dividing the community in half. With the loss of so many members the church relocated to another part of town. Today the community is hardly recognizable. None of those who originally lived there remain. Even so, we who grew up there still have a warm spot in our heart for the community we knew and loved. A group called the Colonial Heights Kidz meet quarterly for breakfast to reconnect and reminisce about the good ole days in Colonial Heights. Growing Up in Colonial Heights contains many pictures and includes a listing of everyone who lived there in 1940.

A History of Colonial Baptist Church in Blue Ridge, Virginia John Wiley, 2019-11-10 For 190 years, a modest Baptist congregation nestled by the Blue Ridge Mountains in southwest Virginia has carried with it a heritage of Christian witness to the community and to the world at large. After many years of ministry, a full-length history of Colonial Baptist Church's legacy has finally been made available. This is more than a collection of facts about the church's history; it's a compelling narrative of what God has done in and through this church in Blue Ridge, Virginia for nearly two centuries.

Being-in-Christ and Putting Death in Its Place Miles Richardson, 2006-09-01 Winner of the James Mooney Award of the Southern Anthropological Society In this bracingly original anthropological study, Miles Richardson draws on forty years of empirical research to explore the paradox that while humans must die like all evolving life forms, they have adapted a unique symbolic communication that makes them aware of their naturally occurring fate; and through word and artifact, they dwell upon that discovery. Using the concepts of culture and place, he illuminates how two groups, Catholics in Spanish America and Baptists in the American South, create “being-in-Christ” and thereby “put death in its place.” The book combines biological, cultural, archaeological, and linguistic anthropology; a rigorous evolutionary framework; and a postmodern dialogic stance to view humanity as inescapably a product of nature without sacrificing the interpretative social constructions that “turn a primate into a poem.” Hard-won ethnographic detail and moving religious insight make this an enthralling work.

Preservation Virginia’s Most Endangered Historic Sites List: Justin Sarafin, Preservation Virginia, 2014-12-23 The following compilation of Most Endangered Historic Sites listings is composed of the first two years of the program (2000 and 2002) when it was administered (bi-annually) by the Preservation Alliance of Virginia, and following the merger of that organization with Preservation Virginia in 2004, annual lists from 2005 to the present. The following updates and status reports for each listing are believed to be current as of the posting of this document in August 2014. Where available, pertinent links to news stories and reports are included to help contextualize listings but are in no way exhaustive. Each listing has also been “graded” into four categories as a quick way to reference its current status. While the particulars of each site or issue are unique and nuanced, the following four categorizations can be used to approximately characterize each listing: SAVED: The immediate threat to a resource has been overcome and is not likely to reappear in the foreseeable future LOST: The resource has been demolished or its integrity altered enough to jeopardize its register eligibility STILL ENDANGERED: The threat present at the time of listing is still active, unresolved, and/or could likely reappear in the foreseeable future WATCH LIST: The resource is not currently, actively endangered but may still face threats and should continue to be monitored

High Expectations Thom S. Rainer, 1999-02-15 For over a quarter of a century the problem of losing church members has progressively increased. Today the situation is so bad that less than one-third of the members in some churches attend worship services. Church leaders are crying for help. In an effort to help church leaders, the Billy Graham School of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary conducted a massive research project involving nearly 287 churches. The most revealing aspect of the study was that the higher expectations placed on members, the greater the likelihood that the members would stay and be involved with the church. Using the data gathered from this project, Thom Rainer presents the first-ever comprehensive study about 'closing the back door.' Rainer looks at why people are leaving the church and how church leaders can keep the members.

The Lord's Prayer Daniel T.T. Thompson, 2014-06-30 In this book, Daniel Thompson shares his life experiences and how he relates them to developing a richer, fuller relationship with Jesus Christ, God, and the Holy Spirit. Biblical quotes are included, to be studied and applied to your own life experiences. It is his desire as you read his book that you will understand your own life challenges and how you can relate them to deepening your own relationship with our personal Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ gave us the words in the Lord's Prayer, and it is up to us to incorporate them into our own lives. Daniel encourages you to write your own words in this book and leave your own legacy to your family. Most importantly, when you put your own personal feelings in writing, you show God you are doing more than merely reciting words. You are defining your own personal relationship with God, and you are showing Him you are looking forward to spending eternity in His heavenly kingdom. Thoroughly enjoyed learning more about the Lord's Prayer through the life, testimony, and practical direction that Thompson gives us in this work. Excellent read and workbook for someone wanting to not only learn more on how to pray the Lord's Prayer, but to live it. And as his pastor, I can certainly say he lives it. -Dr. Randall T. Hahn, Sr. Pastor, Colonial Heights Baptist Church, Virginia

Out of the Darkness and into His Light Jack Bernard Burns, 2021-03-10 This book describes the journey one man took after committing his life to Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior and follow His will for the rest of his life in service. He has had the joy of sharing his story on five continents and introducing many to faith in Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior.

Cleveland Heights Congregations Marian J. Morton,2009 Since the last quarter of the 19th century, dozens of religious congregations have made their homes in Cleveland Heights. They have been Presbyterian, United Methodist, Evangelical, Roman Catholic, Jewish (Conservative, Orthodox, and Egalitarian\traditional), Unitarian Universalist, Greek Orthodox, Baptist, Disciples of Christ, Church of Christ, Lutheran, Christian Science, Episcopalian, African Methodist Episcopal, and Congregational and now also include a wide array of community and nondenominational churches. Sponsored by established congregations, encouraged by real estate developers and public officials, and usually welcomed by residents, churches, synagogues, and temples have fostered the suburb's growth, sometimes maintaining and sometimes changing Cleveland Heights neighborhoods. Their houses of worship, ranging from modest renovated storefronts to stately cathedrals, have enriched the city's landscape; their religious pluralism has nurtured ethnic, economic, and racial diversity, as well as controversy and conflict; their calls to action have sometimes aroused the community's conscience. Religious congregations, in short, have helped to sustain the vitality of Cleveland Heights.
