Bluetooth Remote Control for Arduino Using Android Herb Norbom, 2019-03-08 This book is for the intermediate to advanced Arduino user. The reader will learn how to develop Arduino applications for the Uno and Nano that drive robots using an Android device. The remote control will use Bluetooth for communications. The Android software application is developed using the MIT App Inventor software. The MIT App Inventor is also under development for the iOS. It may become available soon. One project will use continuous rotation micro servos and the Nano. The second project will use the Uno and geared DC motors. The second project also contains a micro servo for rotating the Ultra-Sonic Sensor. Both projects will use HC-06 Bluetooth devices, the HC-05 will also work with possible minor wiring changes. With the Arduino the software developed is the same for the Uno and Nano, minor changes for uploading occur. The reader can substitute Arduino devices as desired. Possible wiring changes may be necessary depending on the device. The projects were developed on a Windows 10 PC and a Samsung Galaxy smartphone. While not tested the projects will probably work on Linux and OS platforms with some changes. The MIT App Inventor software is free and must be downloaded to your PC. Applications developed are stored in the cloud. A Google account is required, if you use Google mail you already have the account. The book does not go into details on the MIT App Inventor use. We recommend that the reader go through some of the excellent tutorials on-line. The book does provide complete screen shots of the MIT App Inventor Designer and Blocks used. The MIT app is very intuitive and quite powerful. This app greatly simplifies the development of Android applications. This book includes the printed source code and wiring diagrams for the projects. The electronic or digitized source code is available to download for an additional fee for a limited time. While not covered in this book one can easily see the development of many applications for smartphones and tablets.

Digital Entertainment Superguide, Audio and video content is all around us. And these days much of it comes not from TV cables, satellite dishes, and radio antennas, but from our digital devices around the house, streaming over the Internet and local networks. And that's why we created the Digital Entertainment Superguide, a primer with everything you need to know to get started. This book walks you through how to set up your home network and choose the right hardware—set-top boxes, smart TVs, media center computers, streaming speakers, remote controls, and more—for your needs. Like to watch TV shows and movies but not sure where to find what? We've got you covered with a guide to streaming video sources for your TV or mobile devices. We don't leave music lovers out either, as we help you choose the best streaming audio service. Do you want Mog, Rdio, Rhapsody, Slacker, or Spotify? How much does each service cost? Which sounds best? We answer all those questions and more in the pages that follow. Finally, if you're wondering how to move audio and video around the house—stream music wirelessly from an iPhone to an AirPlay speaker in the living room or send video from a computer to your beautiful wall-mounted HDTV—you've come to the right place. We'll even show you how to use your smartphone or tablet to control it all. So read on, and let the fun begin!

Time-Sensitive Remote Sensing Christopher D. Lippitt, Douglas A. Stow, Lloyd L. Coulter, 2015-06-02 This book documents the state of the art in the use of remote sensing to address time-sensitive information requirements. Specifically, it brings together a group of authors who are both researchers and practitioners, who work toward or are currently using remote sensing to address time-sensitive information requirements with the goal of advancing the effective use of remote sensing to supply time-sensitive information. The book addresses the theoretical implications of time-sensitivity on the remote sensing process, assessments or descriptions of methods for expediting the delivery and improving the quality of information derived from remote sensing, and describes and analyzes time-sensitive remote sensing applications, with an emphasis on lessons learned. This book is intended for remote sensing scientists, practitioners (e.g., emergency responders or administrators of emergency response agencies), and students, but will also be of use to those seeking to understand the potential of remote sensing to address a range of pressing issues, particularly natural and anthropogenic hazard response.
