Law of Attraction Planner Media A F, 2019-06-29 This is a weekly planner for manifesting your goals and intentions. It has two parts: the planner side, which is meant to help you organize your week while always keeping your intentions at the top of your mind. At the beginning of each week, review your intentions and make some notes about affirmations you're going to use. Incorporate these into your visualization or meditation about the goal you're working on. This will help you to keep your mind focused on what you WANT, rather than getting caught up and reacting to what is going on in your current reality. Make notes during the week in the Notes section about what is working and not working. The vision board side of the planner is more of a free-form space, where you will put sketches, photos, notes, inspirations you tear out of magazines, or whatever visual stimulus that keeps your mind focused on the reality you are in the process of manifesting.

2019 Vision Board Workbook & Planner Monique Littlejohn, 2018-08-25 Congratulations. You have taken the first step in making your intentions your new reality! Let's face it. The first step in setting goals is dreaming about what you want to create. This can be a daunting process if you are starting with words, facts and figures. Sometimes you need to get out of your head and think of the amazing things that you can create. You need triggers. As they say, a picture tells a thousand words. This workbook encourages you to grab a magazine or jump onto your favorite social media platform - Pinterest, Instagram, or even Google, and start seeking images that resonate with you. I know this is hard in a paperless society, but next, hook your device onto a printer and actually print the images. Cut them out. Make them pretty. Next get out tape or a glue stick and attach them to the appropriate spots in the book. The next section is an Old-School planner, complete with daily and monthly sections so that you can keep track of your to-do lists and appointments.
