Couchsurfing in Iran Stephan Orth, 2018-05-01

Included in the 2018 summer reading list by New York Times Books A modern-day glimpse into the surprising reality of life in Iran. Iran: A destination that is seldom seen by westerners yet often misunderstood. A country that simultaneously “enchants and enrages” those who visit it. A place where leading a double life has become the norm. In Couchsurfing in Iran, award-winning author Stephan Orth spends sixty-two days on the road in this mysterious Islamic republic to provide a revealing, behind-the-scenes look at life in one of the world’s most closed societies. Through the unsurpassed hospitality of twenty-two hosts, he skips the guidebooks and tourist attractions and travels from Persian carpet to bed to cot, covering more than 8,400 kilometers to recount “this world’s hidden doings.” Experiencing daily what he calls the “two Irans” that coexist side by side—the “theocracy, where people mourn their martyrs” in mausoleums, and the “hide-and-seek-ocracy, where people hold secret parties and seek worldly thrills instead of spiritual bliss”—he learns that Iranians have become experts in navigating around their country’s strict laws. Though couchsurfing is officially prohibited in Iran—the state fears spies would be able to travel undetected through the country—more than a hundred thousand Iranians are registered with online couchsurfing portals. And thanks to these hospitable, English-speaking strangers, Orth gets up close and personal with locals, peering behind closed doors and blank windows to uncover the inner workings of a country where public show and private reality are strikingly opposed.

Die Reihe trägt der Tatsache Rechnung, dass sich die empirische, auf qualitative oder quantitative Korpusanalyse gestützte Beschreibung von geschriebener und gesprochener Sprache mittlerweile als zentrales Paradigma innerhalb der Sprachwissenschaft etabliert hat. Eine gebrauchsbasierte Orientierung ist dabei auf allen Ebenen der Sprachbeschreibung zu beobachten, sie reicht von Ansätzen in der Phonologie- bzw. Prosodieforschung über empirische Arbeiten in der Morphologie, Syntax und Semantik bis hin zu pragmatischen Ansätzen wie beispielsweise der Diskurs-, Text- und Gesprächsanalyse sowie der Medien- und Soziolinguistik. Das Ziel der Reihe ist, eine thematisch offene Plattform für unterschiedliche Ansätze innerhalb der synchron orientierten Sprachwissenschaft sowie für interdisziplinäre Arbeiten mit einem sprachwissenschaftlichen Schwerpunkt bereitzustellen, die innovative Wege empirischen Arbeitens aufzeigen und neue Methoden und theoretische Modelle anhand von Datenmaterial entwickeln. Publiziert werden Monographien sowie Sammelbände mit einem synchronen, datenbasierten Zugang zu Sprachanalysen. Die Publikationssprache ist entweder deutsch oder englisch. Alle Beiträge werden peer-reviewed. Open Access: Dank eines Pilotprojekts mit dem FID Linguistik werden zwischen 2019 und 2021 sechs Neuerscheinungen Open Access publiziert. Zudem wurden die bereits erschienenen E-Books der Bände 1 bis 9 nachträglich in Open Access-Publikationen umgewandelt. <https://www.linguistik.de/> Externe GutachterInnen: Magnus P. (Im)mobile Homes Earvin Charles B.

Cabalquinto, 2022 The home is at the forefront of rapid transformation brought upon the expansion of globalising economies, transnational migration, and the widespread uptake of ubiquitous digital communication technologies. This book unravels how geographically dispersed family members use smartphones, social media, and mobile applications in forging and sustaining long-distance relationships. It foregrounds the diverse, personalised, intimate, and creative mobile practices of fragmented family members in the conduct of everyday household interactions, festivities, homeland connections, and crisis management. On the one hand, mobile device use facilitates transnational connectivity, paving the way for enabling intimate ties, care expressions and homeland linkages. Yet, communicative tensions also arise when digital routines are shaped by familial norms and expectations, uneven financial conditions, asymmetrical technological access and capacities, and migration policies and processes. It is by deploying various strategies that transnational family members cope with an often unstable, unsettling, and ambivalent networked environment. Ultimately, this book provides a nuanced perspective on examining the mobilisation of a home from afar in the age of smartphones and mobile applications--

Global South Discourse in East Asian Media

Studies Dal Yong Jin, 2022-11-04 This book examines the nexus of East Asian media, culture, and digital technologies in the early 21st century from a Global South perspective. Providing an empirically rich analysis of the emergence of Asian culture, histories, texts, and state policies as they relate to both Asian media and global media, the author discusses relevant theoretical frameworks as East Asian popular culture and media have shifted the contours of globalization. After overviewing Western media/cultural theories and histories, the book explores the ways in which East Asia-focused analytical frameworks are able to shift people's understanding of globalization and media, drawing upon examples from different East Asian countries to illustrate how current cultural flows have influenced and have been influenced by a handful of dimensions. Offering an important contribution to understanding the historical trajectory and recent developments of East Asia media, this book will interest students and scholars of media, communication, popular culture, cultural studies, Asian studies, politics and sociology.
