One of the most important things you need to know about is title insurance, which is typically handled by a title insurance agent or real estate attorney. In addition to ensuring that title insurance is purchased, title insurance agents and attorneys facilitate the closing process. They hold the money, but who are they and what are they supposed to do? And more importantly, how can you save money in this process? Kevin Tacher, the Founder and CEO of Independence Title Inc., walks you through the process and provides the tools you need to: - choose the right title company; - review the title commitment; - ask the right questions throughout the closing process. You'll also learn why it's important to get title insurance for all transactions - even for simultaneous or double closings. Protect yourself, your lender's financial interest, and your loved ones against loss due to title defects, liens, judgments, code enforcement violations, unpaid water bills, and other problems by navigating The Title Wave of Real Estate.
