SAN Multiprotocol Routing: An Introduction and Implementation Jon Tate, Steve Fodor, Jure Arzensek, IBM Redbooks, 2006-11-09 This IBM Redbooks publication supersedes both: IBM TotalStorage: Introduction to SAN Routing, SG24-7119-00 Implementing the IBM TotalStorage Multiprotocol Routers, SG24-7246-00 The rapid spread and adoption of production storage area networks (SANs) has fuelled the need for multiprotocol routers. The routers provide improved scalability, security, and manageability by enabling devices in separate SAN fabrics to communicate without merging fabrics into a single, large SAN fabric. This capability enables clients to initially deploy separate SAN solutions at the departmental and data center levels. Then, clients can consolidate these separate solutions into large enterprise SAN solutions as their experience and requirements grow and change. Alternatively, multiprotocol routers can help to connect existing enterprise SANs for a variety of reasons. For instance, the introduction of Small Computer System Interface over IP (iSCSI) provides for the connection of low-end, low-cost hosts to enterprise SANs. The use of an Internet Protocol (IP) in the Fibre Channel (FC) environment provides for resource consolidation and disaster recovery planning over long distances. And the use of FC-FC routing services provides connectivity between two or more fabrics without having to merge them into a single SAN. This book targets storage network administrators, system designers, architects, and IT professionals who sell, design, or administer SANs. It introduces you to the products, concepts, and technology in the IBM System Storage SAN Routing portfolio. This book shows the features of each product and examples of how you can deploy and use them.

Security Issues in Router Ashok Koujalagi,2014-07-03 Hacking is becoming rampant on the Router. Huge number of attacks have recorded over Router. Router security is a critical element in any security deployment. Routers are definite targets for network attackers. If an attacker can compromise and access a router, it can be a potential aid to them. Routers fulfill the following roles: Advertise networks and filter who can use them. Provide access to network segments and sub networks. Routers are Targets Because routers provide gateways to other networks,they are obvious targets, and are subject to a variety of attacks. Compromising the access control can expose network configuration details, thereby facilitating attacks against other network components. Compromising the route tables can reduce performance, deny network communication services, and expose sensitive data. Misconfiguring a router traffic filter can expose internal network components to scans and attacks, making it easier for attackers to avoid detection. In his Thesis we will discuss the security problem on the Router by attacking the Router.
