Mexican Train Dominoes are played with a standard set of Double Twelve dominoes. Each game has 91 dominoes, and we recommend that dominoes with colored spots are used because otherwise, it becomes difficult to match dominoes at a glance. To begin, the dominoes are shuffled face down in circles with the flat of the hand - producing an attractive sound that has been well-known for centuries. Depending on the number of players, each player draws a set number of dominoes. Up to 4 players take 15 dominoes each, 5 or 6 take 12 each, 7 or 8 take 10 each. In friendly games, players usually just place their dominoes on edge in a row facing them. The remaining dominoes are termed sleeping tiles or the boneyard. The hub is placed in the middle of the table and each player selects a slot on the outer edge that is facing them to be the starting point for their train. One additional slot is chosen to be the starting point for the 'Mexican Train,' and the Mexican Train marker is placed in this slot to denote it as such. The player with the highest double puts it in the center of the Mexican Train Hub. The player to the left of the player who put down the highest double starts and players then take turns in a clockwise direction. The first turn made by each player at Mexican Train Dominoes is different from subsequent turns and can require some thought to give the best advantage. The player starts their 'train' by putting their first domino into their chosen slot on the hub. The end pointing towards the middle must match the central hub domino. They then continue to extend this 'train' by adding more dominoes from their hand until they can't put down any more. The aim is to be the first player to get rid of all the dominoes in their hand. As soon as this happens, even if the last tile is a Double, the game ends. The winning player scores zero; the other players score the total of the number of spots on the dominoes still left in their hands. Usually, a series of games are played, and whoever has the least points at the end of the round wins the match.
