An Estimate of Construction Needs of Higher Education by 1980 Richard R. Holden,1971 This report is perhaps the first consolidated assessment of construction needs of higher education in that it is a composite of individual studies of the several states. The report, in effect, is the first summation of the results intended by the Congress when it amended the Higher Education Facilities Act to provide for grants to State commissions for conducting, either directly or through other appropriate agencies and institutions, comprehensive planning to determine the construction needs of institutions (and particularly combinations and regional groupings of institutions) of higher education. The findings of the study indicate that much remains to be done if postsecondary education is to be made available to all Americans desiring it. One answer is the provision of an enormous amount of additional space. However, since space is not an end in itself but should be related to missions and programs, it is suspected that the needs for space will be lessened somewhat as the higher education community applies its great resources and ingenuity through innovation and use of new methods and technologies.

Atlas of Woody Plants in China Jingyun Fang,Zhiheng Wang,Zhiyao Tang,2011-09-15 Atlas of Woody Plants in China: Distribution and Climate documents the spatially-explicit county-level distribution of all 11,405 woody plants in China, together with life form information for most species. It also provides climate information for each species, with the county-level average and range of 12 climatic indices and of vegetation net primary productivity. It is the first and largest comprehensive atlas in the world for the distribution of China's plants and was compiled on the basis of almost all related literature published throughout China. The atlas should serve as an indispensable handbook for all those who are interested in the plants, ecology, geography, environment, horticulture, and silviculture of China and East Asia. Dr. Jingyun Fang is a Cheung Kong Professor at the Department of Ecology, Peking University, China. Dr. Zhiheng Wang and Dr. Zhiyao Tang are both ecologists working at the same institute.
