Flexible Ridesharing Volker Handke, Helga Jonuschat, 2012-12-14 Individual mobility is one of the most important needs of modern society and an important link between private, public and economic life. In contrast, transport also entails severe environmental and social burdens, foiling current efforts for sustainable development. As the main source of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions, transport is a prominent driver for climate change, and individual car traffic is responsible for nearly a third of the total energy consumption. However, we have to consider that many commuters feel indeed very dependent on their car. Here, ridesharing promises to contribute to environmental protection, while still offering individual mobility. Although ridesharing options have been discussed since many years, internet and smartphones provide completely new opportunities to find ridesharing partners today. Thus, this book deals with current efforts on implementing flexible internet- and phone-based ridesharing services. With a main focus on the users' perspective, their demands and acceptance limits, we aim to explore success factors for non-profit, but also commercial ridesharing concepts.

Paradigm Shift in Urban Mobility Tomasz Janasz, 2017-11-30 Tomasz Janasz demonstrates that digital technologies and new mobility concepts can lead to a reduction of the automobiles in urban areas by a factor of 10. The book features two vivid case studies of such digital mobility concepts: TwoGo by SAP and smexx. The author proposes six prototypes of business models for 'Shared Automobility Services'. Janasz offers also the 'Transformative Literacy' for designing sustainable urban mobility systems of the future. The author elaborates on the socio-political patterns of urban mobility by presenting the case of the City of Basel (Switzerland). He proposes the framework of 'Integrated Sustainable Urban Mobility' to explain how to overcome car dependence in cities.

In den ÖPNV integrierte Mitnahmesysteme im ländlichen Raum - Wirkungsanalyse und Bewertung
Volker Schmitt, 2020-01-01 Ziel dieser Arbeit war es, ein Bewertungsverfahren für in den ÖPNV integrierte Mitnahme zu entwickeln und damit zu untersuchen, unter welchen Bedingungen Ridesharing ein Baustein des ÖPNV in nachfrageschwachen Räumen sein kann. Das in dieser Arbeit entwickelte Verfahren wurde am Beispiel des Mitnahmesystems "Mobilfalt" angewandt, das seit 2013 in Nordhessen erprobt wird. Diese Arbeit orientiert sich dabei vor allem an zwei Leitfragen: - In welcher Form kann integrierte Mitnahme ein Bestandteil des ÖPNV-Angebotes in ländlichen Räumen sein? - Unter welchen Bedingungen ist integrierte Mitnahme bei vergleichbarem Verkehrsangebot aus

Sharing Cities Duncan McLaren, Julian Agyeman, 2015-11-20 The future of humanity is urban, and the nature of urban space enables, and necessitates, sharing -- of resources, goods and services, experiences. Yet traditional forms of sharing have been undermined in modern cities by social fragmentation and commercialization of the public realm. In Sharing Cities, Duncan McLaren and Julian Agyeman argue that the intersection of cities' highly networked physical space with new digital technologies and new mediated forms of sharing offers cities the opportunity to connect smart technology to justice, solidarity, and sustainability. McLaren and Agyeman explore the opportunities and risks for sustainability, solidarity, and justice in the changing nature of sharing. McLaren and Agyeman propose a new sharing paradigm, which goes beyond the faddish sharing economy -- seen in such ventures as Uber and TaskRabbit -- to envision models of sharing that are not always commercial but also communal, encouraging trust and collaboration. Detailed case studies of San Francisco, Seoul, Copenhagen, Medellín, Amsterdam, and Bengaluru (formerly Bangalore) contextualize the authors' discussions of collaborative consumption and production; the shared public realm, both physical and virtual; the design of sharing to enhance equity and justice; and the prospects for scaling up the sharing paradigm through city governance. They show how sharing could shift values and norms, enable civic engagement and political activism, and rebuild a shared urban commons. Their case for sharing and solidarity offers a powerful alternative for urban futures to conventional race-to-the-bottom narratives of competition, enclosure, and division.

Progress in Sustainable Mobility Research Jorge Marx Gómez,Jantje Halberstadt,Anna Henkel,Frank Köster,Jürgen Sauer,Jürgen Taegeer,Andreas Winter,David M. Woisetschläger,2021-05-24 This book presents the outcomes of the trans- and interdisciplinary research project NEMo (Nachhaltige Erfüllung von Mobilitätsbedürfnissen im ländlichen Raum - Sustainable Fulfilment of Mobility Needs in Rural Areas). Due to demographic change, it is becoming increasingly difficult for rural districts and communities to maintain a basic set of public transport services such as bus and train transit without encountering issues regarding necessary social participation, sensible regional value creation and, last but not least, achievable environmental protection goals. At the same time, the demand for mobility in rural areas will continue to rise in the future, e.g. due to the concentration of medical care facilities and shopping centres close to cities. Focusing on the development of sustainable and innovative mobility services and business models, this book explains how new mobility offers can be created in which citizens themselves become mobility providers. To do so, it combines the findings of the individual research groups with external contributions from science and practice.
