A study on youth discipleship formation for Christian identity Jung Hoon Kim,2018 The purposes of the project is to shape youth members' identity in Kansas Woori church as a disciple of Jesus Christ. The training, consisting of 12 sessions, includes not only how to study knowledges about Jesus Christ but also how to live as a certain disciple. To accomplish this goal, the project was designed with lectures, activities and homework to do with their families. Various qualitative and quantitative methods were used for obtaining reliable results. The result from the data showed that there were changes in the participants' Christian identity and growth in understanding their spirituality. Especially there was increased awareness and recognition of Christian life. Therefore, the project has confirmed that youth discipleship through identity education allowed participants to overcome dualistic separation between faith and life.

Preaching on Social Suffering Jeremy Kangsan Kim,2023-03-01 In this book, Jeremy Kim criticizes current Korean and Asian American homiletical strategies for their lack of a theological point of view on social suffering. He argues that preachers must develop an alternative theological-homiletical viewpoint on social suffering, one that has pastoral and prophetic approaches. These two approaches offer people a refuge and a voice, not only in the church community but also in the larger social community. Thus, the author suggests that preachers adopt the biblical lament, highlighting its dual tasks of compassion (the pastoral dimension) and resistance (the prophetic dimension). The author, who is a non-Western Asian American preacher, also incorporates East Asian philosophical and hermeneutical research on ren, a positive element of Confucianism, into his argument. He applies this core concept of Confucianism to the preacher's homiletical strategy toward social suffering. Thus, the author proposes that Korean preachers should recover ren, which contains sincere compassion for others as well as a voice of resistance that reveals unjust social structures as the cause of social suffering and expresses both within Uri (we), the community.

Exploring Apology of Socrates Jae-Hyun Kim,Jong-Jin Woo,Ojoon Kwon,2023-06-14 This book is the result of a group of university professors, church educators, and pastors reading, discussing, and gaining life wisdom from The Apology of Socrates. The authors read several of Plato's books and were deeply impressed by the main character of the book, Socrates. They were fascinated by Socrates and had a great time immersing themselves in the stories that Socrates created. They also shared their concerns about life and the world. The authors hope that this book will be an easy guide for those who are new to the classics, and especially helpful for young people who want to read the classics.

Driven by God Jae-Eun Park, 2018-10-01 For more than two millennia believers have struggled with the antinomy of God's absolute sovereignty over and man's ultimate responsibility in justification and sanctification. Theologians have used some version of the terms »active justification« and »definitive sanctification« in an attempt to illuminate this mystery. However, in the past decade scholars have begun to criticize these concepts, saying that they are unsupported in Scripture, lead to theological confusion, and are of no practical benefit to believers. Through the work of theologians from the broader Dutch Reformed tradition, especially Herman Bavinck, Alexander Comrie, Herman Witsius, and Abraham Kuyper. Jae-Eun Park demonstrates that the terms »active justification« and »definitive sanctification« are derived from Scripture and serve to clarify, not obscure the doctrines of justification and sanctification. In addition, the book shows that neglect, misuse, or misunderstanding of the terms have resulted in contemporary criticisms that are unconvincing and unfounded. Writings of the aforementioned theologians define and expound four characteristics held in common between active justification and definitive sanctification, i.e., inseparability, objectivity and decisiveness, Christ-centeredness, and God's absolute sovereignty – concepts of the mentioned theologians. All four characteristics of active justification and definitive sanctification emphasize the »God-driven« nature of salvation. Jae-Eun Park explains how – when properly defined and presented – the two terms are important theologically, bringing clarity to the issue of the perfect balance between God's sovereignty and human responsibility in salvation. He also shows how active justification and definitive sanctification offers practical assurance of their perseverance unto glory to true believers, and provides pastors with an invaluable tool for exhorting parishioners who may have lapsed into either triumphalism or defeatism.
