Treatise on Geophysics, Volume 10 Tilman Spohn, 2010-05-20 Planets and Moons covers topics relating to the physics of the major planetary bodies in the solar system, starting with an introductory description of the solar system and collection of pertinent data, continuing with a discussion of the early history of the planets, and finishing with articles about planet dynamics, thermal evolution of planets and satellites, and descriptions of their magnetic fields and the processes that generate them. In addition to providing a review on the solid planets and the satellites, this volume addresses the interactions of solid surfaces and atmospheres as well as the roles of water and ice in shaping the surfaces of planetary bodies. Self-contained volume starts with an overview of the subject then explores each topic with in depth detail Extensive reference lists and cross references with other volumes to facilitate further research Full-color figures and tables support the text and aid in understanding Content suited for both the expert and non-expert Constantine v. Prince: Case File, Second Edition William S. Bailey,2013-04-30 This is a wrongful death case involving bicyclist George Constantine, who, while working for a bicycle messenger service, was hit by motorist Richard Prince. The decedent's estate seeks to recover damages from the defendant, alleging that he was going too fast and not keeping a proper lookout. The case utilizes computer animations in support of the testimony of both the plaintiff's and defendants' accident reconstruction experts. There are ten witnesses for the plaintiff and seven witnesses for the defendants.

Constantine v. Prince William S. Bailey,2023-02-15 Bike messenger George Constantine died after being struck by motorist Richard Prince—this is not in doubt. The question is, was Prince driving distracted when his car hit Constantine? Or did Constantine ride into the path of a car too close to stop? This robust case, based on a real-life incident, provides a multitude of evidence types, including computer animations, social media, text messaging, and business documents, as well as expert witnesses for both accident reconstruction and damages. Participants will have access to color exhibits and animations via our download center. New to the Third Edition: Innovative juror engagement visual strategies Analysis of internet related changes in juror brain function and attention span Text messaging/distracted driving images Social media and Google Maps visuals Computer screen evidence simulations Visualizations streamlining expert testimony Professors and students will benefit from: The modern approach, geared to advocacy in the internet era Highly sophisticated computer graphics Unparalleled visual advocacy opportunities Exciting motion practice and evidentiary foundation challenges A realistic scenario based on an actual wrongful death trial The balanced fact pattern, with each side having an equal opportunity to win The flexibility to try the case as liability only or liability and damages

Mercury's Interior, Surface, and Surrounding Environment Pamela Elizabeth Clark,2015-03-02 This SpringerBrief details the MESSENGER Mission, the findings of which present challenges to widely held conventional views and remaining mysteries surrounding the planet. The work answers the question of why Mercury is so dense, and the implications from geochemical data on its planetary formation. It summarizes imaging and compositional data from the terrestrial planet surface processes and explains the geologic history of Mercury. It also discusses the lack of southern hemisphere coverage. Our understanding of the planet Mercury has been in a transitional phase over the decades since Mariner 10. The influx of new data from the NASA MESSENGER Mission since it was inserted into the orbit of Mercury in March of 2011 has greatly accelerated that shift. The combined compositional data of relatively high volatiles (S, K), relatively low refractories (Al, Ca), and low crustal iron, combined with an active, partially molten iron rich core, has major implications for Mercury and Solar System formation. From a scientist at NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, this presents a comprehensive overview of the discoveries from the ten-year

MESSENGER mission.
