Good Writing for Journalists Angela Phillips,2006-12-28 'The ultimate book on the creative skills of journalism' - Writing Magazine 'Useful and timely... it is refreshing to discover a book so overtly designed to inspire students to think about what can make writing good - or even great.' - Media International Australia This is a book about the art of writing for newspapers and magazine, but doesn't look at punctuation, spelling and the stylistic conventions of 'everyday' journalism. Instead,

Good Writing For Journalists presents extended examples of writing which are powerful, memorable, colourful or funny. Each piece will be contextualised and analysed encouraging readers to learn from the best practitioners. This book will inspire those who want to make their writing individual and memorable. Along the way the major elements of non-fiction writing will be introduced, in chapters organised by genre - profile writing, reportage, news analysis, investigation, sports writing, personal and opinion columns and 'lifestyle' among them. Phillip's book sees itself as a natural successor to Wolfe & Johnson's seminal The New Journalism (1975). By adopting a larger sweeping and tailoring itself for the contemporary journalistic arena, this book will be an essential purchase for the discerning journalist and journalism student.

Online Shopping List A. L. Peries,2016-06-07 You know how these days you can spend literally hours browsing, researching and shopping on-line from so many different websites? You want something so you buy it? When it arrives unless it's clearly marked you cannot remember where it came from? You might cancel the item or replace it? You forget all about it again? Finally, when need to refer back to the item quickly to chase it you struggle to remember which site it was from! Or the date because you never kept track of it alongside other orders, especially in one single place - it can be so frustrating? This shopping list notebook solves the problem and enables you to physically keep track of your items in one place and you can easily refer back to the date or order details, for example if you need to email or speak to someone you write the details in this book. Furthermore, you have a physical log to look back on to see what you spent, perhaps gifts for people, unlike using a mobile phone application whereby it is not quite suitable for you and the data could get lost. With this beautifully decorated 8 x 10, blank, lined journal, you can record up to 60 orders with date, open, cancelled, returned or replacement orders, order reference and what website you used plus space for notes, thoughts, doodles and sketches.

Oceanography P.G. Brewer, 2012-12-06 Oceanography: The Present and Future is the proceedings of a symposium held at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Woods Hole, Massachusetts, on September 29-October 2, 1980 on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Institution. The symposium was immediately preceded by the Third International Congress on the History of Oceanography, also held at Woods Hole, and the proceedings of that Congress, Oceanography: The Past, also published by Springer-Verlag, forms a companion volume to this book. The editorial responsibilities were handled by Ms. Kate Eldred, who worked extraordinarily hard on this volume, while the scientific editing was performed by Dr. Peter G. Brewer. The organizing committee of scientists charged with responsibility for the symposium was: Dr. Peter G. Brewer, chemistry; Dr. Arthur E. Maxwell, geology and geophysics; Dr. Robert W. Morse, marine policy; Dr. David A. Ross, marine policy and marine geology; Dr. Peter B. Rhines, physical oceanography; Dr. John A. Teal, marine biology; and Dr. Robert Spindel, ocean engineering. They were faced at the outset with the problem that science proceeds with intense effort and competition within a disciplinary peer group but that, particularly in ocean science, the results of this work often have completely unforeseen and important consequences in a totally unrelated area.
