Bruce Weber, Mark Tupper

Worthy of the Jersey Norm Weber, Eric Flannery, Don Showalter, 2014-11-01 The St. Edward High School basketball program, its Coach Eric Flannery, its history under Flannery, Coach Flannery's philosophy and the school's 2014 state championship season.

Bruce Weber Bruce Weber, Mark Tupper, 2005 Millions of fans watched the memorable University of Illinois basketball team put the stamp of unselfishness on the 2004-05 college basketball season. It was a team that equaled the NCAA's all-time record of 37 victories while spending 15 weeks as the No. 1-ranked team in America. Fourteen players and a five-man coaching staff helped make it happen. But just one person ? head coach Bruce Weber ? sat in the cockpit while this amazing Illini team took its fans on an unforgettable jet ride. This is his story, from Bruce Weber's unique viewpoint, of the two-year process by which he helped transform a group of discouraged, disjointed basketball players into a family linked by a love for each other and a willingness to place team goals ahead of individual accomplishment. It's also the story of Weber's own emotional journey, one in which he had to sell himself to players and fans alike, one that forced him to deal with serious internal issues, and his own personal tragedy.

Gene Keady Gene Keady, 2005 Respected for getting the most from his hard-working players, Gene Keady possesses a fiercely competitive drive which he learned from his father, Lloyd, while growing up in Larned, Kan. For the past 25 seasons, Keady's Purdue Boilermakers were among the Big Ten Conference's most difficult opponents, winning 512 of 772 games, including six Big Ten championships and a pair of trips to the NCAA tournament's Elite Eight. While many know Keady for his fiery sideline demeanor and classic fist pump in a moment of athletic passion, this former national coach of the year has a softer side, which includes an honest respect for the media and a terrific sense of humor. Within the pages of The Truth and Nothing But the Truth, the recently retired Purdue coach talks about everything from his relationship with Texas Tech coach Bob Knight, who was Keady's rival for 20 seasons at Indiana, to how the Boilermakers were able to successfully recruit 1994 National Player of the Year Glenn Robinson out of Gary Roosevelt High School in Lake County, Ind. Keady, 68, explains details how his father? a boxer turned wholesale florist? instilled a deep-seeded love for athletics, which Keady parlayed into a successful playing career at Larned High School, Garden City (Kan.) Junior College and then Kansas State University. Keady was signed by the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers in the summer of 1958, but a knee injury cut his pro football career short. He returned to Kansas, accepting a teaching/coaching position at Beloit High School, where basketball? not football? was the only coaching post available. The rest is history. In April, 1980, Keady accepted then-Purdue athletic director George King's offer to replace Lee Rose, who left West Lafayette for a South Florida job. Keady rolled up his sleeves and put Purdue on the college basketball map in a state where Bob Knight and the Indiana Hoosiers were the high-profile targets. It took Keady only four seasons to win his first Big Ten title. From there, he became one of college basketball's icons, while never losing the common touch he learned from his hardworking father in western Kansas.

Southern Illinois University at 150 Years John S. Jackson, 2019 Although Southern Illinois University in many ways may be a typical large public university, its unique location, history, and culture make it a distinct institution of higher education. This book is designed to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the university's founding by documenting its history and development from 1969 to 2019--

Super Sports Star Chris Webber Stew Thornley, 2002 Follows the life and basketball career of Chris Webber and his association with the Sacramento Kings of the NBA.

Tainted Glory B. David Ridpath, 2012 In 1997, Dave Ridpath walked onto the campus of Marshall University as a sports-loving athletic administrator with a career on the rise. Less than five years later, Ridpath's quest to reform one of the most corrupt athletic departments in college sports, while simultaneously standing up to the behemoth governing body that is the NCAA, had all but destroyed that career. While serving as assistant athletic director for compliance and student services at Marshall University from 1997 through 2001, Ridpath unearthed violations of several NCAA rules. These violations included overt academic fraud and impermissible, booster-devised employment for members of the Marshall University football team—a team had taken the nation by storm because of its incredible success on the field. Ridpath now chronicles his experiences through this trying time in Tainted Glory: Marshall University, the NCAA, and One Man's Fight for Justice. Instead of being hailed as a conquering hero determined to clean up an outlaw program, Ridpath had the tables turned on him. He found himself out of a job when Marshall University and the NCAA determined that the path of least resistance would be to remove him rather than address the issues head-on. With this action, they hoped to avoid damaging the university, the athletic department, and the NCAA overall. This story is about more than the NCAA or Marshall University. It is about the state of the business of intercollegiate athletics told by someone on the inside who lived it—the good and the bad.

College Football 2011: The Year of the Scandal Jim Weber, 2012-04-04 ABOUT THE BOOK The college football and men's basketball fan site and former player database, LostLettermen.com, was launched in March 2009 to answer one question: Where Are They Now? Complete with an IMDB-like database of over 150,000 former players detailing their current whereabouts and college accomplishments, Lost Lettermen has expanded to create its own content, such as player interviews with past legends and features and Top 10 lists on both sports. LostLettermen.com receives nearly 900,000 unique visitors a month as of October 2011 and has a content partnership with Yahoo.com, Bleacher Report and AOL Fanhouse, regularly appearing on the home page of the world's fourth-most trafficked web site. Lost Lettermen has also been featured in USA Today, ESPN.com, SI.com, and Mashable.com, as well as dozens of sports talk radio shows around the country, such as ESPN Radio's Doug Gottlieb Show and The Michele Tafoya Show. MEET THE AUTHOR With previous experience at ESPN The Magazine, NBC Sports and CBS Sports, Weber launched Lost Lettermen with one question as his premise: Where Are They Now? Weber oversees the site's business endeavors and content. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and currently resides in New York City. EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK Of course the Penn State scandal had to involve two very well-known institutions of popular culture: Saturday Night Live and Ashton Kutcher. In response to the news that the school's board of trustees fired legendary coach Joe Paterno on Wednesday night, Kutcher tweeted: How do you fire Jo Pa? #insult #noclass as a hawkeye fan I find it in poor taste. The tweet was later deleted, and Kutcher's following tweets read: As an advocate in the fight against child sexual exploitation, I could not be more remorseful for all involved in the Penn St. case. And: As of immediately I will stop tweeting until I find a way to properly manage this feed. I feel awful about this error. Won't happen again. The Hollywood star apparently didn't know about the whole circus in Happy Valley. He was just tweeting as an Iowa fan who respected Paterno without knowledge of the coach's role in the mess. It was an unfortunate tweet -- even if he meant no malice. CHAPTER OUTLINE Introduction + Beyond the Blog: The Lost Lettermen Chapter 1.
