Cost Benefit Analysis of Traffic Light & Speed Cameras Andrew Hooke,Jim Knox,David Portas,1996

The Singapore and Straits Directory ,1918

Use of Speed and Red-light Cameras for Traffic Enforcement Great Britain: Department for Transport,Great Britain: Department for Transport Staff,2007-01-31 Safety cameras are an important part of an integrated road safety strategy, providing a cost-effective method of preventing, detecting and enforcing speed and traffic light offences, and encouraging safer driver behaviour. From April 2007, local authorities, the police and local partners will have greater freedom and flexibility to implement locally agreed road safety measures to reduce road casualties in their area, and this will include greater local accountability for the future deployment and operation of safety cameras. This Circular provides guidance and best practice advice on the deployment of speed and red-light cameras applicable in these circumstances after 1st April 2007. It supersedes Circular Roads 01/92 (Use of technology for traffic enforcement: guidance on deployment), Circular Roads 01/95 (Traffic signal and speed camera signing) and the Handbook for Rules and Guidance for the National Safety Camera Programme for England and Wales 2006/07, which are now cancelled.

The Fast and The Furious: Drivers, Speed Cameras and Control in a Risk Society Helen Wells,2022-03-26 The Fast and The Furious: Drivers, Speed Cameras and Control in a Risk Society presents a sociological and criminological perspective critical to understanding the driver's role at the centre of road safety interventions. Such an approach is, it is argued, as crucial to an understanding of attempts to reduce road crashes, deaths and injuries as approaching such questions from an engineering or educational perspective. The book offers an explanation for the continued debate about one road safety intervention - the speed camera - by situating that debate within contemporary literature about the 'risk society' (Beck, 1992) and more broadly understood experiences of risk faced on a daily basis by drivers. Rather than a focus on risk as something that can be objectively assessed, measured and managed separately from the social context in which it is encountered, it suggests that 'risk' is something that permeates this particular debate from every angle. The book achieves its aims by utilising sociological and criminological perspectives to investigate issues such as: - the social context in which it is possible for drivers to reject official scientific expertise about crash causation and camera effectiveness - the self-defined 'respectability' of the population being problematised and its juxtaposition with a 'proper' police focus on 'real criminals' - the reconceptualisation of law-breaking as risk-taking rather than inherently 'wrong' behaviour and its consequences for the enforcement of laws based on risk assessment - the experience of being controlled by technology and of receiving what is essentially 'automated justice'. These and other issues are explored and suggested as illuminating of both the real concerns underpinning this debate and potentially instructive for future attempts to control risky behaviour both within and beyond a road safety context.
