Football Fields and Battlefields Miller Jeff, 2018-10-09 The 2003 Army football team achieved futility in major college play that might never be equaled, losing all 13 of its games. The squad that took the field on a frigid December 2003 day in Philadelphia for the celebrated Army-Navy game featured only eight fourth-year seniors, just a slice of the fifty energetic freshmen—"plebes" in academy vernacular—who reported to West Point amid the heat and humidity of the summer of 2000, hoping to land spots on the football team. For most of the fifty, West Point represented their best—or only—opportunity to play major college football. They were bypassed by the big-time football schools that award athletic scholarships, which aren't available at the nation's military academies. Making a five-year active-duty military commitment following graduation was a small price to pay during peacetime. But peacetime in America ended only days into their second year at the academy, on September 11, 2001. Those eight seniors, like virtually all of their cadet peers, maintained their commitments to the US Army in the wake of 9/11. They worked their way up from West Point's JV football team as freshmen, earned positions on the Black Knights' varsity team as others left the program—voluntarily or otherwise—and walked to the center of the field for the coin toss before that final opportunity for victory, against the arch-rival Midshipmen. The football field then gave way to the battlefield. Most of the eight were deployed overseas, serving at least one tour in either Iraq or Afghanistan. One won the Bronze Star, another the Purple Heart. One qualified for an elite Rangers battalion, another for the 160th special operations aviation Night Stalkers. They took on enemy fire. They grieved at the loss of brothers in arms. They hugged their loved ones tightly upon returning home. There was no more talk of football losses. They were winners.

Trauma Culture E. Ann Kaplan, 2005-07-11 It may be said that every trauma is two traumas or ten thousand—depending on the number of people involved. How one experiences and reacts to an event is unique and depends largely on one's direct or indirect positioning, personal psychic history, and individual memories. But equally important to the experience of trauma are the broader political and cultural contexts within which a catastrophe takes place and how it is managed by institutional forces, including the media. In Trauma Culture, E. Ann Kaplan explores the relationship between the impact of trauma on individuals and on entire cultures and nations. Arguing that humans possess a compelling need to draw meaning from personal experience and to communicate what happens to others, she examines the artistic, literary, and cinematic forms that are often used to bridge the individual and collective experience. A number of case studies, including Sigmund Freud's Moses and Monotheism, Marguerite Duras' La Douleur, Sarah Kofman's Rue Ordener, Rue Labat, Alfred Hitchcock's Spellbound, and Tracey Moffatt's Night Cries, reveal how empathy can be fostered without the sensationalistic element that typifies the media. From World War II to 9/11, this passionate study eloquently navigates the contentious debates surrounding trauma theory and persuasively advocates the responsible sharing and translating of catastrophe.

The Cooing of the Dove and the Cawing of the Crow: Late 'Abbāsid Poetics in Abū al-‘Alā' al-Ma‘arrī's Saqṭ al-Zand and Luzūm Mā Lā Yalzam Stetkevych Suzanne P., 2022-10-24 In The Cooing of the Dove and the Cawing of the Crow Suzanne Pinckney Stetkevych offers original translations, close readings, and new interpretations of selected poems from the two contrasting diwans of the blind Late 'Abbāsid master-poet, Abū al-‘Alā' al-Ma‘arrī (d. 449 H./1057 C.E.). The first is Saqṭ al-Zand (Sparks of the Flint), the highly esteemed collection of qaṣīdah poetry of his youth, which he later disavowed. The second is Luzūm Mā Lā Yalzam (Requiring What Is Not Required), the programmatic double-rhymed collection from his later period of withdrawal and seclusion. She argues that the contrasting 'poetics of engagement' and 'poetics of disengagement' of the two diwans reflect the transition from High Classical to Post Classical aesthetics.

