Long Night of the Tankers D. H. Bercuson, David Jay Bercuson, Holger H. Herwig, 2014-02-07 On February 16th, 1942 a Nazi U-boat brazenly shelled the huge Lago oil refinery on Aruba and torpedoed the tankers Pedernales and Oranjestad, both tied up in Aruba's San Nicolas Harbour. Oranjestad was sunk and Pedernales badly damaged. The damage to the refinery was minor, but that same night other U-boats attacked and sank four more tankers in the waters between Aruba and Curaçao and Venezuela. It was the long night of the tankers and the opening salvo of a two year struggle to dominate the Caribbean Sea. In the last twelve days of February, 1942 alone the submarines sank 17 more ships, most of them tankers. Long Night of the Tankers is the story of the German effort to cut the Caribbean off from Britain, the United States and Canada and the desperate defence mounted by the Allies, along with a half dozen other Caribbean and South American nations. The loss of the oil threatened Britain's ability to wage war; the loss of the tankers almost strangled the oil supply to America's industrial north east. When even Churchill and Roosevelt began to worry about the vulnerable Caribbean, the US and its allies poured thousands of men, hundreds of aircraft and dozens of ships into the Caribbean region, organized an effective convoy system and rallied the Central and South American nations against the Germans. By mid 1944, the Caribbean had become an Allied lake and the submarine threat was defeated. But to this day, the old timers of the islands still remember the oil-soaked beaches, the explosions in the night and the bodies of dead sailors washed ashore that marked this dramatic chapter in the Second World War.

Twelve Years a Slave Solomon Northup, 2024-01-04 Filmatized in 2013 and the official recipient of three Oscars, Solomon Northup's powerful slave narrative 'Twelve Years a Slave' depicts Northup's life as he is sold into slavery after having spent 32 years of his life living as a free man in New York. Working as a travelling musician, Northup goes to Washington D.C, where he is kidnapped, sent to New Orleans, and sold to a planter to suffer the relentless and brutal life of a slave. After a dozen years, Northup escapes to return to his family and pulls no punches, as he describes his fate and that of so many other black people at the time. It is a harrowing but vitally important book, even today. For further reading on this subject, try 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' by Harriet Beecher Stowe. Solomon Northup (c.1807-c.1875) was an American abolitionist and writer, best remembered for his powerful race memoir 'Twelve Years a Slave'. At the age of 32, when he was a married farmer, father-of-three, violinist and free-born man, he was kidnapped in Washington D.C and shipped to New Orleans, sold to a planter and enslaved for a dozen years. When he gained his freedom, he wrote his famous memoir and spent some years lecturing across the US, on behalf of the abolitionist movement. 'Twelve Years a Slave' was published a year after 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' by Harriet Beecher Stowe and built on the anti-slavery momentum it had developed. Northup's final years are something of a mystery, though it is thought that he struggled to cope with family life after being freed.

Mashpee in Words and Pictures Rosemary Burns Love,2015-09-08 A trip to Ireland in 1978 to visit the birthplace of her ancestors, who emigrated to Stamford, Connecticut in 1850, motivated Rosemary Hickey Burns Love to learn more about her relatives and their lives in Stamford. She spent many hours searching all of the available records, discovering births, deaths and marriages, and the properties bought and sold by her great-great-grandfather and his descendants. That accomplished, she widened her research to discover the identity of the builder of the centuries-old stonewall on the property where she lived in Stamford. The result was a 216-page history: Springdale Remembered - A History of a Section of Stamford, Connecticut 1640-1949, published in 1982. She was a long time member of the Board of Directors of the Stamford Historical Society.A graduate of Katharine Gibbs School in New York City, Rosemary, who was born in Stamford in 1930, and her husband Joe Burns, parents of three daughters, Kelli Young, June Norden and Susan Windle, resided in Stamford until 1985, when they moved to Mashpee, Masssachusetts. Rosemary immediately joined the Mashpee Historical Commission and began a study of Mashpee's past. She has spent thousands of hours researching and correlating all of the records made known to her.To celebrate the 125th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Mashpee, Rosemary wrote Mashpee 1870-1995, a pictorial history. In 2008 she authored A History of New Seabury by the Sea, about the community where she lives in Mashpee. The Connecticut League of Historical Societies, and nationally known authors Nathaniel Philbrick, William Martin, and Daniel Mandell have acknowledged her contributions to local history.A widow since 1996, Rosemary married Jack Love
