Timeless Service in Gamma Sigma Omega Chapter

Emma Jean Hawkins Conyers, 2013 Since the beginning in 1943, the mission of the Gamma Sigma Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority has been to cultivate scholastic and ethical standards, to promote unity and friendship among college women, and to be of service to all mankind. Timeless Service in Gamma Sigma Omega Chapter chronicles the history of the women who sojourned in the life of one chapter of the first Black female Greek letter organization and the events that impacted their journey in Savannah, Georgia, from 1943 to 2012. Emma Jean Hawkins Conyers, former president of the GSO Chapter, begins with the story of Adeline Graham, a white philanthropist who bequeathed funds to the chapter for use in establishing an orphanage for Negro children, and reveals how the chapter responded to the challenge. As she continues the chapter's history through the years, Conyers shares notable details on members, awards, community projects, and events that helped to preserve a legacy that endures to this day. Timeless Service in Gamma Sigma Omega Chapter captures the spirit of unity, sisterhood, and service that still drives the sorority to fulfill the mission after commencing nearly seven decades ago.

Other chapters have taken up this idea in various forms. Nu Chapter announced last year, and offers this year for the first time, the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity medal to the student in the Freshman class, either division, having the highest scholastic standing. The medal becomes the property of the winner. Activities. Various chapters have their annual affairs governed largely by the peculiar needs in each organization, but taken as a whole nearly every chapter has an annual dance, an annual meeting, an annual banquet on the day of the establishment of the organization, and an alumni night. Besides these, New York University has an Old Home night; others have an annual initiation, and many similar occasions besides the regular routine of installation, rushing parties, social and business affairs. Teaching Undergraduates with Archives Nancy Bartlett, Elizabeth Gadelha, Cinda Nofziger, 2019-12-20 Teaching Undergraduates with Archives mirrors the evolving practice and academic research on primary sources in the classroom. The result of a national symposium at the University of Michigan in 2018, the volume features case studies, reflections, and forecasts concerning critical thinking, active learning, and archival evidence. The chapters describe collaborations between faculty, archivists, librarians, and students. Ideas behind new assignments and syllabi provide an immediate utility for those who teach with primary sources. Testimonies to the challenges and benefits of robust programs speak to the emerging prioritization of teaching and learning across disciplines with archives and special collections. The contributions to this volume capture exceptionally well the passion and the creativity that archivists and special collections librarians who teach and do outreach with primary sources are bringing to their work in this increasingly important activity domain. -- Martha O'Hara Conway,

Director, Special Collections Research Center, University of Michigan Library As teaching with archival materials has moved to the foreground of the archival mission for many institutions, this timely, inspiring, and practical volume, which comes out of the multi-day symposium solely devoted to teaching undergraduates with archival materials, is a required reading for anyone who teaches with archival materials, or who would like to. It really captures the spirit and enthusiasm that these authors brought to that symposium. -- Josué Hurtado, Coordinator of Public Services & Outreach, Special Collections Research Center, Temple University Libraries Reflecting the increasing priority of teaching in archives and special collections libraries, this book captures a variety of perspectives, insights, approaches, and prognostications that will enlighten, challenge, and inspire a growing community of practitioners. -- Bill Landis, Head of Public Services, Manuscripts and Archives, Yale University Library Building on the momentum generated at the symposium, this book is a treasure trove for professionals in the field who are eager for innovative ideas regarding collaboration and experimentation in teaching with archival material. -- Elizabeth Williams-Clymer, Special Collections Librarian, Kenyon College
