Alfred Wills

Car Rental in the U.S.A. ,1970

The John Hancock Center ,2000 Architectural photographer Ezra Stoller provides a unique record of the building both during its construction and after its completion. His photographs of workmen casually moving about the nascent structure recall Lewis Hine's classic portraits of the Empire State Building and provide a stark contrast to his images of the finished project, with its luxurious apartments and commercial spaces. An introduction by Yasmin Sabina Khan, the daughter of the building's celebrated engineer, provides a behind-the-scenes account of the design, construction, and reception of this landmark of modern architecture and engineering.--BOOK JACKET.Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. What she doesn't remember is how she came to be trapped in this cycle of reincarnation. Every year in every life, she prepares for her possible death, but this life is different from the others. She loves her family and her native New Orleans and longs for a future with her girlfriend. Determined to break her curse, Phoenix stumbles down an oddly familiar path back to the only life she doesn't remember, where her immortal soul lived in an immortal body. Even as bloodless corpses pile in her beloved city, Phoenix still hopes to escape her destiny. But her seemingly endless time is running out and she must either embrace what she was always meant to be or let humanity meet a brutal fate. The future of mortals and immortals alike lies in her choice.