Björn Werner - My American Football Dream Björn Werner, Nils Weber, 2020-12-04 Mit 16 geht Björn Werner aus Berlin in die USA, um an einer High School American Football zu spielen. Wie jeder sportbegeisterte Jugendliche träumt er von einer Profi-Karriere – und schafft es am Ende tatsächlich bis in die weltberühmte National Football League (NFL). Wie sein atemberaubender Aufstieg aus einfachen Verhältnissen in die Weltspitze gelang, welche Hindernisse es zu überwinden galt und was es heißt, auf höchstem Niveau in der größten Liga der Welt zu spielen, davon berichtet er erstmals in diesem Buch. Er erzählt offen und schonungslos, aber auch mit viel Humor, von Triumphen und Tiefschlägen, vom Leben in den USA, dem Glanz und den Schattenseiten der NFL, die vor allem eines ist: ein knallhartes Milliarden-Business. Er schildert, wie er durch Verletzungen gestoppt wurde und mit nur 26 Jahren seine Karriere beenden musste. Heute ist Björn Werner eines der bekanntesten Gesichter des American Football in Deutschland, arbeitet als TV-Experte und internationaler Talentscout. Gemeinsam mit Patrick Esume ist er Host des erfolgreichsten deutschen Sport-Podcasts Football Bromance.

The Phantom Image Patrick R. Crowley, 2019-12-10 Drawing from a rich corpus of art works, including sarcophagi, tomb paintings, and floor mosaics, Patrick R. Crowley investigates how something as insubstantial as a ghost could be made visible through the material grit of stone and paint. In this fresh and wide-ranging study, he uses the figure of the ghost to offer a new understanding of the status of the image in Roman art and visual culture. Tracing the shifting practices and debates in antiquity about the nature of vision and representation, Crowley shows how images of ghosts make visible structures of beholding and strategies of depiction. Yet the figure of the ghost simultaneously contributes to a broader conceptual history that accounts for how modalities of belief emerged and developed in antiquity. Neither illustrations of ancient beliefs in ghosts nor depictions of afterlife, these images show us something about the visual event of seeing itself. The Phantom Image offers essential insight into ancient art, visual culture, and the history of the image.

The Modern Customer – the PHANTOM Livia Rainsberger,2023-02-15 This book shows how companies can - and must - adapt their sales strategies and processes to changing customer expectations in times of digital transformation and markets volatility. How can sales address, win and retain the modern customer, an intangible PHANTOM in the digital space? The digital world is characterized by eagerness, ease and enthusiasm. Nowadays, people have unlimited and instant access to manifold information and thus they believe to be knowledgeable, autonomous and independent. As customers, they actively elude traditional sales and marketing on their way to a buying decision - in B2C and B2B alike. To reach these modern customers, companies must synchronize their sales approaches with their customers' decision-making processes and rethink selling. In this context, the author offers a wealth of suggestions with examples and provocative theses. A stirring and inspiring book for anyone interested in state-of-the-art sales and marketing: sales management and staff or entrepreneurs and start-ups.

Blood on the Snow Jan Bondeson,2014-01-31 The Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme, a major figure in world politics and an ardent opponent of apartheid, was shot dead on the streets of Stockholm in February 1986. At the time of his death, Palme was deeply involved in Middle East diplomacy and was working under UN auspices to end the Iran–Iraq war. Across Scandinavia, Palme's killing had an impact similar to that of the Kennedy assassinations in the United States—and it ignited nearly as many conspiracy theories. Interest in the Palme slaying was most recently stirred by reports of the death of Christer Pettersson, who was tried for the murder twice, convicted the first time, and then acquitted on appeal. In his investigative account of Palme's still-unsolved murder, the historian Jan Bondeson meticulously recreates the assassination and its aftermath. Like the best works of crime fiction, this book puts the victim and his death into social context. Bondeson's work, however, is noteworthy for its dispassionate treatment of police incompetence: the police did not answer a witness's phone call reporting the murder just 45 seconds after it occurred, and further time was lost as the police sought to confirm that someone had actually been shot. When the police arrived on the scene, they did not even recognize the victim as the Prime Minister. This early confusion was emblematic of the errors that were to follow. Bondeson demolishes the various conspiracy theories that have been devised to make sense of the killing, before suggesting a convincing explanation of his own. A brilliant piece of investigative journalism, Blood on the Snow includes crime-scene photographs and reconstructions that have never before been published and offers a gripping narrative of a crime that shocked a continent.

