Residential Lighting Linda Owens,1998-02 The overwhelming majority of lights in residential households are incandescent -- the least energy efficient of all light types. If households replaced the most intensely used bulbs with compact fluorescent bulbs, they would see a sizable savings in their electric bills. This is an in-depth report on those savings. Contents: lighting data from the residential energy consumption survey (RECS); residential lighting profile (types and location of lights, lighting usage and costs, estimating the number of indoor lights); potential for savings (household and aggregate-level savings). The Enforcement of Directors' Duties in Britain and Germany Hans-Christoph Hirt,2004 The power to control litigation in the company's name is normally vested in the board of directors. This gives rise to a conflict of interest whenever some or all of the directors breach their duties. In such a situation, the board's decision whether or not to litigate is potentially tainted because the wrongdoers are part of the decision-making process. The board as a whole is therefore an unsuitable decision-making body and the following question arises: who should decide whether it is in the company's interest to initiate litigation against the alleged wrongdoers? There are a number of different persons and bodies in which the decision-making power could be vested. The British approach is the reversion of management power to the shareholders in general meeting and, in certain restricted situations, the availability of the derivative action brought by a shareholder on behalf of the company. Both mechanisms give rise to significant difficulties. This book begins by explaining the board's conflict of interest, sets out a theoretical framework of legal strategies that cover the whole range of approaches to deal with it and analyses their strengths and weaknesses. The analysis consists of an assessment and comparison of four models of the enforcement of directors' duties, which are based on the current law and reform proposals in Britain and Germany. Particular reference is made to recent case law and its practical implications.

Dog in the Mirror is God Gaby Dufresne-Cyr,2018-10-29

From science to spirituality, the book discusses quantum physics, psychological projection, mirroring, and behaviour modification protocols as an overall approach to change human and dog undesirable behaviours to desirable ones. Dog in the Mirror is God is an inter-species self-help book for professional animal trainers and dog owners who wish to address behaviour problems in a more practical approach. The text is easy to read and contains images to understand certain concepts. Inter-species attachment and imitation are introduced to complement the self-directed learning process. The author presents case studies taken from her client database. Although names were changed, the authenticity of each case remains the same. Follow Boreal, Ginger, Scooby, Jake and their caregivers as they explore the challenges of improving their dysfunctional relationships into symbiotic partnerships.

Lifespan Development Tara L. Kuther,2015-12-10 Recipient of the 2017 Most Promising New Textbook Award from the Textbook & Academic Authors Association (TAA) Chronologically organized, Lifespan Development: Lives in Context offers a unique perspective on the field by focusing on the importance of context—examining how the places, sociocultural environments, and ways in which we are raised influence who we become and how we grow and change. Author Tara L. Kuther integrates cutting-edge and classic research throughout the text to present a unified story of developmental science and its applications to everyday life. Robust pedagogy, student-friendly writing, and an inviting design enhance this exciting and inclusive exploration of the ways in which context informs our understanding of the lifespan.

Women and Aging Varda Muhlbauer,Joan C. Chrisler,Florence L. Denmark,2014-10-20 These are paradoxical times to be an older woman. As individual older women take the stage as role models in the arts and the public sphere, female elders as a group are marginalized as dependent, declining and unimportant. Women and Aging surveys the evolving sociopolitical landscape in an era still struggling with gender and age discrimination. This insightful volume recasts familiar concepts such as social roles, appearance, health, sexuality and transition through the related lenses of empowerment/restraint and quality of life/well-being for a deeper understanding of the disparities that exist both with men and within their own gender. Two especially relevant questions emerge from this framework: how women over 60 are contributing to the current climate of societal change and how these positive developments can improve the lives of older women as a whole. Featured topics analyze the wider implications of older women's experiences as family members, sensual and sexual beings, drivers of economies and members of a diverse population worldwide: Older women, power and the body. Older women, economic power and consumerism. The impact of multiple roles on older women: Strain or enrichment? Older women, leadership and encore careers. Sexuality in older women: Desirability and desire. Lesbians over 60: Newer every day. Clinical interventions to empower older women. A significant advance in feminist research, Women and Aging brings path-breaking perspectives to scholars in women's studies, gerontology, psychology, sociology, social work and human development, whether they study women who have overcome barriers or those who need support in changing the rules.
