Fargo Moorhead Lost and Found Troy Larson, 2016-04 Dive into the fascinating history of the Gateway to the West with the vintage views and local history presented in Fargo Moorhead Lost and Found. Through classic postcards and time-honored photographs, this examination of the visual landscape of the FM metro reveals interesting bits of local history and spotlights the backstory of many local landmarks. What was the first significant building in Fargo? What did downtown Moorhead originally look like? What did north Fargo look like right after the tornado of 1957? All these questions and more are answered. Landmarks lost, local history found, in Fargo Moorhead Lost and Found.

Red River Floods: Fargo and Moorhead Terry Shoptaugh, 2015 Fargo, North Dakota, and Moorhead, Minnesota, have existed on opposite sides of the Red River of the North since 1871. Ever since, heavy moisture from melting snow has combined with spring rains to threaten both towns with a rapidly rising, twisting river. Minor flooding is almost an annual event, and on six occasions the two towns experienced major floods requiring evacuations of large numbers of residents. The history of these floods is covered in the photographs contained in this book, including many provided by residents, local flood-fighting crews, and state and federal agencies. These images tell the story of how the two communities deal with one of nature's most common dangers.
