

Marines Doo Dad

Robert Sidney Pace

My Dad Is a Marine (Boy) Clifford Chen, Summer Chen, 2014-12-20 This book explains who Marines are and what they do. Simple yet accurate illustrations depict Marine Corps' custom and traditions and the wars Marines have fought through history. Pages show examples of the different uniforms worn and explain the variety of jobs Marines have. Most importantly, we have attempted to describe what life is like for a child of a Marine. Please enjoy the preview of the complete book so you can see everything that is inside.

The Marine, the Man, My Dad Teresa Moore, 2019-04-22 Charlie, a country boy from Kansas volunteered to serve his country in a time of national emergency. Only one day after his nineteenth birthday, he enlisted into the USMC (United States Marine Corps) on December 8, 1942. He became a corporal, assigned to the Fourteenth Regiment (direct support artillery), Second Battalion, Fourth Division F. Battery, Fox Company. He and his Fourteenth Regiment fought in the famous Fourth Marine Division—a newly created amphibious landing assault fighting force during WWII in the Central Pacific Theater. They fought in the South Pacific against the Imperial Japanese Military. The Fourth Division was made up of the marine's Twenty-Third, Twenty-Fourth, and Twenty-Fifth Regiments, along with the Fourteenth Regiment (artillery support). In Charlie's marine records, it shows the following: muster date (April 1943), Battery F. Second Battalion, Fourteenth Marine, Twenty-Fourth Marine (reinforced) Camp Pendleton. The First, Second, and Third Battalions were the direct support battalions of the Twenty-Fourth Regiment. In combat, Charlie's Fourteenth Regiment, F. Battery was assigned to a single, specific rifle regiment. Keep the Twenty-Fourth Regiment in mind as you read on. Charlie's Fourteenth Regiment, Second Battalion would be the Twenty-Fourth Marine's direct artillery support. The Fourth Division was known as the Magnificent Bastards, second to none. They became the fighting fourth. Their home base during the war was on the Island of Maui, Hawaii. This home base for the Fourth Division became known as Camp Maui. These brave marines became known and loved by the locals. They were soon called the Maui Marines, home only to the marine's Fourth Division. My dad fought in the Kwajalein Atolls on Roi-Namur, Saipan, Tinian, and Iwo Jima in the South Pacific. These marines fought successfully against the Japanese, but not without a devastating number of loss from the original Fourth Division. This man Charlie, along with Geraldine, adopted me when I was about nine months old. I am the youngest and proudest daughter of the most loving and caring couple I had the privilege to call Dad and Mom. I have the deepest appreciation and admiration for both these special people. My devotion to their memory goes beyond measure. As an orphan in a Kansas orphanage at one time, I assure you the person that said, "Blood is thicker than water," wasn't adopted. I say, "Water is just as thick as blood." This kind of love with an open heart runs deep into the very core of one's soul. These gathered stories were recalled to the best of my family's and my memories. There are stories of interest that I think will captivate you while reading. I hope you enjoy this collection of stories during WWII and get a little sense of the marine and the incredible man who was my dad.

My Mom and Dad Are Marines (Boy) Clifford Chen, Summer Chen, 2014-12-20 This book helps to explain to children who Marines are and what they do. It introduces some Marine Corps customs and traditions and shows many of the wars Marines have fought in history. It shows various uniforms and jobs that Marines do. It then explains what it is like to be the child of a Marine.

My Daddy is a Marine ,

The Marine Corps War Memorial the United States Flag Raising of Iwo Jima Suzanne D. Wheeler, Rene Gagnon Jr., 2018-10-29 The Battle of Iwo Jima was a major battle in which the United States Marine Corps landed on and eventually captured the island of Iwo Jima from the Imperial Japanese Army during World War II.

