Living Donor Advocacy JENNIFER STEEL,2013-11-22 The inadequate supply of organs in the United States and other countries continues to drive the reliance on living donor transplantation. In 2000, representatives of the transplant community convened for a meeting on living donation in an effort to provide guidelines to promote the welfare of living donors. The consensus statement that resulted from this meeting recommended that transplant centers retain an Independent Living Donor Advocate (ILDA) to focus on the best interest of the donor. A decade later, nearly every transplant center in the United States, performing living donor surgeries, has incorporated an ILDA into their living donor screening and/or evaluation process Living Donor Advocate provides an overview of living donation and its risks, ethical challenges and future developments, as well as details about the role a Living Donor Advocate plays in the transplantation process. This book will interest health professionals across various disciplines and patients undergoing transplantation or living donor surgery.

Living Gift: A Kidney Donation Story Toni Badinger,2023-02-09 I have always felt that God has a plan for my life. For my husband and my children, he has always been in charge. God led us to Ashburn, Virginia, in 2014. He brought me to Onelife Fitness as a personal trainer. Then he introduced me to Cynthia, one client I will never forget. She needed a kidney, and she was on the transplant list, but little did I know, until God told me to donate my kidney to her. This is my story. If you are looking for more information about Toni, you can find her website at: www.tonibadinger.com On Facebook: Toni Nyre Badinger On Instagram: Tbadinger I would love to help you find your passion, in health and fitness, or in listening to God.

A Donated Life Michael Ray Sivley,2011-08 What if today you were told you had only twenty-four hours to live? What would you do? The disease will begin to make you weak, and you won't be able to eat anything. People who have not seen you in a month won't know you. You won't be able to walk without a railing, a cane, a friend. I had the time left on the face of a clock. As the darkness deepened, my hope and my future was called into question. I had prepared to die. My question to you is this: With twenty-four hours left, and your sand running out, will you be ready for the darkness coming? It's coming, along with a sickness that tries men's souls. As the sand runs out, and all sound ceases to be, will you feel a hand grab yours, or will you be all alone in the darkness?

Life Goes On Christine Jowett,2015-07-27 It is a reality that someone in Canada dies every three days waiting for an organ transplant; for some patients, they are lying in their hospital beds, waiting to be given a second chance at life. Some are fortunate to receive that organ or gift of life, yet for many, they don't survive because the organ they require is either not available or doesn't get there in time. Christine Jowett was only thirteen years old when she became jaundiced, fatigued, and endured bouts of right abdominal pain. Having lived with autoimmune hepatitis for twenty-six years, Christine's disease finally took its toll on her and she ended up in St. Mary's Hospital, where she works as a cardiology nurse. In order to save her life, she was then sent to Toronto General Hospital to wait for a liver transplant, yet, her situation continued to deteriorate as her kidneys were shutting down. Now at forty-one years old, a mother and a wife, it still remains a mystery as to why Christine developed chronic autoimmune hepatitis, a disease that for so long through her life she was able to manage with few medications. Life Goes On is a moving story of her life, which tells of her sickness, facing up to the possibility of losing her family, and the struggle to regain the normality of life after her operation. After the tragic death of an anonymous hero, Christine is given the ultimate gift of life, a healthy organ, on one very special day.

The Hall Ball Ralph Carhart,2020-06-18 Rescued in 2010 from the small creek that runs next to Doubleday Field in Cooperstown, New York, a simple baseball launched an epic quest that spanned the United States and beyond. For eight years, The Hall Ball went on a journey to have its picture taken with every member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, both living and deceased. The goal? To enshrine the first crowd-sourced artifact ever donated to the Hall. Part travelogue, part baseball history, part photo journal, this book tells the full story for the first time. The narratives that accompany the ball's odyssey are as funny and moving as any in the history of the game.

All the Living and the Dead Hayley Campbell,2022-08-16 A deeply compelling exploration of the death industry and the people—morticians, detectives, crime scene cleaners, embalmers, executioners—who work in it and what led them there. We are surrounded by death. It is in our news, our nursery rhymes, our true-crime podcasts. Yet from a young age, we are told that death is something to be feared. How are we supposed to know what we're so afraid of, when we are never given the chance to look? Fueled by a childhood fascination with death, journalist Hayley Campbell searches for answers in the people who make a living by working with the dead. Along the way, she encounters mass fatality investigators, embalmers, and a former executioner who is responsible for ending sixty-two lives. She meets gravediggers who have already dug their own graves, visits a cryonics facility in Michigan, goes for late-night Chinese with a homicide detective, and questions a man whose job it is to make crime scenes disappear. Through Campbell's incisive and candid interviews with these people who see death every day, she asks: Why would someone choose this kind of life? Does it change you as a person? And are we missing something vital by letting death remain hidden? A dazzling work of cultural criticism, All the Living and the Dead weaves together reportage with memoir, history, and philosophy, to offer readers a fascinating look into the psychology of Western death.

Living Slower Merissa A. Alink,2022-04-12 In an increasingly complex and chaotic world, we yearn to live a little slower, a little simpler. For popular lifestyle blogger Merissa A. Alink, living slower has enabled her to eat healthier, develop stronger relationships with her friends and family, save money by spending less, and have more Òin-real-lifeÓ time with her kids instead of more screen time. It has given her family more time to plant gardens, can produce, and sit down to wholesome, home-cooked meals. It has allowed her to do what is needed rather than what is expected. Now she shares the secrets to living a simpler, slower life with anyone who is tired of feeling anxious, frenzied, or disconnected from the natural rhythms of life. She helps you reevaluate your priorities, seek God first, and take small steps toward a life more in line with your values, including decluttering to create space in your home and your mind, making simple and healthy meals, taking a weekly Sabbath, limiting the influence of media, and taking time to nurture your most important relationships.

An Early Sunrise Rick Yeager,2019-02-09 An Early Sunrise: My New Beginning is my journal written during my four-year battle with cirrhosis of the liver, hepatic encephalopathy, and liver cancer. With the heartfelt gift of life, my hero won my battle and gave me a second chance at life. I had the opportunity to express my feelings and emotions during my hellacious journey. I wanted to inspire others who are battling a terminal illness to fight, to never lose faith, and to hang on to hope. Writing this book was my sanctuary, finding peace within by expressing how I felt while I was dying. Many do not have the opportunity to receive a lifesaving organ transplant; instead they lose their lives waiting for an organ. There is a mass shortage of organ donors registered to give others the opportunity of a second chance at life. An organ donor can save up to eight lives. My hero lives on in me by giving me the gift of life. Consider becoming an organ, tissue, and eye donor, and become someone's Hero. You may register to become an organ donor at Registerme.org or at your local DMV. Donate life.
