I-C-E in Case of Emergency Maureen Rooney Gilbert,2017-07-31 Unfortunately, the saying bad things happen to good people is played out every day in every American city, regardless of size. It is reported that over 36,700,000 calls are made annually to emergency call centers. The layout of my book, I-C-E In Case of Emergency: Your Essential Medical Journal, is intentional. It is meant to allow the use of the book to be as convenient and user-friendly as possible while at the same time providing the avenue every first responder needs to best ascertain and treat your medical emergency. The compact size allows the journal to fit in the glove compartment of a car, a womans purse or a childs backpack. You may also find this journal to be a useful tool for routine doctor appointments. I C E, In Case of Emergency is designed to meet the needs of a multi-generational family. What an excellent resource! As a former emergency room nurse, having detailed medical history readily available can be a life saver. A must have for everyone! Linda Hart, RN, MS.

Break ICE - The SYSO Way Mohan Aakula,2021-02-11 AFTER YOU CALL EMERGENCY AND BEFORE IT ARRIVES It is those vital moments, those few minutes, sometimes those golden seconds during which, proper first aid is administered that decides between life and death. We are in a world where everything is on the move at high speeds. In these times of advanced technology and heavy loads, terrorist activities and natural disasters galore, anything can happen anywhere and anyhow to anybody. Caution is restricted to the boards. Factories, construction sites, in the fields and on the roads or just about anywhere has become a place of threat. Every area has become an accident prone zone. IN CASE OF EMERGENCY (ICE) - YOU HAVE TO ACT FAST AND BE PREPARED. Everyone should know about first aid - the life saving essential tool - for others and for yourselves learn first aid techniques - it helps and saves lives. This book is designed as precisely as possible in bullets. Keep this book handy along with a first aid kit. This book would be of great help to service oriented or social service organizations that may want to work as volunteers during relief operations, to train themselves and others.

Ice Jam Flooding and Mitigation: Lower Platte River Basin, Nebraska ,1996 This report presents the results of the Corps of Engineers' Section 22 study of ice jam flooding in the Lower Platte River basin. The purpose of the study was to gather and analyze historical data relating to ice jams, with the intent of developing guidance that can be used to alleviate ice jam flooding at seven sites within the study area. Ice event and related information is summarized for each site. Ice event characteristics for the study area are identified and analyzed. A model for predicting the occurrence of ice jams or other ice events within the study area was developed based on data for the Platte River at North Bend, Nebraska. The model provides the minimum discharge associated with ice events for a given date, assuming a threshold value of accumulated freezing degree-days has been reached. A data collection program for future field observations was developed and placed in operation during the winter of 1993-94. General information on ice jam mitigation measures, as well as specific information on such operations as dusting and blasting, is provided. Specific recommendations include increased monitoring of ice conditions, installation of ice motion detectors and water stage recorders, and further study of nonstructural and structural mitigation measures. The use of dusting and blasting as mitigation measures is also presented. The study was divided into six phases. Phase 1 involved collection of historical information from all available data sources, published and oral. Site visits were made to each identified site. Phase 2 entailed analysis and assessment of the collected hydrological, hydraulic, meteorological and ice data.
