Designing & Revitalizing the Strategies Dr. Dibyendu Choudhury,Mr. P. Udaya Shanker,2022-12-30 The entire Tourism Sector faced severe challenges across the Globe due to the Pandemic (COVID-19). Several tourism service providers quit the sector, and several are thinking of switching over to other domains because of severe depletion in demand due to lockdowns and emerging uncertainties. The questions are When we will be able to come out from this Pandemic? What to do? How to run the business? How to re-strategize the existing business? What's the use of technology in the Tourism and Hospitality business? What are the Govt. schemes and how to get the help from Govt in India? This Book tries to give answers to all of the above questions. They are also focused on tourism policy and the strategies to be adopted by the providers to sustain and revitalize the sector. The authors have conducted a PAN India study and found that in India, the tourism operators are not aware of the Govt. Relief funds, even if they are unaware that they belong to Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) under the services segment. While they needed the cash credit or Operating costs very badly during the crisis, they even don't know whom to approach or what the requirements are to get the Emergency Credit Line (ECLCSS) Scheme in India.

The DIY Bride, an Affair to Remember Khris Cochran,2012 Cochran (DIYBride.com) provides an idea trove that will inspire the nuptial process of the budget-conscious. Projects are mostly favors, invites, ring holders and a few of the unexpected, such as making your own wedding rings with precious metal clays. She holds the crafter's hand through the process of producing cigar-box welcome packages, teacup centerpieces and paper parasols, with detailed lists of supplies and directions, tips and hints, and an itemized price breakdown - with a dollop of humor hot-glued on the side. Eight wedding themes are presented, with five projects for each, enhancing any occasion calling for extra flair and less expense. And, if fairy-tale flower girl costumes or chicken-wire seating holders aren't your thing, inspiration can be mixed and matched. And of course, that critical element - an estimate of just how many bridesmaids, moms and aunts will be required for crafty assistance - completes this wicker basket of ideas that will enliven the celebration of marriage - or just any good party. Remembering Who We Are Ze'ev Chafets,2015-04-21 The perfect gift for graduates – thirty commencement addresses about liberty, patriotism, tradition, and other conservative themes that are rarely heard on campus. The college graduation speech has become another casualty of our age of political correctness. Historically, universities are supposed to be strongholds of tolerance, where any idea can be discussed--and tested rigorously to see if it has merit. Students should benefit from free expression and diversity of opinions, about current events and eternal questions alike. But today, certain positions are considered too controversial for the fragile ears of liberal students, and for administrators who usually surrender to their demands. It's no longer unusual when a U.S. Senator like Ted Cruz, a pioneering neurosurgeon like Ben Carson, a Supreme Court Justice like Antonin Scalia, or a human rights advocate like Ayaan Hirsi Ali faces protests, disrespectful shouting, or petitions to have his or her invitation revoked. Fortunately, Remembering Who We Are collects the commencement wisdom of a wide range of thinkers who are willing to challenge the liberal consensus on campus. Editor Zev Chafets has brought together a diverse group of speakers from many walks of life, from playwright David Mamet to Ambassador Ryan Crocker, from Governor Bobby Jindal to humorist PJ O'Rourke. For example, you'll find in these pages: • "Do Your Best to Be Your Best" by Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas • "Gridlock, An American Achievement" by columnist George F. Will • "We Have Something Wonderful" by novelist Marilynne Robinson • "The Art of the Entrepreneur" by business leader Mort Zuckerman • "Restore and Remake Our Country" by historian Victor Davis Hanson Too many students now enter the real world after being taught that patriotism is misguided, that religious faith is for the foolish, and that free enterprise is unfair. The eloquent speeches in this collection will help them grasp the truth – that America is flawed but fundamentally good; that faith can have intellectual depth; that capitalism is the world's greatest force for fighting poverty; and much more.
