Breaking Out of the Web Browser with Adobe Air Jeff Tapper, Michael Labriola, Peter Dillillo, 2009 With the introduction of Adobe AIR, Flex developers have more capability than ever before. Now you can build dynamic applications that combine the rich experience of a traditional desktop application with the power of the Internet. Leveraging your existing knowledge of Adobe Flex and Flash, Breaking out of the Web Browser with Adobe AIR will help you build well-architected desktop applications. Flex and Flash experts Jeff Tapper and Michael Labriola will teach you techniques to create truly custom interfaces by leading you through exercises with a real world time-tracking application. The book's abundance of examples will help you become adept at interacting with the end user's underlying operating system and teach you the most important concepts for using AIR.

Lithuania 1940 Alfred Erich Senn, 2007-01-01 In June 1940, as Nazi troops marched into Paris, the Soviet Red Army marched into Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia; seven weeks later, the USSR Supreme Soviet ratified the Soviet takeover of these states. For half a century, Soviet historians insisted that the three republics had voluntarily requested incorporation into the Soviet Union. Now it has become possible to examine the events of that tumultuous time more carefully. Alfred Erich Senn, the author of books on the formation of the Lithuanian state in 1918-1920 and on the reestablishment of that independence in 1988-1991, has produced a fascinating account of the Soviet takeover, juxtaposing a picture of the disintegration and collapse of the old regime with the Soviets' imposition of a new order. Discussing the historiography and the living memory of the events, he uses the image of a "shell game" that focused attention on the work of a supposedly "non-communist" government while in the hothouse conditions of military occupation Moscow undermined the state's independent institutions and introduced a revolution from above.

Turbojet Ronald Eric Dodge, 2017-10-19 The Canadian flight engineer of a Commonwealth Lancaster bomber crew survives a devastating crash in Occupied France during the summer of 1944, is rescued by the French Resistance, and gets back to Britain hidden aboard a fishing boat. He is reassigned by the air force to a team of civilian aeronautical engine designers in a top-secret facility at RAF Station College Cranwell in Lincolnshire, England, who are continuing the work of turbojet inventor Frank Whittle. The team struggles under pressure from the British air ministry to match surprising gas turbine engine developments being made by Germany's Hans von Ohain that could give the Luftwaffe an insurmountable advantage over the RAF and dramatically affect the outcome of the war.

Minority Integration in Central Eastern Europe Timofey Agarin, Malte Brosig, 2009 The book presents a timely examination on a range of issues present in the discussions on the integration of ethnic minorities in Central Eastern Europe: norm setting, equality promotion, multiculturalism, nation-building, social cohesion, and ethnic diversity. It insightfully illustrates these debates by assessing them diachronically rather than cross-nationally from the legal, political and anthropological perspective. The contributors unpack concepts related to minority integration, discuss progress in policy-implementation and scrutinize the outcomes of minority integration in seven countries from the region. The volume is divided into three sections taking a multi-variant perspective on minority integration and equality. The volume starts with an analysis of international organizations setting standards and promoting minority rights norms on ethnic diversity and equal treatment. The second and third sections address state policies that provide fora for minority groups to participate in policy-making as well as the role of society and its various actors their development and enactment of integration concepts. The volume aims to assess the future of ethnic diversity and equality in societies across Central Eastern European states.
