The Book of Concord Evangelisch-Lutherische Kirche (Germany),2000 Commissioned in 1993, this translation of The Book of Concord brings a new generation of scholarship and sensitivities to bear on the foundational texts of Lutheran identity. The fifth English translation since 1851, this edition succeeds that edited by Theodore Tappert published in 1959 by Muhlenburg Press. A review of the text in light of a mountain of new scholarship and other factors dictated the new translation and apparatus, including changes in the English language over the past forty years, differences in the training and preparation of seminarians and pastors, limitations in the introductions and annotations to the various parts of the book, new knowledge of the history and theology of these very documents, and the occasional error in Tappert's translation. Kolb and Wengert's team of leading Reformation historians was augmented by consultation with one hundred other scholars and teachers who use The Book of Concord continually, and two other teams of scholars who have reviewed the translations. In coming years, two volumes of related documents will follow. Benefits of this new translation: Expanded introductions and annotations offer richer historical context New translation aims at accessible but accurate translation Format is easier to read and use Leading American scholars have been involved or consulted

A Formula for Parish Practice Timothy J. Wengert,2017-02-26 This book combines a rich description of the (Lutheran) Formula of Concord (1577) with experiences in today's Lutheran parishes to demonstrate how confessional texts may still come to life in modern Christian congregations. Timothy Wengert takes the Formula of Concord, traditionally used as ammunition in doctrinal disagreements, back to its historical home, the local congregation, giving pastors, students, and theologians a glimpse into the original debates over each article. The most up-to-date English commentary on the Formula of Concord, A Formula for Parish Practice provides helpful, concise descriptions of key theological debates and a unique weaving of historical and textual commentary with modern Lutheran experience. Covering the entire Formula of Concord the book includes discussion questions at the end of each chapter.

Make an Impact Not Just an Impression Wright L. Lassiter,2003 In this era of significant church planting and the growth of so-called mega-churches, one can ask, what will build a strong church, and how can the church work to improve the communities that they are a part of? Sensationalism, tried and true programs, and fun and games will not accomplish the needed task. Communities represent a village. A village is a community of singles, married couples, senior citizens, and children that act and think like a family. The village has become fragmented and fractured. Frustration and hopeless situations and conditions are present in personal and family relationships among members of the village. In short, the village is in disarray it has lost touch with God's view of the family. The series of sermons delivered at the Concord Church incorporate eight emphases: Strong Bible preaching and teaching, and a commitment to prayer Exemplary leadership Christian living on the part of every member Congregational warmth and love Compassionate hearts Evangelistic fervor An I want to serve attitude An atmosphere of happiness, friendliness, cordiality and hospitality pervading the congregation
