- Numerous step-by-step examples
- Guidance on training your eye to see composition with emotional impact
- Tips on mastering the key points of operating your camera like a pro
- Secrets to processing your images to professional standards

Photography and the technology associated with it are constantly evolving, but the fundamentals remain the same. Advancing Your Photography will help to bring you the joy and satisfaction of a lifetime of pursuing the art of photography.

Photo-oxidants, Acidification and Tools: Policy Applications of EUROTRAC Results Peter Borrell, Peter Builtjes, Peringe Grennfelt, Oystein Hov, 2012-12-06 EUROTRAC is the EUREKA environmental project studying the transport and chemical transformation of pollutants in the troposphere over Europe. At its inception in 1988 it had three aims: * to increase the basic understanding of atmospheric science; * to promote the technological development of sensitive, specific, fast-response instrumentation for environmental research and monitoring; and * to improve the scientific basis for taking future political decisions on environmental management within Europe. It was clear at an early stage, as the fourteen subprojects were formed and more than two hundred research groups in twenty-four countries were incorporated, that the first aim would readily be achieved. An ample demonstration that the early indications were correct is provided in the other volumes in this series which describe the scientific progress made. Substantial progress was also made towards achieving the second aim although some problems were encountered, mainly due to the high cost of the technological development required.

Family Photo Detective Maureen A. Taylor, 2013-01-15 Unlock the Secrets of Your Old Family Photos! Historical family photos are cherished heirlooms that offer a glimpse into the lives of our ancestors. But the images, and the stories behind them, often fade away as decades pass – the who, when, where and why behind the photos are lost. In this book, photo identification expert and genealogist Maureen A. Taylor shows you how to study the clues in your old family photos to put names to faces and recapture their lost stories. Inside, you'll learn how to:

- Determine the type of image you have – from common paper prints to stereographs to historical daguerreotypes, ambrotypes, and tintypes
- Use clothing, accessories, and hairstyles to date the image in the correct decade
- Research photographer's imprints to narrow down when and where the photo was taken
- Compare facial features in multiple photos to confirm identity and family resemblance
- Interview family members to gather more information about the image
- Identify props in the photo to create context for the image

Each chapter includes dozens of historical photos to illustrate key points and provide clear examples. Charts, timelines and resource lists make it easy to find the exact information you need. Dozens of case studies show you how to apply the techniques in the book to real-life photo research projects. The answers to your family photo questions are closer than you think. Let this book help you start finding them today.

Landscape Photography Secrets Tim Shields, 2020-10-19 Do you want to know the true secret to take your own stunning photos? It is not your camera, your lens or your technical knowledge. It is 100% your photo compositions. If you want to start taking amazing photos, then you need to read this book! Written by a professional landscape photographer, Tim Shields guides you step by step through the process of finding unique compositions by first finding natural hidden patterns in the landscape.

American Photography Vicki Goldberg, Robert Silberman, 1999 This beautiful and informative photographic history includes images from 1900 to 1999. Many are often seen (bullet piercing the apple, splashing crown of milk, Sophia Loren looking askance at Jayne Mansfield's plunging decollete, and Dorothea Lange's Migrant Mother); but most are probably unknown, because the photos were selected not only for their visual and cognitive qualities but also for their importance to the history and development of photographic technique and usage. The century is divided into thirds for explanation's sake, and there is at least one photograph for every year. While this is a picture book, the accompanying text provides informative introductions to the uses and abuses of perhaps the century's most important medium. The book is companion to the PBS series. Terra Llantera: Placemaking and Finding Home in the Borderlands, with Photos by Vivian Grimes Ginger L Franklin, 2017-11-19 Terra Llantera: Placemaking and Finding Home in the Borderlands, with Photos by Vivian Grimes is a work of collaboration through and through. It is a narrative nonfiction, photo essay, and collection of research. Through these various lenses, the hidden world of Tijuana's trash and tire-based construction is revealed in stunning fashion. A fascinating cycle of use, disposal, and reuse of tires and trash plays out in massive scale along the border between the United States and Mexico. In the city of Tijuana, impermanent communities often adopt materials that have been cast off by people and re-purpose them to build houses, parks, and a stable life for themselves. The alternative is something akin to an ecological disaster waiting to happen. The social implications of this unique ecological and economic dynamic are far from obvious, and are not trivial.

Images in Social Media Susanne Ørnager, Haakon Lund, 2022-06-01 This book focuses on the methodologies, organization, and communication of digital image collection research that utilizes social media content. (Image is here understood as a cultural, conventional, and commercial-stock photo-representation.) The lecture offers expert views that provide different interpretations of images and their potential implementations. Linguistic and semiotic methodologies as well as eye-tracking research are employed to both analyze images and comprehend how humans consider them, including which salient features generally attract viewers' attention. This literature review covers image-specifically photographic-research since 2005, when major social media platforms emerged. A citation analysis includes an overview of co-citation maps that demonstrate the nexus of image research literature and the journals in which they appear. Eye tracking tests whether scholarly templates focus on the proper features of an image, such as people, objects, time, etc., and if a prescribed theme affects the eye movements of the observer. The results may point to renewed requirements for building image search engines. As it stands, image management already requires new algorithms and a new understanding that involves text recognition and very large database processing. The aim of this book is to present different image research areas and demonstrate the challenges image research faces. The book's scope is, by necessity, far from comprehensive, since the field of digital image research does not cover fake news, image manipulation, mobile photos, etc.; these issues are very complex and need a publication of their own. This book should primarily be useful for students in library and information science, psychology, and computer science.

Finding Our Way to Each Other Louisa Huntington Fisher, 2021-04-12 This book, Finding Our Way To Each Other, is part of my path and journey, shared through a collection of my photographs, inspired thoughts, and writing. These photos are from my excursions and travels out in nature and in the world. My vision, when I am behind the lens of the camera, is to capture each beautiful moment and share it. These photos are not about perfection because I can also see the beauty in the imperfection. I feel inspired to create a way for the image to be meaningful for others. My experience when I am out photographing is that nature and animals are healing, restoring, balancing, soulful, and spiritual. I hope you get to experience that, too, as you take this journey with me. In my travels, I have been fortunate enough to meet amazing people. They have graciously shared with me what they see, how they feel and live. I have been blessed to have crossed paths with kind and open-minded human beings. I am grateful for meeting them on this incredible journey. I carry with me their wisdom and stories. In creating this book, I wanted to put together something special and meaningful for everyone. I hope in some way that these photos and words have a positive impact on you and that they inspire you, resonate with you, be a guide or compass to help navigate you and remind you that you are seen, heard, and have purpose. It has been a true gift to have these experiences and to get to this moment in time and to be able to share it with all of you.
