The Lost Ones Sheena Kamal,2017-07-25 A dark, compulsively readable psychological suspense debut, the first in a new series featuring the brilliant, fearless, chaotic, and deeply flawed Nora Watts—a character as heartbreakingly troubled, emotionally complex, and irresistibly compelling as Stieg Larsson's Lisbeth Salander and Jo Nesbø's Harry Hole. It begins with a phone call that Nora Watts has dreaded for fifteen years—since the day she gave her newborn daughter up for adoption. Bonnie has vanished. The police consider her a chronic runaway and aren't looking, leaving her desperate adoptive parents to reach out to her birth mother as a last hope. A biracial product of the foster system, transient, homeless, scarred by a past filled with pain and violence, Nora knows intimately what happens to vulnerable girls on the streets. Caring despite herself, she sets out to find Bonnie with her only companion, her mutt Whisper, knowing she risks reopening wounds that have never really healed—and plunging into the darkness with little to protect her but her instincts and a freakish ability to detect truth from lies. The search uncovers a puzzling conspiracy that leads Nora on a harrowing journey of deception and violence, from the gloomy rain-soaked streets of Vancouver, to the icy white mountains of the Canadian interior, to the beautiful and dangerous island where she will face her most terrifying demon. All to save a girl she wishes had never been born.

The Lost Ones Michaela Maccoll,2016-10-11 Despite her father's warnings that their tribe is always in danger, Casita, a ten-year-old Lipan Apache girl, has led a relatively peaceful life with her tribe in Mexico, doing her daily chores and practicing for her upcoming Changing Woman ceremony, in which she will officially become a woman of the tribe. But the peace is shattered when the U.S. Cavalry invades and brutally slaughters her people. Casita and her younger brother survive the attack, but are taken captive and sent to the Carlisle Indian School, a Pennsylvania boarding school that specializes in assimilating Native Americans into white American culture. Casita grieves for her lost family as she struggles to find a way to maintain her identity as a Lipan Apache and survive at the school. Includes author's note and bibliography.

Island at the Top of the World Ian Cameron,1968 The year is 1907. Professor John Ivarsson's presence is requested by Sir Anthony Ross, whose son, Donald, has disappeared while on expedition in the arctic. An old journal document from a Hudson's Bay trading post tells of a mysterious island, set under a single cloud out on the ice floes, which is the graveyard of the whales, a place known only from folklore and legend. Ross' son had gone in search of the island, but when he didn't return, the letter describing its location was forwarded to him, along with an ancient artifact used for navigation. His interest piqued, Professor Ivarsson agrees to go on the journey.

Lost and Found Khristine Stain,2010-11-11 _____ Dae attracted trouble like people attracted debt. Did it matter that she was usually the one starting it? She didn't think so. For the past few weeks, multiple stalkers targeted her. Regardless of Dae's constant manipulations, her best friend Iya had been intent on getting involved with the blond version of Satan (Marcus the Sheppard to the blind sheep). Things went from to worse to flaming elephant crap when she was attacked outside of blond Satan's lair. Two bouts of unconsciousness later she discovered her sanity had abandoned her; a new fractured part of Dae's mind emerged and decided to voice its own opinion on her life. Constantly. Her Sasquatch sized savior elicited feelings that Dae didn't want or like. She did not. He was also blind to her neon 'Stay far away! Electric Fence! Death upon contact!' sign that kept everybody else away. She needed information on why she was a target but she couldn't find out anything her way with the Sasquatch sticking tool boxes in her plans. The only way to find out what she needed to know was to execute a new plan... Escape by any means necessary.