Creative Selection between Emending and Forming Medieval Memory Sebastian Scholz,Gerald Schwedler,2021-11-08 Karl Valentin once asked: How can it be that only as much happens as fits into the newspaper the next day? He focussed on the problem that information of the past has to be organised, arranged and above all: selected and put into form in order to be perceived as a whole. In this sense, the process of selection must be seen as the fundamental moment – the “Urszene” – of making History. This book shows selection as highly creative act. With the richness of early medieval material it can be demonstrated that creative selection was omnipresent and took place even in unexpected text genres. The book demonstrates the variety how premodern authors dealt with unimportant, unpleasant or unwanted past. It provides a general overview for regions and text genres in early medieval Europe.

The Phantom Lover Georg Kaiser,2013-10 Friedrich Carl Georg Kaiser (1878-1945) was a German expressionist dramatist who was one of the most frequently performed playwright in the Weimar Republic and sometimes collaborated with Kurt Weill. Originally titled Oktobertag, this play was performed in New York as The Phantom Lover.

Contrails over the Mojave George J Marrett,2014-07-15 In Contrails over the Mojave George Marrett takes off where Tom Wolfe's The Right Stuff ended in 1963. Marrett started the Air Force Test Pilot School at Edwards AFB only two weeks after the school's commander, Col. Chuck Yeager, ejected from a Lockheed NF-104 trying to set a world altitude record. He describes life as a space cadet experiencing 15 Gs in a human centrifuge, zero-G maneuvers in a KC-135 “Vomit Comet,” and a flight to 80,000 feet in the F-104A Starfighter. After graduating from Yeager's “Charm School,” he was assigned to the Fighter Branch of Flight Test Operations, where he flew the latest fighter aircraft and chased other test aircraft as they set world speed and altitude records. Marrett takes readers into the cockpit as he “goes vertical” in a T-38 Talon, completes high-G maneuvers in an F-4C Phantom, and conducts wet-runway landing tests in the accident-prone F-111A Aardvark. He writes about Col. “Silver Fox” Stephens setting a world speed record in the YF-12 Blackbird and Bob Gilliland testing speed stalls in the SR-71 spy plane, but he also relives stories of crashes that killed test pilot friends. He recounts dead-sticking a T-38 to a landing on Rogers Dry Lake after a twin-engine failure and conducting dangerous tail hook barrier testing in a fighter jet without a canopy. A mysterious UFO sighting in the night sky above the Mojave Desert, known as “The Edwards Encounter,” also receives Marrett's attention. Whether the author is assessing a new aircraft's performance or describing the experiences of test pilots as they routinely faced the possibility of death, this look at the golden age of flight testing both thrills and informs.

Variation Based Dense 3D Reconstruction Sven Painer,2016-03-08 In his master thesis, Sven Painer develops, implements, and evaluates a method to reconstruct the liver surface from monocular mini-laparoscopic sequences. The principal focus of his research is to create a basis for helping clinicians to write reports with quantitative descriptions of the liver surface. A Structure from Motion approach is performed to do a sparse reconstruction of the liver surface and subsequently this information is used in a variation based dense 3D reconstruction. The algorithms are formulated in a causal way, enabling the implementation to be run in real-time on an adequate hardware platform. The results show a significant performance increase and pave the way to give clinicians a feedback during video capturing to improve the quality of the reconstruction in the near future.

Manuscripts and Performances in Religions, Arts, and Sciences Antonella Brita,Janina Karolewski,Matthieu Husson,Laure Miolo,Hanna Wimmer,2023-12-04 Throughout history, manuscripts have been made and used for religious, artistic, and scientific performances, and this practice continues in most cultures today. By focusing on the role manuscripts have in different kinds of performances, this volume contributes to the evolving field of investigating written artefacts and their functions. The collected essays regard manuscripts as points of intersection where textual, material, and performative aspects converge. The contributors analyse manuscripts in their forms and functions as well as their positioning in the performances for which they were made. These aspects unfold across the volume's three sections, examining how manuscripts are (1) used backstage, for preparing and giving instructions for performances; (2) taken onstage, contributing to the enactment of performances; and (3) performers in their own right, producing an effect on the audience. The diversified, interdisciplinary, and innovative methodologies of the included papers carry great potential to expand the traditional approaches of manuscript studies and find application outside the contributors' respective fields.
