New-and-Improved High-Tech Products Anirudh Dhebar, 2017-11-28 Excerpt from New-and-Improved High-Tech Products: Speeding Producer, Meet the Balking Consumer I purchased my first car (a Honda Civic) and my first personal computer (an IBM PC at) at about the same time (the mid-1980s) and for about the same price the price of the computer was inclusive of a monitor and a printer). Both products were what economists call durable goods; both were used in larger systems consisting of the user, complementary products, and infrastructure; both required mastering complex user interfaces and protocols; and in both cases the manufacturers followed up the initial models with a sequence of new-and-improved versions. My experiences owning and replacing the two were, however, very dissimilar. An annual stream of new-and-improved Civics notwithstanding, I used my car for eleven years, for the most part with satisfaction, and easily disposed it off for just under a third of the original purchase price. As basic transportation goes, the new car I purchased as a replacement was not much more superior, but it was much more expensive and, given the rate at which car prices were rising, I was glad I replaced my car when I did and not later. Mr. Gadget (R) Consumer Tech Guide - Volume One: Electronics, Gadgetry & Technology: The One and Only Mr. Gadget Reveals What to Buy and Why to Buy Steve Kruschen, 2012-05-01 Are you confused about consumer electronics, gadgetry and technology? Steve Kruschen, the one and only Mr. Gadget, reveals what to buy and why to buy it in The Mr. Gadget(r) Consumer Tech Guide. Before you buy a computer, phone, printer, radio, television, vacuum cleaner, kitchen knives or dozens of other gadgets, save time and money by checking out the recommendations in this handy guide from America's foremost consumer technology commentator - Steve Kruschen, the guy who tries it before you buy it! For more than three decades, Steve has been testing, demonstrating and reporting on consumer electronics, gadgets and new technology. He checks out products in a real-world, hands-on environment - just the way the average consumer would. As Mr. Gadget, Steve helps consumers make intelligent buying decisions by providing radio, TV and Internet audiences with his trusted evaluations of the latest and greatest. Thanks to his numerous radio and TV appearances, including Fox & Friends (FOX), The Early Show (CBS), Early Today (NBC), Power Lunch (CNBC), plus appearances on CNN, The Weather Channel and dozens of news shows in major cities, consumers rely upon the expert advice of Mr. Gadget. When he is not appearing on television, Steve is speaking to corporate and trade association audiences on how to improve productivity with personal technology. Steve lives in Southern California with his wife, The Long Suffering Mrs. Gadget (and their three children - when they visit). Batteries not include

Mobile Tech Report 2014 John R. Roberts,2014-01-10 If you read technology news, you'll notice it's not just a story of amazing new product introductions, or even that plus copycat product introductions. All the usual aspects of business are there: fierce competition, new contenders, old survivors, great ideas but business failures, mediocre ideas that somehow seem to succeed and prosper. As a reporter, commentator and blogger on mobile technology, I've collected what happened in the industry in 2013 and make predictions on what will and won't happen in 2014. You can read what did happen in the mobile technology in 2013. Often I deliver a comment with the news item and usually there is a link to the web page of the original announcement. This way you can dive into any detail level you desire, read my news feed for the overview or follow the related web link to the longer article. History is moving so fast now that it is all recorded electronically, but I'm surprised no one else has collected it and presented it for consideration. Here is 2013 from the mobile technology industry for your consideration along with my own observations and opinions about where things are headed. It's often overlooked that the technology industry is an industry. By that I mean its main concerns are profit and growth. As consumers we love the new products and unique abilities we are gaining from technology, but it is a business akin to any other, trying to seduce us to pry money out of our wallets. So I cover the horse race aspect of the business, who's up, who's down. Is that changing? Is that likely to change? The longer implications of what the technology industry is doing are vast and social. We are moving to an always on, always connected society where we can communicate with someone instantly and find an answer to any question quickly. The entire database of human knowledge is now available in the palm of your hand whenever you desire it. Everything is there, the good, the bad, right and wrong, hate and love, music and noise. We are obsessed with technology, not in and of itself, but as a means to an end. Technology is the means to satisfy our curiosity or even our desire for self-expression. We are taking photos machine gun-style with our smartphones and choose the few to share. As humans we are gathering ever more data about ourselves and sharing more about ourselves than we probably thought possible. Bill Gates was once asked why the computer industry had generated so much improvement in its products over a relatively few years. He gave some boring answer about Moore's Law, but the real answer is that computers are in their teenage years. They are growing and growing. They will not always do so. So too the technology industry is in a state of rapid change. I see the shift to smaller devices as a new paradigm, smashing some businesses and growing others into giants. Their stories are here in the news. In short here are predictions for what won't and will happen in 2014 for the mobile technology industry, breakdowns of marketshare figures on the horse race aspect of the business, chapters on Apple, Samsung, Google, Microsoft, Nokia, Blackberry, Amazon, Yahoo, news about social media giants Facebook, Twitter, Google+, LinkedIn, Foursquare, SnapChat and the carriers themselves Verizon, AT&T, Sprint and T-Mobile. You can also review my 2013 mobile predictions and see my track record on predictions. Finally there are some essays on how all this mobile tech is figuring into our lives. I've divided the news into the subjects it covers, but also put in the appendix all the news as it came out in chronological ordering. You can read the firehose of events in the appendix, or just read about one topic at a time in the earlier chapters. Table of Contents Preface Introduction Chapter 1: 2014 Predictions Chapter 2: Mobile Marketshare Chapter 3: Apple Chapter 4: Samsung Chapter 5: Google Chapter 6: Microsoft Chapter 7: Nokia Chapter 8: Blackberry Chapter 9: Amazon Chapter 10:

Careers for Tech Girls in Software Engineering Sarah Rose Dahnke,2018-07-15 As apps, online shopping, and automated services expand in scope, software engineering, the development, operation, and maintenance of software, is a career growing in scope and salary. While software development may initially evoke images of a high-tech computer lab, in reality, software engineering is a growing part of many industries, and the workplaces and those working in them are equally diverse. This book provides a young women's guide to breaking her way into a traditionally male-dominated industry. Chapters cover the industry at large, possible career paths, and the preparation tech girls can undertake in middle school, high school, and college to lay the foundations for engineering. With a special focus on women in STEM, this volume also addresses the job hunt and the unique difficulties women may face in the workplace, such as pay disparity or derogatory remarks and behavior, and gives readers tools to confront and report such unacceptable practices.
