But even Wolfe has a moment's doubt when he finds out why the prize is so generous. For the oversize genius and his able assistant Archie Goodwin are about to lock horns with the FBI--and those highly trained G-men have a way with threats, tails, and bugs that could give even sedentary sleuth Nero Wolfe a run for his money. Introduction by Stuart Kaminsky "It is always a treat to read a Nero Wolfe mystery. Formal Theories of Information Giovanni Sommaruga,2009-04-22 This book presents the scientific outcome of a joint effort of the computer science departments of the universities of Berne, Fribourg and Neuchâtel. Within an initiative devoted to Information and Knowledge, these research groups collaborated over several years on issues of logic, probability, inference, and deduction. The goal of this volume is to examine whether there is any common ground between the different approaches to the concept of information. The structure of this book could be represented by a circular model, with an innermost syntactical circle, comprising statistical and algorithmic approaches; a second, larger circle, the semantical one, in which meaning enters the stage; and finally an outermost circle, the pragmatic one, casting light on real-life logical reasoning. These articles are complemented by two philosophical contributions exploring the wide conceptual field as well as taking stock of the articles on the various formal theories of information.

Dead As a Doorbell Tony Seton,2015-07-04 I was lying on my bed when suddenly the doorbell rang. Maybe it's the FedEx guy, I wishfully thought, bringing a positive reply to one of the myriad resumes I'd sent out. How was it possible that all those skills and that brilliance could go to waste. Brilliant? Uh-huh. I was half-way down the staircase when I realized that there is doorbell in the house. But that didn't stop me from looking to see who had rung it. This is a personal story, and may be of little interest to any but my immediate family, and, of course, my biographer.

The Other Side of the Doorbell The Purple Pen,2004-08 The Other Side of the Doorbell is a compilation of stories from the very first Writing Contest, at The Purple Pen. Our Writing Contests feature the completion of a story, the opening line of which is provided. We are always delighted at the surprises and diversity we receive, as writers share with us their visions of the ending, so we thought readers might be interested in them, as well, and are sharing some of our favorite stories from the very first contest we sponsored. The Other Side of the Doorbell, showcases some of our favorite entries, all of which open with the line: Sara had no plans for New Year's Eve; she was surprised to hear the doorbell, just before midnight. We hope that you enjoy finding out what some of our authors imagined to be on the other side of the doorbell, in these wonderfully different stories. We wish to thank our very creative authors for making this book possible. Their persistence, patience, and good writing provided us with a great deal of delightful reading. Though we could only select a few actual winners, we believe that all our authors are winners, in spirit and in perseverance, and we wish them all well. Artist Christy Boyer has provided the beautiful doorbell for our cover. A freelance graphic designer, Christy's work can be viewed at: www.Portfolios.com The Purple Pen.
