So You Want to Talk About Race Ijeoma Oluo, 2019-09-24 In this #1 New York Times bestseller, Ijeoma Oluo offers a revelatory examination of race in America. Protests against racial injustice and white supremacy have galvanized millions around the world. The stakes for transformative conversations about race could not be higher. Still, the task ahead seems daunting, and it's hard to know where to start. How do you tell your boss her jokes are racist? Why did your sister-in-law hang up on you when you had questions about police reform? How do you explain white privilege to your white, privileged friend? In So You Want to Talk About Race, Ijeoma Oluo guides readers of all races through subjects ranging from police brutality and cultural appropriation to the model minority myth in an attempt to make the seemingly impossible possible: honest conversations about race, and about how racism infects every aspect of American life. Simply put: Ijeoma Oluo is a necessary voice and intellectual for these times, and any time, truth be told. —Phoebe Robinson, New York Times bestselling author of You Can't Touch My Hair

Beyond the Campus Debra Harkins, 2013-04-01 This book explores how we approached the issue of community development in the context of competing interests and a differential power imbalance. We used a process-based model for supporting community transformation, a phenomenon in which university–community partnership is but one example. The people who most will want to read and use Beyond the Campus are faculty (e.g., executive coaches and consultants), staff, and action-focused researchers seeking to learn how to enhance their relationships with community leaders (e.g., principals, executive/program directors, teachers and parents) in urban educational settings.

Amazeland Delphine, 2013-09-19 AMAZELAND is a story book which would help children appreciate and value the existence of variance in the world. The book uses images to recount the conversation of four different characters who are meant to go for a race with lace less snickers and end up in a discussion about the beauty in having different people, different nations, different leaf types, different seasons, and different shades of colour. After a read, one is sure to understand that difference is good, and children are sure to know the different seasons, colours, simple leaf types, and the flags of different to which they may belong. We may be different, but our strive is to belong.

Substance Abuse Counseling Judith Lewis, Robert Dana, Gregory Blevins, 2014-03-11 SUBSTANCE ABUSE COUNSELING, Fifth Edition, is at the cutting edge of the addiction field, combining a focus on the most current empirical studies with a firm belief that clients must be treated with a collaborative and respectful approach. These core values lay the basis for individualized treatment planning, attention to the client's social environment, a multicultural perspective, and a recognition that client advocacy is part of the counselor's role. Authors Lewis, Dana, and Blevins believe strongly that clients differ not only in the specific behaviors and consequences associated with their drug use but also in culture, gender, social environments, physical concerns, mental health, and a host of other variables. Using an integrated approach, the authors describe innovative methods for meeting clients' needs through personalized assessment, treatment planning, and behavior change strategies, showing students how to select the most effective treatment modalities for each client. Updated with new references, this edition features a stronger emphasis on motivational interviewing, expanded material on ethical considerations, coverage of cultural and diversity considerations in every chapter, and digital downloads of key forms that appear throughout the text. Important Notice: Media content referenced within the product description or the product text may not be available in the ebook version.

Chip-Talk : Electronic H0bby Projects ,2009-11-01 This book (Part 1, in particular) is aimed at budding hobbyists and freshers who desire to step into the fascinating world of electronics, but have little electronics' background. It will impart them necessary knowledge in electronics fundamentals, wiring/assembly of circuits on a breadboard/stripboard etc. and their testing. Even the experienced professionals, who have not kept themselves abreast with the changing technology, will also have something to gain from it. Part 2 of the book, provides complete details of over 40 interesting projects (from elementary to fairly advanced level), which have been duly tested by the EFY Lab. These projects have been picked up out of a list of nearly a thousand ircuits that have appeared in EFY magazine over the past decade or so. Additional material has been added to aid understanding of the basic chips (ICs) used in these circuits, with a view to enable their proper assembly and testing.
