Romey's Place James Calvin Schaap,2007-09-01 What's it like having an old man who's a saint? The question came from the depths of Romey Guttner's troubled soul. It was as honest as the hot sun that beat down on him and his best friend, Lowell, as they picked beans that unforgettable summer in the late fifties. They were just boys, one the son of the town's pillar of faith and one the neglected child of a man whose anger spilled onto everyone in his path. Despite their disparate upbringings, Romey and Lowell were like brothers, inseparable in their pursuit of adventure. But events were brewing that would force them to confront the reality of their differences for the first time. With perceptiveness and style, James Calvin Schaap renders a coming-of-age tale about friendship, fathers and sons, and, most of all, the grace that saves us from the darkest places.

The Ed Letters Edwin Ashley,Cliff Ashley,Diane deManbey Duebber,2001 Born in 1909 and 1913 respectively in a little town called Marion, on the south coast of Massachusetts, brothers Ed and Cliff Ashley shared a childhood filled with simple country adventures and colorful characters, from old whalers who boasted of gigantic harpoons, to Civil War veterans who told magnificent stories of glory on the battlefield.Remarkably, the Ashleys' cherished memories have been preserved in the letters that Cliff, who moved to Maine as a young man, wrote to his brother Ed over the course of 60 years. Cliff wrote of the scrapes they'd gotten into as kids, the games they'd played, the townsfolk they'd known, and the sleepy little town they called home. Ed read and saved each of those letters, and when his failing eyesight prevented him from reading the ones he continued to receive, a caregiver read them to him. After hearing each new treasure, he'd put it in a box in his closet with the others. Realizing the value of those stored memories, the caregiver compiled Cliff's letters in a book, putting Ed's memories to writing in the form of replies.Here, then, is the result...a wonderful collection of letters, filled with quaint stories and a colorful cast of small-town characters, reminiscent of television's Andy Griffith Show. Readers will enjoy stories about Mr. Midnight, the mysterious traveling salesman...ornery Bessie Nelson and her cats...Mr. Whitmarsh and his boney old horse, Gracie...Neal Potter, who hornswoggled the grocer with a bottle-return scheme...and many other delightfully funny characters.

In The Rancher takes his Love at First Sight, you'll deduce if an Army Ranger war games strategist and an environmental scientist bent on saving the planet fall in love at first sight? In The Rancher takes his Last Chance at Love, a military hostage negotiator is willing to pay any ransom to win back the woman who hijacked his heart. Grab these three light-hearted, sweet romances of convenient arrangements that unfold into lasting love.

The Rancher takes his Love at First Sight Shanae Johnson,2020-09-22 Hypothetically speaking, can an Army Ranger war games strategist and an environmental scientist bent on saving the planet fall in love at first sight? Romey Capulano knows that marrying Jordan Spinelli is the most logical, expedient, and practical way to save the farm commune she's lived on her whole life. But when the pragmatic-minded, hydroponic gardener says I do, she's surprised to find her heart speeding up when he makes his vows, her hands tingling when he slides the diamond on her finger, and her breath quickening as he leans in for the kiss. Succumbing to the notion of love was not a part of her plan, and she's sure it will ruin the platonic relationship that she and the genius Army Ranger have planned out for themselves. Jordan Spinelli is certain he's coming down with something the day of his arranged marriage to Romey. Why else would his blood run hot, his palms sweat, and his heart keep skipping beats? Better he catch an illness than feelings for the level-headed soil scientist. Because falling in love was not a part of their carefully constructed, peer-researched marital agreement. As the two try to navigate a loveless marriage, unknown forces keep pushing them into each other's arms. Divine acts keep pushing their lips within kissing range. Unspoken desires keep causing their hearts to face the inexplicable truth; the unquantifiable math that all adds up to the obvious. But will Jordan and Romey be able to admit to themselves, and each other, that their platonic vows are a shame because they just might have fallen in love at first sight?
