Medical Ophthalmology (Classic Reprint) Robert Foster Moore, 2017-03-06 Excerpt from Medical Ophthalmology IN the following pages an attempt has been made to give a concise account of those pathological conditions of the eyes and their connections which, for the most part, are of interest in general medical diseases. As regards my personal opinions and observations, they are in great measure the results of investigations carried out during the last nine years in the medical wards of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. The changes are chiefly considered under the heads of separate diseases; in Chapter I., however, I have collected together for separate consideration a heterogeneous group of important ophthalmological signs and symptoms without special reference to the diseases with which they are connected. The subsequent chapters are arranged to include systemic groups, Diseases of the Nervous System, Toxic Amblyopias, etc. The references have been placed at the foot of each page, and whilst this has resulted in a small amount of duplication, it was felt that this was justified by the readiness of access thus provided. An Index of Authors has been added in addition to the general Index. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy. In rare cases, an imperfection in the original, such as a blemish or missing page, may be replicated in our edition. We do, however, repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully; any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works.
