His Early Work Matteo Scopa, 2010-04-15 First time short-storyist and fictional-essayist Matteo Scopa brings you this raucous collection of twenty-two timeless short stories and fictional essays, running the literary gamut from intentionally comedic and intentionally dramatic, all the way down to unintentionally comedic and unintentionally dramatic--and also there's one murder mystery in there, too. Whether you're looking to try something new; interested in a relatively inexpensive source of kindling; morbidly psychotic; helplessly Fox News-dependent; a despondent former police officer; all of the above or just a good old-fashioned fan of structured words, this collection is sure to possibly delight! Hey there Johnny, why don't you just set that illicit smoking implement down for a second or two. Okay, now go ahead and use those newly-freed fingers to hold this book toward your face. You got it? Alright, now look down at the different pages with your eyes--preferably in the designated sequence--and try to go ahead and continuously interpret all those Latin symbols, with the occasional assistance of your cavity-riddled occipital lobe, and the decaying frontal portion of your lost-cause neocortex. Throw in a little cerebellum, and you probably won't be disappointed, maybe! Per the requirements of logic, there's an even chance you'll either love, hate or find yourself completely indifferent to His Early Work--so don't delay, read it today! Or tomorrow, please.

Both Sides of the Fire Line Bobbie Scopa, 2022-09-06 Bobbie Scopa spent close to five decades working through nearly every challenge a firefighter can face. Scopa was a strike team leader for the Dude Fire in 1990, where six firefighters were tragically killed, and she served at Ground Zero immediately after 9/11. She's worked mountain rescues, city fires, mega-wildfires, and everything in between. While battling conditions and harsh flames on the outside, she also found herself waging a tougher battle on the inside. Scopa was torn between how to maintain the façade everyone expected of her and whether to live as her true self. A hero firefighter can't possibly be transgender, right? she thought. Both Sides of the Fire Line is Bobbie Scopa's uplifting memoir of bravely facing the heat of fierce challenges, professionally and personally.

African Parliaments M. Salih,2005-12-10 This book offers in-depth analysis of parliamentary development set in a historical context informed by Africa's post-1990s democratic resurgence. In particular, it illustrates how African parliaments are caught between the twin processes of being part of the machinery of government while exercising the function of holding government accountable.

Neuroscience in Africa Nilesh B. Patel,Vivienne A. Russell,Nouria Lakhdar-Ghazal,2019-06-28 This Research Topic covers some of the latest research on brain and behavior in health and disease in Africa. With its untapped resources and unique situations, “Neuroscience in Africa” has the potential to contribute to a better understanding of human brain function both in health and disease. The diverse African fauna display a range of specializations in brain structure/function relationships as a result of adaptations to the environment. Exploration of these may lead to insights into coping strategies which could be extrapolated to humans. Africa’s unique flora is being investigated for anti-inflammatory, antinociceptive, antioxidant, antiepileptogenic and neuroprotective properties to determine its potential for use in the treatment of human brain disorders. There is also research on neurodegenerative and infectious diseases, not only common to the global world, but also neglected tropical diseases and conditions which provide unique avenues of investigations in basic and translational neuroscience on highly debilitating disorders - and on the effects of pathogens and environmental toxins.

The Zuma Years Richard Calland, 2013-08-16 The face of power in South Africa is rapidly changing – for better and for worse. The years since Thabo Mbeki was swept aside by Jacob Zuma’s ‘coalition of the wounded’ have been especially tumultuous, with the rise and fall of populist politicians such as Julius Malema, the terrible events at Marikana, and the embarrassing Guptagate scandal. What lies behind these developments? How does the Zuma presidency exercise its power? Who makes our foreign policy? What goes on in cabinet meetings? What is the state of play in the Alliance – is the SACP really more powerful than before? And, as the landscape shifts, what are the opposition’s prospects? In The Zuma Years, Richard Calland attempts to answer these questions, and more, by holding up a mirror to the new establishment; by exploring how people such as Malema, Chief Justice Mogoeng Mogoeng and DA parliamentary leader Lindiwe Mazibuko have risen so fast; by examining key drivers of transformation in South Africa, such as the professions and the universities; and by training a spotlight on the toxic mix of money and politics. The Zuma Years is a fly-on-the-wall, insider’s approach to the people who control the power that affects us all. It takes you along the corridors of government and corporate power, mixing solid research with vivid anecdote and interviews with key players. The result is an accessible yet authoritative account of who runs South Africa, and how, today.

The Arms Deal In Your Pocket Paul Holden, 2012-03-02 The Arms Deal’s taint of corruption has hovered spectre-like over South African politics since 1999, when Patricia de Lille’s revelations first hit Parliament. In the foreword to The Arms Deal in Your Pocket, former ANC MP Andrew Feinstein describes the Arms Deal as ‘the moment at which the ANC and the South African government lost their moral compass'. Paul Holden's succinct, informative and devastating handbook tells the story in the simplest way possible, providing a guide to what was bought (and why), who was involved and what was covered up. The chapters are ordered chronologically to allow the reader to follow the story as it unfolded on the ground, and each chapter includes an info box and short timeline of the key dates to remember. Paul Holden is a freelance writer, researcher and historian, and the co-author (with Hennie van Vuuren) of The Devil in the Detail: How the Arms Deal Changed Everything.
