Why They Must Go Terrell McCoy, 2011-01-05 Advance Praise for Why They Must Go A must read for everyone who loves and values our children and youth and wants to see them saved in God's kingdom. Dr. Penny Lister Smith, Education Superintendent, South Atlantic Conference An excellent piece of reading material; I trust that it will reawaken the purpose of SDA education! Shakuntala Ramsarran, Education Superintendent, Southwest Region Conference I highly recommend the reading and study of Terrell McCoy's new book (which) highlights the need for home, church, and school to work together in the preparation of our offspring to meet the challenges of life on this earth while also preparing the children that God has given us to live in Eternity with the Master Teacher. Dr. Doug Walker, Former Education Director, Southwestern Union An outgrowth of a series of sermons delivered on Christian education by author Terrell McCoy, Why They Must Go presents strong arguments for providing Seventh-day Adventist children with an Adventist education. Expounding on the purpose and the goals of a Christian education, McCoy argues that children are God's property and they must be related to in God's way. He urges parents to keep the church in church schools.

How to Kill Adventist Education Shane Anderson, 2009 Between 1980 and 2005 Seventh-day Adventist Church membership in the North American Division increased by 75 percent. In that same 25-year period K-12 enrollment in Adventist schools dropped by nearly 25 percent. What happened? And why? How to Kill Adventist Education takes a hard look at the troubles plaguing Adventist schools. Not only are those problems identified, along with their root causes, but a simple yet effective strategy for change is proposed. And by using this proven strategy, failing schools have successfully transformed into thriving centers of Christ-oriented education. So yes, there is hope for Adventist education. Now, let's get down to business!

Adventism Imperiled Colin D. Standish, Russell R. Standish, 1988-11

The Elephant in the Room Sadraïl Saint-Ulysse PhD MDiv, 2022-04-12 I write this book to do something that most would consider unwise as a current employee of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. I call or appeal for systematic change--change in policies that have kept the financial support from tithe and other sources to Adventist elementary and other sources to Adventist schools at minimal. Please don't think of me as a brave one who dares to go where many have not gone before. I am not... I speak out because we need policy changes at every level. Fairness is not giving everyone the same thing but to give each person what he or she needs to succeed. Many businesses are rethinking how to move forward post the pandemic. We, too, as a church, need to do the same. In the Old Testament, God instructed his people to pass on their faith to their children by intentionally teaching them God's statutes and commandments (Deuteronomy 6:4-8 and Isaiah 54:13). Similarly, the Christian Church receives its marching orders from Jesus in the Great Commission found in Matthew 28:16-20. Jesus directs the church to make disciples of all nations by baptizing and teaching. Church schools are needed to partner with parents and the church as a whole to educate children. Ellen G. White, cofounder of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, who earlier encouraged the Seventh-day Church to focus on foreign missions, stated--in addressing church schools in the book Testimonies for the Church, volume 6--that the children are not to be neglected. She writes, We cannot call ourselves true missionaries if we neglect those at our very doors who are at the most critical age and who need our aid to secure knowledge and experience that will fit them for the service of God. Her solution to financing church schools is simple: Let all share the expense. Enrollment in Christian elementary and secondary schools have been dropping nationwide. Many families in North America, especially new immigrant families, are not able to afford the tuition to send their children to church schools. Several church schools have closed. In this book, Dr. Sadraïl Saint-Ulysse, an ordained minister and educator of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, addresses the challenges of operating Christian schools at the elementary and secondary levels after serving for nearly twenty-five years as a pastor and educator, with the hope that the burden of operating church schools can be shared by the entire church--local, state, national, and worldwide--to alleviate this burden. The book challenges parents, teachers, principals, school boards, church members, and church leaders at every level to make the needed policy changes to ensure that church schools are financed in a sustainable manner.

Educating for Eternity George R Knight, 2016-10-01

Studies in Christian Education Edward A. Sutherland, 2015-06-18 Why didn't the Protestant Reformation keep advancing? What kind of counter measures could be so efficient to stop such a momentous movement? What happened to those initial efforts? The answer to these questions is alarming. Though Luther and Melancthon had been extremely devoted to the religious reform, subsequent leaders in the movement failed to train their youth to keep advancing the cause. The educational system did not receive the attention it required, and the results were disastrous. Shortly before 1844, several reform movements were raised by God to prepare a people to accept the third angel's message (Rev. 14:9-12), and to stand true to Him during the investigative judgment (Dan. 7:9-14). But although professedly Protestant, the churches rejected the judgment message (Rev. 14:6, 7). They had not accepted the Divine method of education, and were unprepared for the Midnight Cry (Matt. 25:6). The object of this book is to review one of the major reasons for the moral decline and fall of the Protestant denominations in 1844. In light of this history, we cannot afford to repeat those mistakes. The principles of true education are essential to the fulfilling of the mission of giving the final message. In order to accomplish the work that was sacredly entrusted to God's people, we must follow the educational model given by the God of Heaven. To present this model is the goal of this book.

