Learner Corpora in Language Testing and Assessment Marcus Callies, Sandra Götz, 2015-04-15 The aim of this volume is to highlight the benefits and potential of using learner corpora for the testing and assessment of L2 proficiency in both speaking and writing, reflecting the growing importance of learner corpora in applied linguistics and second language acquisition research. Identifying several desiderata for future research and practice, the volume presents a selection of original studies, covering a variety of different languages. It features studies that present very thoroughly compiled new corpus resources which are tailor-made and ready for analysis in LTA, new tools for the automatic assessment of proficiency levels, and new methods of (self-)assessment with the help of learner corpora. Other studies suggest innovative research methodologies of how proficiency can be operationalized through learner corpus data. The volume is of particular interest to researchers in (applied) corpus linguistics, learner corpus research, language testing and assessment, as well as for materials developers and language teachers.

Letters to the Editor Daniel B. Jeffs, 2005-05-01 Letters to the Editor: From the Trenches of Democracy is a unique account of the author's 10-year labor at one of the purest forms of free speech: writing letters to the editor regarding his concerns about the present and our future. The author shares his personal history, which led to his success in having letters published in his local and regional newspapers and what he calls the grand slam of major print news media: The New York Times, The Washington Post, the Los Angeles Times, TIME magazine and USA TODAY. The book contains helpful tips on writing letters and 165 of the author's published letters commenting on major news events and issues over the past decade, including a perspective on the September 11, 2001, attack on America, the war against terrorism and the 2004 presidential election. As the author says, I cannot leave my country, my state, my community and my family with anything less.
