Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public

Other Tick-Borne Diseases: The State of the Science, 2011-07-01 A single tick bite can have debilitating consequences. Lyme disease is the most common disease carried by ticks in the United States, and the number of those afflicted is growing steadily. If left untreated, the diseases carried by ticks-known as tick-borne diseases-can cause severe pain, fatigue, neurological problems, and other serious health problems. The Institute of Medicine held a workshop October 11-12, 2010, to examine the state of the science in Lyme

American Conspiracy Theories Joseph E.

Uscinski, Joseph M. Parent, 2014 Conspiracies theories are some of the most striking features in the American political landscape: the Kennedy assassination, aliens at Roswell, subversion by Masons, Jews, Catholics, or communists, and modern movements like Birtherism and Truththerism. But what do we really know about conspiracy theories? Do they share general causes? Are they becoming more common? More dangerous? Who is targeted and why? Who are the conspiracy theorists? How has technology affected conspiracy theorising? This book offers the first century-long view of these issues.

The Origins of Self Martin P. J.

Edwardes, 2019-07-22 The Origins of Self explores the role that selfhood plays in defining human society, and each human individual in that society. It considers the genetic and cultural origins of self, the role that self plays in socialisation and language, and the types of self we generate in our individual journeys to and through adulthood. Edwardes argues that other awareness is a relatively early evolutionary development, present throughout the primate clade and perhaps beyond, but self-awareness is a product of the sharing of social models, something only humans appear to do. The self of which we are aware is not something innate within us, it is a model of our self produced as a response to the models of us offered to us by other people. Edwardes proposes that human construction of selfhood involves seven different types of self.

All but one of them are internally generated models, and the only non-model, the actual self, is completely hidden from conscious awareness. We rely on others to tell us about our self, and even to let us know we are a self.

She's Bluffing Dan Dilbert,2021-03-12 Two years after the Inauguration of the forty-sixth President of the United States and 245 court filings, Congress and the Supreme Court of the United States discovered that the President had an incurable disease and feared the VP becoming President. They agreed that POTUS #45 had the election stolen from him and was entitled to another term. He was sworn into office as the forty-seventh POTUS.As POTUS 45/47 ends his second term, North Korea, Russia, China, and their allies are on the brink of attacking the United States.Two hours prior to the Inauguration of the first female President of the United States, North Korea launches a missile that lands on U.S. territory in the Pacific Ocean, resulting in the deaths of 25 Americans.The outgoing President orders an airstrike on North Korea, knowing that Beijing, Moscow, and other countries strongly support the actions of the North Korean dictator. To make matters worse, the U.S. Military stationed in the vulnerable region lacks sufficient support to withstand an attack from North Korea, China, and Russia.North Korea claims they have thousands of warheads, ready to launch into South Korea, that will result in the deaths of millions of South Koreans if the U.S. attacks.Congress joins together to restrict the President's use of the military.China and Russia send more than 900 Navy ships and submarines to sink the 300-plus U.S. Navy ships and submarines and supply vessels en route to provide support to the military stationed in the region and possibly attack North Korea.Police officers within the United States threaten to strike, while Governors and Congress are pressuring the President to sign a bill into law preventing the strike and chaos in the streets.The Director of the CIA is not to be trusted.The President's decisions are unorthodox, and the world thinks she is bluffing with every choice she makes.By her 21st day as President of the United States, she is loved by people around the world, feared by some, and regarded as the number-one enemy of Beijing, Moscow, and Congress.
