The Zionist Ideology Gideon Shimoni, 1995 He then describes the various streams of Zionist thought and how they were transmogrified by events and individuals, and concludes by examining both Zionism's connection with a secular Jewish identity and the nature of the Jewish claim to Eretz Israel.

Postwar Polish Poetry Czesław Miłosz, 1983-07-08 This expanded edition of Postwar Polish Poetry (which was originally published in 1965) presents 125 poems by 25 poets, including Czesław Miłosz and other Polish poets living outside Poland. The stress of the anthology is on poetry written after 1956, the year when the lifting of censorship and the breakdown of doctrines provoked an explosion of new schools and talents. The victory of Solidarity in August 1980 once again opened new vistas for a short time; the coup of December closed that chapter. It is too early yet to predict the impact these events will have on the future of Polish poetry. From Amazon.

The Struggle of Jewish Youth for Productivization Israel Oppenheim, 1989 The volume focuses on the pioneering Zionist youth movement in Poland with special reference to its contribution to the realization of the national and social aims formulated by the Zionist and Socialist Zionist ideologies.

Crime and Punishment Fyodor

Dostoevsky, 2023-04-23 Crime and Punishment, written by Fyodor Dostoevsky, is a monumental work in Russian literature and stands as one of the most significant novels in the psychological fiction genre. As a cornerstone among Dostoevsky's works, this novel explores profound themes of guilt, redemption, and the complex nature of human morality. The novel revolves around Rodion Raskolnikov, a penniless former student living in St. Petersburg, who conceives a theory that certain extraordinary individuals are above moral laws and have the right to commit acts that would otherwise be considered crimes. Driven by this belief, he murders a merciless pawnbroker, setting off a gripping tale of crime, morality, and existential torment. Following the crime, Raskolnikov is plunged into a mental labyrinth of guilt and paranoia. His intellectual justification for the murder clashes with his innate moral compass, causing an internal conflict that is central to the psychological drama of the novel. Dostoevsky's masterful depiction of Raskolnikov's internal turmoil provides a deep insight into the human psyche and the moral dilemmas that can torment it. This exploration of psychological complexity is a defining feature of modern existential literature. Alongside Raskolnikov's narrative, the novel presents an array of vivid characters, each grappling with their struggles and moral dilemmas. These character portraits enrich the novel's theme of moral ambiguity and social criticism, firmly placing the book in the tradition of 19th-century social narratives. The novel's setting in the grim and tumultuous streets of St. Petersburg further adds to the story's intensity, reflecting the characters' inner chaos. The city itself becomes a symbol of Raskolnikov's internal strife, contributing to the novel's status as a work of symbolic realism. Crime and Punishment delves into questions of law, ethics, and the human condition. Dostoevsky's profound exploration of psychological conflict, moral ambiguity, redemption, and the underlying humanity within us all ensures that this novel continues to resonate with readers, scholars, and philosophers alike. Its impact on literature and thought remains unparalleled, making it an essential read for anyone interested in the depths of human complexity.

Second Space Czesław Miłosz, 2005-08-23 Nobel laureate Czesław Miłosz's most recent collection Second Space marks a new stage in one of the great poetic pilgrimages of our time. Few poets have inhabited the land of old age as long or energetically as Miłosz, for whom this territory holds both openings and closings, affirmations as well as losses. Not soon, as late as the approach of my ninetieth year, / I felt a door opening in me and I entered / the clarity of early morning, he writes in Late Ripeness. Elsewhere he laments the loss of his voracious vision -- My wondrously quick eyes, you saw many things, / Lands and cities, islands and oceans -- only to discover a new light that defies the limits of physical sight: Without eyes, my gaze is fixed on one bright point, / That grows large and takes me in. Second Space is typically capacious in the range of voices, forms, and subjects it embraces. It moves seamlessly from dramatic monologues to theological treatises, from philosophy and history to epigrams, elegies, and metaphysical meditations. It is unified by Miłosz's ongoing quest to find the bond linking the things of this world with the order of a second space, shaped not by necessity, but grace. Second Space invites us to accompany a self-proclaimed apprentice on this extraordinary quest. In Treatise on Theology, Milosz calls himself a one day's master. He is, of course, far more than this. Second Space reveals an artist peerless both in his capacity to confront the world's suffering and in his eagerness to embrace its joys: Sun. And sky. And in the sky white clouds. / Only now everything cried to him: Eurydice! / How will I live without you, my consoling one! / But there was a fragrant scent of herbs, the low humming of bees, / And he fell asleep with his cheek on the sun-warmed earth.
