Forgotten Phone Numbers Del Greer,2015-10-23 I was 33 years old when my wife suddenly passed away, and I learned that till death do us part is not the same thing as happily ever after. This is a collection of the things I wrote while I was learning how to work with ever after. If you've ever lost anyone, been betrayed by anyone, or been surprised to learn that forever is a much shorter time than you were expecting, some of these things might make sense to you, too.

I'll Never Forget My First Car Bill Sherk,2005-05-01 In this hilarious collection of stories, Old Autos columnist Bill Sherk describes in vivid detail the trials and tribulations of those brave souls who, throwing caution to the wind and money down the drain, made the fateful decision that would forever change the course of their lives. They went out and bought their very first cars. And whether it came from the showroom or the scrapyard, your first car was your ticket of admission into the adult world. Gas, oil, repairs, tow trucks, speeding tickets, insurance, and fender benders would take a vacuum cleaner to your bank account, but you didn't care. You were behind the wheel and on the road.

Romancing Christmas Kate Aster, When matchmaker Freya Hansen-Adler is inspired by the holiday spirit, she'll stop at nothing to see former Navy SEAL Harris and single mom Ava get the happily ever after they deserve... I set the bar pretty low when it comes to the holidays. I have to. As a Navy officer, I spend plenty of them far from anyplace I'd call "home"... sometimes getting shot like I did on my last SEAL mission. So, yeah, I set the bar low enough that I can roll over it. That is, until I meet my neighbor Ava. She's the type of woman who bakes pecan pie and drinks egg nog. She carols with her neighbors and illuminates her house with enough tiny lights that it can probably be spotted by satellites. I bet she even owns a stack of ugly Christmas sweaters. She's also got a son... and roots dug deep into this picturesque holiday town. Roots that make life with a Navy guy like me impossible. Ava is the last thing I need. Yet she's all I want for Christmas.

Award-winning journalist Catherine Price presents a practical, hands-on plan to break up—and then make up—with your phone. The goal? A long-term relationship that actually feels good. Unleavened Dead Ilene Schneider,2023-12-12 A full-time rabbi becomes a part-time sleuth when three suspicious deaths arise in this cozy mystery by the author of Chanukah Guilt. Rabbi Aviva Cohen has her hands full with Passover preparations, she certainly has no time to deal with anything else. Yet tragedy soon changes her plans when two members of the congregation are found dead. Their cause of death is believed to be accidental carbon monoxide poisoning, but Aviva is not so sure. Soon after, her niece's partner is suspected in a hit-and-run death. While Aviva is certain she's innocent, the amateur sleuth can't overlook the body-sized dent in the hood of her SUV. Digging into the two cases, Aviva uncovers a surprising connection between them, as well as a heap of disturbing criminal activity. Now she must quickly sift through the mishegoss to find out the truth before death strikes again . . . "Aviva is a great character, full of fun, somebody you'd feel comfortable hanging out with. Even though there are many mentions of Jewish tradition, non-Jews won't feel bombarded with too much information or miss any good clues along the way." —Kings River Life Magazine
