SMES-ETM Technical Analysis Report ,1989 The purpose of the Technical Analysis Report is to provide SDIO and DNA with an appropriate level of information and analysis that will form the basis upon which the level of environmental documentation for the SMES-ETM Program is determined. Specifically, this report will support the SDIO-ENEC and DNA decision on whether an Environmental Assessment or an Environmental Impact Statement is most appropriate. This effort includes a review of work activities and a summary of salient environmental issues. Identification of possible courses of action and the corresponding implications of those actions are also presented. The TAR builds upon the information presented in the Environmental Issues Summary Report (Deliverable 4.5). The purpose of that document was to provide SDIO and DNA with an overall picture of those environmental issues associated with the SMES-ETM that have been indicated as potentially significant. The SMES-ETM Program. The major technological concerns are related to the electromagnetic fields produced by a SMES-ETM and the transmission line connecting it to the electrical grid system. Electromagnetic fields are divided into two components: electrical fields and the magnetic fields. Alternating electrical currents (AC) produce oscillating, or time-varying, electrical and magnetic fields which can in turn produce electromagnetic waves (radiation).

Incentives, Overlays, and Economic Traffic Control Burkhard Stiller,Tobias Hoßfeld,George D Stamoulis,2010-09-03 Economic perspectives in network management have recently attracted a high level of attention. The Third Workshop on Economic Traffic Management (ETM 2010) was the continuation of two successful events that were held at the University of Zürich, Switzerland in 2008 and 2009. The main objective of ETM 2010 was to offer scientists, researchers, and operators the opportunity to present innovative research on ETM mechanisms, to discuss new related ideas and directions, and to strengthen the cooperation in the field of economics-technology interplay. Being co-located with the International Teletraffic Congress (ITC22), ETM 2010 brought together a new and fast-growing scientific community. The concept of ETM has emerged due to the fact that a multitude of different self-interested players are simultaneously active in the Internet. While such players may either compete or complement each other in the value chain for service providers, each of them has his own incentives and interests. To enable a win-win situation for all players involved (basically end users, Internet Service Providers (ISP), telecommunication operators, and service providers), new incentive-based approaches have been recently developed, tested, and even commercially deployed, which fall under the domain termed Economic Traffic Management (ETM). ETM mechanisms aim at improving efficiency within the network, e. g. , by reducing costs, while also improving Quality-of-Experience (QoE) for end users or applications.

Let's Do It Again Niobia Bryant,2015-11-01 WHERE'S THERE'S A WILL...THERE'S A WAY - TO LOVE! Malcolm and Serena Saint James fell in love when they were school kids, and thought it would last forever. But a hasty marriage at eighteen led to an even quicker divorce...and a lifelong friendship dissolved into bitterness. Even though the two clash whenever they meet, it's obvious to everyone--especially Malcolm's grandmother, Olivia Saint James—that they still strike sparks as well. And Mama James is determined that they reunite ... one way or another. When Olivia passes on, she wills Malcolm the cherished family home and Serena half of her $10,000 savings—if they reside in the house for ninety days ... together. If not, everything goes to charity. Malcolm can't stand to lose the beloved house, and Serena, a talented hairstylist, has long dreamed of opening her own salon. The two move back into the old place—with all their old resentments. But they're not kids anymore ...could Mama James' legacy lead to love regained?

Superconducting Magnetic Energy Storage (SMES-ETM) System. Environmental Impact Assessment Process Implementation Plan ,1989 This Environmental Impact Assessment Process Implementation Plan provides the framework within which an environmental assessment (EA) will be prepared for the SMES-ETM Program. Should a determination be made at a later date that an environmental impact statement (EIS) will be necessary, this EIAP Implementation Plan will also serve as the framework for that effort. This framework provides a means of managing and documenting the SMES-ETM environmental process so as to be consistent with all provisions in DoD 6050.1 and DNA 6050.1.

United States Code United States,2008 The United States Code is the official codification of the general and permanent laws of the United States of America. The Code was first published in 1926, and a new edition of the code has been published every six years since 1934. The 2012 edition of the Code incorporates laws enacted through the One Hundred Twelfth Congress, Second Session, the last of which was signed by the President on January 15, 2013. It does not include laws of the One Hundred Thirteenth Congress, First Session, enacted between January 2, 2013, the date it convened, and January 15, 2013. By statutory authority this edition may be cited U.S.C. 2012 ed. As adopted in 1926, the Code established prima facie the general and permanent laws of the United States. The underlying statutes reprinted in the Code remained in effect and controlled over the Code in case of any discrepancy. In 1947, Congress began enacting individual titles of the Code into positive law. When a title is enacted into positive law, the underlying statutes are repealed and the title then becomes legal evidence of the law. Currently, 26 of the 51 titles in the Code have been so enacted. These are identified in the table of titles near the beginning of each volume. The Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives continues to prepare legislation pursuant to 2 U.S.C. 285b to enact the remainder of the Code, on a title-by-title basis, into positive law. The 2012 edition of the Code was prepared and published under the supervision of Ralph V. Seep, Law Revision Counsel. Grateful acknowledgment is made of the contributions by all who helped in this work, particularly the staffs of the Office of the Law Revision Counsel and the Government Printing Office--Preface.

SMES-ETM Final Environmental Issues Summary Report ,1989 The purpose of the Final Environmental Issues Summary is to provide DNA and SDIO with an overall picture of the potentially significant environmental issues associated with the SMES-ETM Program. These issues are related to SMES-ETM technology, general construction practices that are generic to all sites, and site specific constraints. The potentially significant issues were determined by screening all environmental issues found in Appendix A against the NEPA criteria for significance. Appendix A, Evaluation of Significance, is based on a review of the GFI, telephone conversations, and field investigations. Field investigations were conducted for all sites except for White Sands Missile Range (WSMR), access to which was restricted at the time. However, GFI for WSMR was reviewed and field contacts at the Orogrande site often covered resources common to both sites. During the preparation of the Preliminary Environmental Issues Summary, a parallel effort was undertaken on potential technology specific environmental issues. This effort resulted in a separate white paper on electromagnetic effects that is summarized in this document and found in full in Appendix B. Therefore, this document presents the integration of both technology and site specific issues for consideration by DNA and SDIO.