The impact of limiting Seventh Day Adventist church education assistance to four children on education of other children of church employees Habanabakize Schadrack, 2018-04-24 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Didactics - Theology, Religion Pedagogy, grade: 1, , course: Educational Psychology, language: English, abstract: The Adventist education has the vision of giving Christ centered education through developing physical, mental and spiritual aspects. All SDA church employees' children had privileges to afford such education because of education assistance granted to them. After doing long literature review on factors that may affect physical, mental and spiritual growth among young people, the researcher realized that missing the means to afford Christian education and education at all hinders significantly those aspects of life. Therefore, this made him conduct the research using both qualitative and quantitative methods in collecting data about the impact the decision of ECRF since 2012 of limiting the education assistance to four children has on education of other children among the family of church employee. He distributed questionnaires among 27 employees and interviewed 3 officers and 6 children that affected by that policy before they accomplish A level. The statistical result proves the considerable impact of limiting the education assistance to four children, on education of other children. The lack of interest to the church, gaining deviated education and drop out of schools are likely definition of the impact. Therefore, it seems that the parents and the SDA church should put in consideration the education of those children as well to prepare more future members and leaders for the church. Besides this, possibly those parents whose children are out of eligible conditions should find other way to advance their children's Christian education even though the SDA church education assistance might be inadequate or missing. The objective of this thesis was not only to fulfill the academic requirements but also to reveal problems that children above four in church employees may face.

Christian Education Ellen G. White, 2018-12-10 The education and training of the youth is an important and solemn work. The great object to be secured should be the proper development of character, that the individual may be fitted to rightly discharge the duties of the present life, and to enter at last upon the future, immortal life. Eternity will reveal the manner in which the work has been performed. The book is not only for teachers, but also for parents, who should be prepared to direct intelligently the education of their children. The whole subject of Christian education is treated from the broadest standpoint, with valuable principles and suggestions applicable to every stage of child development. This little work will prove a blessing, both in a richer personal experience and in an increased ability for service, to every one who will read it thoughtfully.

The Praeger Handbook of Faith-Based Schools in the United States, K-12 Thomas C. Hunt, James C. Carper, 2012-08-06 Exploring a subject that is as important as it is divisive, this two-volume work offers the first current, definitive work on the intricacies and issues relative to America's faith-based schools. The Praeger Handbook of Faith-Based Schools in the United States, K-12 is an indispensable study at a time when American education is increasingly considered through the lenses of race, ethnicity, gender, and social class. With contributions from an impressive array of experts, the two-volume work provides a historical overview of faith-based schooling in the United States, as well as a comprehensive treatment of each current faith-based school tradition in the nation. The first volume examines three types of faith-based schools—Protestant schools, Jewish schools, and Evangelical Protestant homeschooling. The second volume focuses on Catholic, Muslim, and Orthodox schools, and addresses critical issues common to faith-based schools, among them state and federal regulation and school choice, as well as ethnic, cultural, confessional, and practical factors. Perhaps most importantly for those concerned with the questions and controversies that abound in U.S. education, the handbook grapples with outcomes of faith-based schooling and with the choices parents face as they consider educational options for their children.

The Little Armageddon John Churchill, 2010-06-10 John Churchill is a baptized Seventh-day Adventist Christian since May 30, 1976. He is one of those who came up through the ranks in the church, having a zeal from the Lord from his early teens, that would not let him just sit down in church or keep quiet about Jesus. Sharing his faith came naturally – and share he did! He shared in any way possible. He was on choirs, taught Sabbath School class, conducted cottage meeting / worship services in homes wherever permitted; did Bible studies with anyone willing to listen, was involved in the Missionary Volunteer movement (now Adventist Youth), Pathfinderism and all it entails, and so on. As he showed his commitment and zeal for the Lord's work he was given more and more responsibilities in the church and was involved in church leadership from his early years as a Christian. John Churchill has been a Church Elder for many years and was ordained as an Elder December 31, 1994. He has had many encounters with teachers of falsehood over the many years of his Ministry. These encounters include a lot of experience with an offshoot group of the Seventh-day Adventist Church called the the Shepherd's Rod. John Churchill is a lay evangelist and the founder of Battle Cry Ministry which pursues the worldwide aim of its mission through its website: <http://battlecryministry.netadvent.org/> He decided since about 2003 to write a book that would address the Shepherd's Rod offshoot problem in the church as he saw that the group was seemingly on the increase and causing problems and pulling away members of the church to become members of the group. The book would help to not only educate members but help them to know how to deal with the problem in a very realistic / practical way. The book would also appeal to members of the group to cease their activities and rejoin the church / coming back on the platform.

Religious Schools in America (1986) Thomas C. Hunt, James Carper, Charles R. Kniker, 2018-06-15 Published in 1986, this selected bibliography considers private schools that are religiously affiliated. Divided into several sections the book opens with chapters covering the most influential general books on religion and schooling and offers summaries and analysis of court decisions and commentaries on the issues of government aid and regulation. The book goes on to provide entries of the schools operating in the United States by seventeen religious groups, entries are annotated by experts from the field. The final section of the book considers statements on religious schools made by both public school educators and religious school advocates; formal and informal interactions between the public and religious schools; and the concept of the education of the public by religious and public schools. This work pulls together a wealth of reference material, mainly on religious schools, and provides a much-needed resource for those interested in religious schooling, whether researcher, scholar, student or policy-maker.