This Recruit Kieran Michael Lalor, 2010-11-11 Just before the dawn of the Global War on Terror, Kieran Michael Lalor left his career as a high school social studies teacher, endeavoring to fulfill his lifelong dream. Lalor followed his father and brothers footsteps into the United States Marine Corps. This Recruit presents Lalors nightly journal entries, beginning with the uneasy trip to the recruiters office and the eerily quiet midnight bus ride to Parris Island. Lalor describes the wicked combination of fatigue, nerves, disorientation, misery, loneliness, and homesickness that conspire to keep him from his goal along with the hours of close order drill, push-ups, hand-to-hand combat training, the pit, and the unrelenting mind games. Witness the nasty recruit-on-recruit infighting that results when young men struggle to survive while being pushed past their limits physically, mentally, and emotionally. Gaze at the target from the five hundred yard line on Qualification Day, when failure means at least an extra two weeks on the island and the added humiliation of failing the quintessential test of a Marine. Experience the rappel tower, night firing, the infiltration courses, and long, back-crushing humps. Struggle with Lalor and his platoon as they try to overcome the Crucible, the final obstacle before claiming the title of United States Marine.

Finding My Father Robert Sidney Pace, 2009-12

My Four Years in the Marines Frank John

Verkest, 2010 Frank Verkest, born in 1917, father of three, grandfather of eight and great grandfather of thirteen, resides in Buckhead Ridge, Florida, just southwest of the city of Okeechobee. Frank is known for his great love of God and family. In 1936, after graduating from High School in Antioch, Illinois, knowing his family had no money for him to pursue an education, he joined the Marine Corps, whose motto was Join the Marines and get an education. His last duty in the Marine Corps introduced him to Marcie, thus beginning the sixty-nine-year love story of our dad and mom. When we found his handwritten memoirs of his tour of duty in the Marine Corps (1936-1940), we felt this great treasure needed to be bound and preserved for our family and future generations. With gratitude we lovingly dedicate this book and prayer to our father and mother, Frank and Marcie. Joyce, Jerry and Russell. The following is Dad's Prayer, composed by Dad and offered daily for many years. We do thank you, Lord, for the many blessings that you have given us; And we pray that you continue to watch over us and our families with good health and safety; And for our friends and relation that have serious problems, please guide them through their problems. We ask this in the name of Jesus. Amen.

Dad's War with the United States Marines Peter H. Green, 2005 This new kind of World War II memoir is a family narrative that relates the exploits of a low-ranking but resourceful nonconformist whose talents were lost on the military bureaucracy. Based on the letters and writings of the author's parents, this narrative describes one family's struggle when swept along in the tides of the world's biggest war.

Marines , 1986-12

My Hero Allen Appel, Mike Rothmiller, 2008-05-13 A collection of essays by children whose parents are serving or have served in the United States military.

Once a Marine Claude DeShazo, 2005-03-23 The former enlisted Marines whose stories you will read in this book have a common thread. The common thread is that they became one of the few, the proud, the Marines. They joined and entered the Vietnam war when their country called. They fought and returned home to adjust to normal lives by themselves. These are the life stories, told in their own words, of how Marine Corps vets came home, built families, businesses and are living the American dream today. Many still live their lives today with the same traditions and values taught to them by the Marine Corps and have adjusted after the traumatic experience of a war. Marine Corps values are easy to state as: Honor, Courage, and Commitment. The Marine Corps defines these values in the following way: Honor as demonstrating integrity in all one does, and accepting responsibility and accountability for ones actions. Courage as doing the right thing, in the right way, and for the right reasons. Commitment as devotion to the Corps and ones fellow Marines. All Marines, former and active duty, live and fight under this same creed. Read about these men who left the Corps and the war behind and used this experience as a stepping stone to success and happiness.

Mother's Six Marines Frank A. Reed, 2011-07-12
The old saying, 'Once a marine, always a marine, ' held true for five brothers who followed their father, Frank Sr., into the United States Marine Corps. Frank Sr. was in the infantry. Each brother met varying degrees of success: Frank Jr. as a mechanic on Corsair fighter planes, Ralph as an expert rifleman and the only one of the six to become an officer, Roy as an airplane dispatch clerk, Lloyd in battlefield communications, and George as an expert on track vehicles. Service in the marines, a battlefield buddy named Walter Archumbald, and love for Mother bonded the five brothers on their otherwise dissimilar roads through life. Mother's Six Marines served in WWI, WWII, Korea, and Vietnam

