Establishment Criteria for Distance Measurement Equipment (DME) with Instrument Landing System And/or Localizer Approach

Avionics Certification Requirements and Procedures, 1981 This study assessed the availability and applicability of error budget data for avionics certification requirements. The investigation includes a review of data for both station oriented (VOR/DME-RNAV) navigation systems and wide area (Loran-C, Omega and GPS) navigation systems. The primary thrust of the analysis was to determine the operational capabilities of the various navigation systems currently being certified. A secondary objective was to examine the viability of current certification procedures, techniques and accuracy criteria to any advanced navigation system. To accomplish these objectives, a detailed assessment of error budget data, error combination techniques and functional performance standards was performed.

Medicare: Issues for Manufacturer-Level Bidding for Durable Medical Equipment Kathleen M. King, 2012-10-19 In 2009, Medicare spent approx. $8.1 billion on durable medical equipment (DME), prosthetics, orthotics, and related supplies for 10.6 million beneficiaries. DME includes items such as wheelchairs, hospital beds, and walkers. Medicare beneficiaries typically obtain DME items from suppliers, who submit claims for payment for these items to Medicare on behalf of beneficiaries. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), an agency within the Dept. of Health and Human Services (HHS), has responsibility for administering the Medicare program. Medicare and its beneficiaries -- through their out-of-pocket costs -- have sometimes paid higher than market rates for various medical equipment and supplies. To achieve Medicare savings for DME and to address DME fraud concerns, Congress required CMS to phase in a competitive bidding program (CBP) for DME suppliers in selected competitive bidding areas (CBA). In CBP, suppliers submit bid prices in the amounts they are willing to accept as payment to provide DME items to Medicare beneficiaries. CMS then enters into contracts with select DME suppliers to provide DME items at the prices determined by CBP. In contrast to CBP's supplier-level approach, some health care purchasers use a manufacturer-level approach to buy DME items directly from DME manufacturers to obtain savings by leveraging their purchasing power. CMS has not been required to develop a manufacturer-level approach. This report provides information on health care purchasers that currently use a manufacturer-level approach and on issues that would need to be addressed if CMS implemented such an approach. It describes (1) efforts used by some non-Medicare purchasers to reduce DME spending by contracting with DME manufacturers or using purchasing intermediaries, and (2) issues that CMS might face if required to implement a DME manufacturer-level approach with broad authority to do so. Experimental Determination of Position-estimate Accuracy Using Back-azimuth Signals from a Microwave Landing System Charles E. Knox, 1979

This paper presents the results of flight tests using the NASA Terminal Configured Vehicle (TCV) Boeing 737 airplane to obtain position estimates with back-azimuth signals from a microwave landing system. The most accurate position estimates were obtained from a combination of back-azimuth and distance-measuring-equipment (DME) signals. Less accurate position estimates were obtained with back-azimuth signals alone; the least accurate position estimates were obtained with dual DME signals. (Author).

Medicare Kathleen King,2012-06-20 To achieve Medicare savings for DME, an Act required that the CMS implement the competitive bidding program (CBP) for certain DME. In 2008, an Act terminated the first round of supplier contracts and required CMS to repeat the CBP round 1 -- referred to as the round 1 rebid, resulting in the award of contracts to suppliers with payments that began Jan. 1, 2011. This report reviews: (1) the outcomes of the CBP round 1 rebid process; (2) the effect of the CBP round 1 rebid on DME suppliers; (3) how the CBP round 1 rebid has affected Medicare beneficiary access to and satisfaction with selected DME; and (4) the extent to which the CBP round 1 rebid has affected the utilization of selected DME items. With the causative agent now identified as a new strain of coronavirus, the medical world has gained important knowledge on the aetiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, pathogenesis, epidemiology, disease treatment and infection control with amazing speed. Despite this, major gaps remain in our understanding - the race is on to develop new cures and effective vaccines, and the long-term impact on health, society and economics are starting to unravel. Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome: A Clinical Guide meets the urgent need for a comprehensive, authoritative reference guide for everyone in the medical and scientific community engaged in the fight against SARS: Definitive book on SARS, clearly and accurately documenting the extraordinary medical and scientific events around this new epidemic International experts in the field, with many contributors from the WHO and CDC Will help reader to understand and prevent future outbreaks with a repeat of the same consequences

Confronting the Deadly I Disease Donald K Stewart D Min Dme,2013-07 Confronting The Deadly I Disease has been in the making for several years. The problem that is being addressed in this little book is not a new one and, if the truth be told, it has been in existence for much longer than even the human race itself. As one reads through the Scriptures from Genesis to Revelation it becomes obvious that this disease has been like a devastating plague, infecting and afflicting all of humanity, particularly those who have made themselves vulnerable by rejecting the God-given antidote. Too many intelligent, gifted and well-intentioned human beings have already contracted this lethal disease for us to knowingly fall into the same self-destructive trap. It is time to wise up, discard all counter-productive dispositions and maintain a healthy, God-pleasing lifestyle. Hopefully this little book will serve as an effective catalyst in that dynamic, therapeutic process by becoming an injection needle to stimulate, initiate and facilitate the necessary uprooting, cleansing and healing. We all have the capacity to change but not all of us have the desire to do so. Some human beings are determined to remain in their I-obsessed state, even if it means that they continue to provoke the Almighty and send themselves into an excessively hot and Christ-less eternity. Those with even the slightest trace of common sense will however realize that God's way is always the best way, irrespective of our thoughts, feelings, opinions, beliefs, perceptions, perspectives, fears or frustrations. After all has been said and done, the only antidote and permanent cure for the deadly I Disease is a radical, unwavering, unapologetic, unconditional surrender to the lordship of Jesus Christ. Anything less is nothing more than an authentic prescription for eternal damnation. Whoever has ears, let them hear what the Spirit says to the churches (Revelation 2:7, 11, 17, 29, - 3:6, 13, 22).
