Find cell phones' area online by cell tower triangulation utilizing LAC (Location Area Code) and Celled from PC, iphone or Androide phone. Cell tower triangulation utilizes the LAC and Cellid to focus the position of a cellular smartphone. With information from no less than three cell towers, this strategy can ascertain a handset's area exactly. Each one base station covers a certain region, the more cell towers in your general vicinity, the more precise result it delivers. So the thickness of cell towers decides the precision. For the most part, the thickness is higher in the urban zones particularly at downtown. While in country territories, where there are less cell towers, the result is less precise. Mobile Entity Localization and Tracking in GPS-less Environments Richard Fuller, Xenofon D. Koutsoukos, 2009-09-29 This volume contains the proceedings of the Second International Workshop on Mobile Entity Localization and Tracking in GPS-less Environments (MELT 2009), held in Orlando, Florida on September 30, 2009 in conjunction with the 11th International Conference on Ubiquitous Computing (UbiComp 2009). MELT provides a forum for the presentation of state-of-the-art technologies in mobile localization and tracking and novel applications of location-based services. MELT 2009 continued the success of the first workshop in the series (MELT 2008), which was held in San Francisco, California on September 19, 2008 in conjunction with Mobicom. Location-awareness is a key component for achieving context-awareness. Recent years have witnessed an increasing trend towards location-based services and applications. In most cases, however, location information is limited by the accessibility to GPS, which is unavailable for indoor or underground facilities and unreliable in urban environments. Much research has been done, in both the sensor network community and the ubiquitous computing community, to provide techniques for localization and tracking in GPS-less environments. Novel applications based on ad-hoc localization and real-time tracking of mobile entities are growing as a result of these technologies. MELT brings together leaders from both the academic and industrial research communities to discuss challenging and open problems, to evaluate pros and cons of various approaches, to bridge the gap between theory and applications, and to envision new research opportunities.

Device-Free Object Tracking Using Passive Tags Jinsong Han, Wei Xi, Kun Zhao, Zhiping Jiang, 2014-11-21 This SpringerBrief examines the use of cheap commercial passive RFID tags to achieve accurate device-free object-tracking. It presents a sensitive detector, named Twins, which uses a pair of adjacent passive tags to detect uncooperative targets (such as intruders). Twins leverages a newly observed phenomenon called critical state that is caused by interference among passive tags. The author expands on the previous object tracking methods, which are mostly device-based, and reveals a new interference model and their extensive experiments for validation. A prototype implementation of the Twins-based intrusion detection scheme with commercial off-the-shelf reader and tags is also covered in this SpringerBrief. Device-Free Object Tracking Using Passive Tags is designed for researchers and professionals interested in smart sensing, localization, RFID and Internet of Things applications. The content is also useful for advanced-level students studying electrical engineering and computer science.