Keeping Faith John Schaeffer, Frank Schaeffer, 2003-12-15 In 1998, Frank Schaeffer was a bohemian novelist living in Volvo driving, higher-education worshipping Massachusetts with two children graduated from top universities. Then his youngest child, straight out of high school, joined the United States Marine Corps. Written in alternating voices by eighteen-year-old John and his father, Frank, Keeping Faith takes readers in riveting fashion through a family's experience of the Marine Corps: from being broken down and built back up on Parris Island (and being the parent of a child undergoing that experience), to the growth of both father and son and their separate reevaluations of what it means to serve. From Frank's realization that among his fellow soccer dads the very words 'boot camp' were pejorative, conjuring up 'troubled youths at risk' ('But aren't they all terribly southern?' asked one parent) to John's learning that the Marine next to you is more important than you are, Keeping Faith – a New York Times bestseller – is a fascinating and personal examination of issues of class, duty, and patriotism. The fact that John is currently serving in the Middle East only adds to the impact of this wonderfully written, timely, and moving human interest story.

While You Are Earning the Title Marine: A Dad's Tour of Duty Recruit Training Journal, 2019-03-17 The 3 months plus that a civilian is away at Parris Island is some of the toughest military training in the world to endure. The recruits are tested immensely physically and mentally, and they come out of the crucible earning the title United States Marine. The moms, dads, girlfriends, boyfriends, brothers, sisters, grandparents, and any other family member left at home have quite an uphill battle as well. The anxiety of not knowing what your recruit is doing, if they are ok, and the mantra that no news is good news, is nerve wracking to say the least. This 6x9 lined journal will give you somewhere to write your experience down. Whether you are going to share it with your new Marine, or keep it private to help you cope with the absence of your loved one, it's good to get these thoughts and feelings out so you can move forward.

Sgt. A.F. "Kelly" Murray U.S.M.C. Kevin Charles Murray, 2011 I know from the very beginning of my life that my Dad was a hero-a combat Marine veteran of the South Pacific and an Indianapolis firefighter. His life was devoted to public service-high risk public service. As Sheriff Frank Anderson would say, my Dad had jobs where he signed his life as collateral to ensure a job properly done. From 1943 to 1946, Kelly Murray did his Marine Corps job very well.--Forward.

The Essential M1 Garand Jim Thompson, 2020-02-25 The first self-loading rifle to see widespread military use, the robust M1 Garand survived the tests of battle from World War II to Vietnam, and it remains a favorite among competition shooters and collectors to this day. In this heavily illustrated, practical history, author Jim Thompson, a longtime M1 shooter and collector, tells the complete story of the rifle's development, look, feel, and function. A thoroughly researched overview of the M1 Garand goes beyond industrial histories and provides background on manufacturers and stateside sources as well as discussing ammunition and accuracy. Detailed photo sections present: Early and World War II rifles World War II and postwar rebuilds (including rare postwar rifles from the US and Italy) Special purpose rifles and rarities, including sniper, match, and competition rifles plus the T26 Spinoffs and derivatives, including the M14, M1A, and BM.59 In addition, reprinted and heavily annotated military and National Match manuals, an updated troubleshooting chart, and a section on reloading provide valuable functional data and rules of thumb with the shooter in mind. Collectors will benefit from an extensive parts compendium. The final part of the book, dedicated to the enjoyment and maintenance of the M1, addresses some common questions about the rifle and offers detailed instruction on some expert procedures for maintaining and smoothing this wartime classic.

Flags of Our Fathers James Bradley, Ron Powers, 2012-02-29 The New York Times bestselling chronicle of one of the most famous moments in American military history--the raising of the U. S. flag at Iwo Jima during World War II--now adapted for young adults. Read the true story behind the immortal photograph that has come to symbolize the courage and strength of America and its armed forces. This is a penetrating, epic look at a generation at war, told with keen insight and enormous honesty --also a major motion picture directed by Clint Eastwood. In February 1945, American Marines plunged into the surf at Iwo Jima—and into history. Through a hail of machine-gun and mortar fire, they battled to the island's highest peak. And there, they raised a flag, signaling a historic step towards the eventual defeat of the Axis powers of World War II. A powerful account of six very different men--three of which were killed in battle-- who came together in the heroic fight for the Pacific's most crucial island. It is the story of the difference between truth and myth, the legacy of a hero, and the brutal cost of war.
